

Conversat. Echoes.—

Prof. (to conversazionizing sophomore) :—"This is easier than Hebrew, is it not, Mr. S.?"

Miss X.—"Who is that very thin gentleman over there? He does not seem to know the building."

Alce. M.—"It was too bad to put all those rocks in Jimmie's room."

Pepper and Cress :—

Allan.—"There was one good point, however."

B-t-n.—"No, they didn't give me a call, they called on me to leave."

Who said it?—"This is better butter than you'll get at the Windsor."

OUR GRADUATES.

The congregation at Midhurst, Ont., contemplate building an addition to their church. The work in all the stations there is progressing harmoniously under the Rev. W. E. Wallace, B. A.

Owing to the good work done by the Avonmore congregation, of which the Rev. T. A. Mitchell is pastor, it has become self-sustaining. Mr. Mitchell has proved himself a very faithful laborer.

At the last Communion of the Presbyterian church at Valleyfield, there were eighteen new members admitted. This gives evidence of progress under the pastorate of the Rev. J. E. Duclos, B.A.

The Presbytery of Glengarry met lately to consider the call of the Rev. M. McLennan of Kirkhill to Edinburgh. They granted his translation, and at the same time recorded the loss of such an earnest preacher.

A graduate of '92, the Rev. S. P. Rondeau, who has labored in Quebec, in the interest of the French Protestant cause, is
