We have already published the kind things said by the leading Canadian newspapers and magazines.

We have also published a few of the multitude of enthusiastic reports of dealers, large and small, reproducing among others a facsimile of an order by telegraph for one thousand copies for a single agent in Toronto.

The Dorland Advertising Agency of New York, Atlantic City, and London, says:

"The 'Canadian Pictorial' reflects great credit on its publishers. From a typographical and pictorial point of view it is a beautiful work of art."

Subscribers who took the 'Pictorial' on trial for three months are renewing as fast as their subscriptions expire, and their friends are sending in their subscriptions also.

If you have not seen a copy of the 'Canadian Pictorial,' ask to see it at the Public Library. After seeing it you will have no hesitation in paying a dollar for it for a year. More especially if you compare it with any of the high priced foreign pictorials; for the 'Canadian Pictorial' is not only cheaper but is more interesting than any of them.

As advertising agencies are spending vast sums for their patrons, they make a very close study of each publication, and when they speak enthusiastically about any publication it means a great deal.
