9917.—A Practical Popular Style.—Boys'

Suit Consisting of a Shirt Waist

and Trousers.

This model may be made of cloth,

serge, khaki, galatea, or linen entirely,

or the waist may be of linen, madras,

or cambric, and the trousers of woolen goods or cloth. The waist is laid in deep box plaits over the shoulders, and finished with a tuck at each side of the front closing. The trousers are cut on regulation lines. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. It requires

2 1/2 yards of 44 inches material for a

6 year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver

TO PUT AN EGG IN A BOTTLE.

If you want to have lots of fun and mystify your friends try this trick: Steep

an egg in strong vinegar for a time; this will make the shell soft and pliable so that it can be manipulated without danger of breaking. Insert it in the neck of a bottle and slowly work it down until it is inside. Of course a bottle having a neck considerably smaller than the egg,

yet large enough to insure its entrance

without breaking, should be selected.

After the egg is safely inside, fill the bottle with cold water, which will harden

the shell and cause the egg to resume its natural shape. Everyone will marvel at your skill in inserting an egg through the small neck of a bottle without breaking either the egg or the bottle. Now that the price of eggs has fallen from the high point reached a few months ago the materials for the trick can be easily selected without mortgaging the home and it can be performed without difficulty.

HOW YOU MAY USE RIBBON

Odds and Ends Come in Handy for Many Purposes.

Nowadays ribbons are put to a great variety of uses, and it is often money well spent to purchase odd pieces found on the bargain counter.

The little camisole which is so rapidly ousting the corset-cover is easily made entirely from snatching, but even though preferred chiefly in lace or net it still must have shoulder-straps, belt and draw-strings or ribbon somewhat wider than that used on all kinds of lingerie.

The daintiest of boudoir slippers are evolved from four-inch wide ribbons, and to colonial shoes are added shirred widths of ribbon which, flaring from under the insteps and covering the front of the insteps make the feet look many sizes shorter.

Pin "Cushion" Novelties.

A novel type of dressing-table pin cushion is seen in a miniature hat stand everywhere thickly padded with cotton attractively covered with flowered ribbon. Its broad top is for hat pins, its pole for stick pins and its wide base for ordinary toilet pins.

A clown's cap surmounting a blouse doll's head makes a novel pin cushion. The tall, shapely pointed piece of headgear, firmly stuffed with batting, is of printed silks or crepe de chine and terminates in a wide cape that spreads over the doll's shoulders under which is placed a reel of lingerie ribbon which unwinds when the end that runs between the half-opened mouth of the doll is gently pulled.

A storeroom in bisque or china is the foundation for a most unique pin cushion. His feet are firmly attached to the base of a square little wicker basket which, padded with down and attractively covered, makes a cushion for ordinary pins. His body is harnessed with inch wide-satin ribbons, thickly padded, from which safety pins depend.

When the fronts of the tailored street jackets are allowed to remain unfastened, the opening should be filled in with something a bit more conventional looking than whatever blouse is customarily worn with the tailored skirt. For this purpose there is nothing to equal the Medici collar, extending into a waist-coat. It is made precisely as are the separate collar and vestee, save that it is cut in a single strip that is fastened about the inner edges of the neck and the fronts, and closed from the bust down with a row of fancy buttons.

Seed and Bead Bag.

Dear Miss Grey:—I would like to know how to make a small hand bag from muskellon seeds and beads. Have you seen them and can you help me? Any information will greatly oblige one.

Ans.—Sorry, perplexed, but to date I have not been able to secure the information. Yes, I have seen the bags and think them extremely pretty. Could not some of the stores that have fancy work departments give you the information, or does any of our readers know how to make the bags?

Name on Cards.

Dear Miss Grey: Am here again with some questions.

1. Which is the more used, calling cards with name written or name engraved?

2. What would be a nice luncheon for a number of girls whom I intend having in?

Hoping I am not too troublesome yours,

BACKWOODS BILL.

Ans.—1. Visiting cards should be either printed or engraved. At one time it was almost a breach of propriety not to have the name engraved. But the printed card is so much cheaper and is now presented in such attractive form, that many people of good standing use it. The name is never written on a card only under exceptional circumstances.

