YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS
POINTED A REVOLVER.

Plano Striker's Encounter With One of the Men Now Working.

Toronto Junction, Nov. 2.—Chief Flitcroft is in possession of certain facts that ought to lead to the arrest of a man employed in a piano factory on a charge of pointing a revolver with intent to do bodily harm. Henry Millgate, a striker from the factory, had the information. It appears that Millgate was walking on Dundas-street, and when near Western-avenue was accosted by the workman, who swore at him. Millgate remonstrated, and the former pulled a revolver and threatened to shoot. Millgate stood his ground, and the man, whose name is at present unknown, moved away. Millgate reported the affair to the police.

A York Pioneer's Reminiscences.
W. M. Burton of Mount Hill writes: "The World" I see in to-day's World the death of Thomas Wilson, Richmond Hill. In giving an account of his life, etc., one incident referred to is not correct, that he climbed a tree. Had he stayed in the tree he would have saved himself a great deal of trouble.

The facts are these: There were seven men chosen and sent from Montgomery to take the swords and pistols of my grandfather, the late Major John Bunton, and among the seven was the late J. Phillips and Thomas Wilson. They brought a "stool pigeon" with them, Frances Robbins, who formerly worked there, and knew about my grandfather's place. When the leader of the party went to pull down the heavy boxes, which contained the swords and pistols, he drew a pistol and told my grandfather if he made any resistance he would shoot him down. My brother, Newbury Burton, of Kingswood, was a boy then, and stood by my grandfather. By the time they got the boxes out on the road, Captain James Armstrong came up with a company of men from Brown's Corners. The farmers mentioned jumped on their horses and made off, but they were pursued so close that they left two of their horses afterwards. Phillips was years afterwards appointed leading magistrate of the Township of Pickering, and Wilson became a leading manufacturer of Richmond Hill, and many a good laugh we had together afterwards.

CANADIAN COLONY IN CUBA UNHARMED BY STORM OR WAR

Geo. F. Davis Returns From a Visit to the Southern Isle—Future is More Bright Than Ever.

In an interview with Mr. George F. Davis of the Canada-Cuba Land & Fruit Co., Limited, who has just returned from Cuba, we asked Mr. Davis to tell us the condition of affairs since the revolution.

Mr. Davis said that he had passed thru the whole of the Province of Pinar del Rio, from Ocean Beach to Havana, and could not see that any damage had been done to property by the insurgents, and almost all had returned to their usual routine of work. "Upon conversing with a number of them I was met with the greatest courtesy and respect. I had occasion to go to Matanzas and other places short distances from Havana, and found the same conditions existing throughout those parts of the country. I was assured that it had at no time been the intention of the insurgents to molest in any way any colony on the island, but on the contrary their desire was to welcome all new settlers, especially Canadian and British subjects, for whose flag they have the greatest admiration.

"The object of the uprising was simply of a political nature, and the only reason they interfered with railway communication was simply to check the landing of government troops at certain points along the line. Every courtesy and respect was shown by them to our colonists."

"Did the storm do much damage?" Mr. Davis was asked. "Unfortunately, we had, during my visit, one of the worst storms ever known in the history of the island. Yes, it did considerable damage in a great many places."

"On our estate at Ocean Beach a number of palm leaf houses were blown down, and over forty of our tobacco barns were somewhat injured, but fortunately our tobacco seed beds, the plants of which are ready for replanting, are unharmed, and we look forward to very handsome returns for next year. Some of our neighbors were not so fortunate, as many already had their plants set out, and consequently, have been destroyed, as well as their tobacco barns."

"Havana's beautiful Prado, as well as many of her beautiful parks, were robbed of their beauty by the high wind, which raged almost all the palm trees to the ground. However, we trust that Cuba may see many a day ere she is visited by such another storm."

A Foreword on Dunlop Auto Tires.

If the aims of the Company might be realized the name "Dunlop" would stand in the English dictionary as a synonym for "good rubber." Bear that point in mind and allow it to influence you freely in selecting tires for your 1907 car. The tire business in Canada belongs to Dunlops. It is going to pass into their exclusive hands. It is to be won by producing tires of a uniformly unapproachable quality, and by dealing fairly and considerately with tire users. This is not idle talk. The Dunlop factory is here on the spot with every facility for producing the goods, and the Dunlop Company never yet failed of its promise.

Cheaper Lights in Cities.
Philadelphia Record: Along with several other municipalities in New Jersey, Camden will vote at the next election upon the question of installing and maintaining an electric lighting plant under the law passed by the legislature. What is of most interest to South Jersey, however, is the big reduction in the cost of electric light. For cities of Camden's class the rate after January 1, 1908, will be $80 a year per lamp for arc lights. Camden, under its five-year contract with the corporation, now pays $109.50 a year for the lights. Smaller cities and towns are to get the same lights at $85 a year. "Dollar gas" is also promised all sections covered by the concern.

In the Ball Room.
Nell: Oh-Jack, I wish you could have seen Milly this afternoon. She literally threw herself at Frank Wright's neck; Oh, well, she knew she was a good catch.

Quick Finish.
The beautiful heroine's face fell. The clumsy hero stepped on it. And that broke up the novel.