2. This would be a nice menu:

Iced Bouillon.

Sweetbread with Peas.

Scalloped Potatoes.

Fruit Salad on Lettuce Leaves.

Strawberries and Ice Cream.

Cake.

Coffee.

Dandelion Wine.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you kindly publish the recipe for dandelion wine, also the words of an old song entitled "Gathering Up the Shells From the Seashore"?

Ans.—1. The recipe appeared two or three days ago, but in case you missed it, I am reprinting the formula again:

Dandelion Wine: Two quarts of blossoms, four quarts boiling water poured on the blossoms; let stand 24 hours, then strain into the kettle; add three pounds white sugar and three lemons sliced; let boil 20 minutes; pour the liquid into a crock and let stand until it ferments; then bottle and cork up tight.

2. I think this song has been asked for by someone else, but has not been sent in. Does any reader know the words?

As you will have noticed, the missing lines of the song, "Gathering Up the Shells From the Seashore," were printed since your letter was written.

ANN.

Ann's Wedding Dinner.

Dear Miss Grey: Since you have helped so many others would you please come to my aid?

1. Suggest a menu for a wedding dinner. The wedding to take place at 4:30 p.m.

2. Would a routine suit be suitable for a travelling suit for a June bride?

3. As there will be no bridesmaid, who will remove the bride's glove?

Thanking you in advance, and hoping to see this in print soon, I am, yours respectfully,

ANN.

A.—1. This menu would be very nice for a June wedding repast: Jellied chicken; creamed potatoes, green peas, cucumber and tomato salad with shredded lettuce;

2. I think this is a simple and apt to cause the hair to fall out. Olive oil is much better, I think. Rub it in with the tips of the fingers for four nights, then wash scalp thoroughly, then resume application every other night.

3. This lotion is a simple as any, and is very healing: One ounce of rose water, one ounce glycerine, juice of half a lemon. Rub in after bathing.

4. The songs you ask for are popular music which may be purchased at any music counter.

5. It is said that a good preventive is made by mixing fifty parts glycerine to one part carbolic acid and rubbing this on the exposed parts. Oil of pennyroyal diluted with a little water is also recommended.

6. Tell little sister that "Miss Grey says for her never to mind the freckles, but just to run and play out in the sun and fresh air all she wants to."

Carpet, rugs and curtains not in use should be swept, beaten and exposed for several hours to the hot sun before packing. These may be well sprayed with benzine, rolled in light bundles, wrapped with newspapers that are pasted together and pasted at ends.

WIVES OF MRS. NEWLYWED

I have some thin dresses that would be all right for summer if I could get the spots out," mused Mrs. Newlywed.

"Perhaps I can tell you how to remove the spots," ventured Mrs. Neighbor.

"Different stains and marks may be removed in the following manner: Melted tallow will remove ink stains; the ink and the grease will come out together. Ammonia will remove the machine oil. Mildew can be removed by soaking the garment in buttermilk before washing in soap and water."

FASHIONS THAT WILL MAKE MRS. PLUMP LOOK LIKE MRS. SLIM'S TWIN SISTER

Special Correspondence.

Chicago, Ill., May 27.—"Mrs. Plump" is coming into her own in the matter of gowns. At the Chicago Dressmakers' Club exhibit the most striking designs seemed made to please the woman of ample pounds.

The demonstration, which everybody attended, was the one that exhibited the possibilities of the "stout lady" and her frocks. In this lecture Mrs. Hosac, world-famous designer, used a 160-pound model to explain just how a woman whose waist line is lost may still retain graceful contours.

"Dressing the stout woman is my specialty," said Mrs. Hosac, as she draped the model the wrong way, making her look as if she weighed 200 pounds. "It's an art," she continued as she redressed Miss Model the right way to make her look as if she weighed only 130 pounds.

"Round belts make a fat woman look fatter. The belt must dip either back or front; bodies must not be tight; there must be no round-and-round lines in the fat woman's gown; the lines must be up and down," was Mrs. Hosac's advice to women of weight.

That the new tunics would be becoming to stout women if made longer in the back than the front was the general opinion of the dressmakers.

TRAVELLERS

One of the striking features of the preparation for the great expedition to the North Pole is the carefully laid plans for Travellers' Aid work. This committee is working in conjunction with the women's board, and will afford protection to any visitor from any part of the world. If a young woman is obliged to travel to the far north, for any reason, the Travellers' Aid will meet her upon arrival, and direct her to a safe and comfortable home.

These agencies of the Travellers' Aid will also extend to many parts of the state.

POWDER

We met her on the street the other day—the little girl who was so sorry for her. She was accompanied by her mother, a woman who looked old enough, and sensible enough not to do it. Do what?—you ask, and we reply briefly. The little girl's cheeks—she cannot be a day older than three years—just a tiny tot—were unattractively powdered and rouged. We could hardly believe it, and looked a second time just to be sure. Yes, there they were. Powder and rouge, on the chubby baby face, that would have looked one hundred per cent better in its natural color. Perhaps you saw it too. And didn't it make you want to take that mother aside and give her a good shaking!

A BOY

ON BREATHING

Good as the following on "Breathing."

"We breathe with our lungs, our hearts, our kidneys and our livers. If it wasn't for our breath we would die when we slept. Our breath keeps the life going through the nose when we are asleep."

"Boys who stay in a room all day should not breathe. They should walk until they get out in the fresh air. Boys in a room make bad air called carbonic acid. Carbonic acid is as poison as mad dogs. A lot of soldiers were once in a black hole in Calcutta and carbonic acid got in there and killed them."

"Girls sometimes ruin the breath with corsets that squeeze the diaphragm. A big diagram is the best for the right kind of breathing."

THE PAINTING FEVER.

In the spring the housewife's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of renovating. Her speculating eye sees in imagination the uninteresting oak chiffoniers and dresser of her guestroom turned a fresh and snowy white, and the soiled wicker chairs in the living-room metamorphosed into the cool green tone which she has planned for summer days. Once give a woman a paintbrush and show her how easy it is to "do" over the furniture and her enthusiasm will be apt to run away with her. She will not stop until everything paintable has been given a glossy, new coat, and the woodwork of the entrance hall will be lucky if it escapes. But that wonders can be done with a can or two of paint, in turning a shabby or somehow inferior into a fresh and dainty abode is not to be gainsaid. Do not proceed too hastily, however; make up your mind that a sketchy effect, showing the touch of the amateur-in-a-hurry is far worse than the original condition of the furniture, and take plenty of time to make a good job of it.

Camphor, tobacco, moth balls, powdered pepper or cedar chips are great repellents, but, even with any of these, it is best to examine the furs and clothing at least once a month during the summer.

CULT OF THE CAPE

Prominent among the season's fancies that have safely passed the tentative stage are capes. So the bugbear to so many women of going out as the Americans say, "in their figures" will not have to be met this summer.

Capas are the most popular of wraps for all occasions. If you wish to be right in style, you must have two or three of these useful articles of dress ready to wear.

The illustration shows a cape of dark green dune fabric in circular style and trimmed with black soutache braid.

Three Recipes

PUBLISHED BY REQUEST.

Chocolate Fudge.

Take 2 cups granulated sugar, 1 cup milk, 1 heaped teaspoonful of butter, 1 small teaspoon vanilla, 1 tablespoon (level) ground cocoa. Mix sugar, cocoa and milk until there are no lumps; then place on the stove, adding the butter; stir continually. When the candy comes to a boil let boil quite fast, without stirring, until a little when dropped into a cup of cold water forms a soft ball; remove from fire, add vanilla, beat until the fudge is creamy and smooth, then pour quickly into buttered tins.

Half cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup sweet milk, 3 eggs, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice, 1/2 dash of nutmeg, 1 heaping cup prepared dates, 2 1/2 cups flour.

Mix all as for any other cake, adding the dates, stoned, cut in half, and well floured, last of all. Bake in a loaf or in layers.

Divinity Fudge.

Three cupful light brown sugar, 1 cupful water, and a tablespoonful vinegar. Place over the fire and bring to a boil.
