Insist on Fabrikoid

The constant wear on chairs and sofas will quickly destroy the finish and body of any material less durable than

Du Pont Fabrikoid
Craftsman Quality

Fabrikoid is tough and serviceable. It is pliable and soft and does not grow shabby or lose its original attractive surface. It is made in shades and grains that exactly duplicate first-grade leather. For every purpose where an upholstering or covering material is required, Craftsman Quality Fabrikoid is found highly satisfactory.

You will find Fabrikoid-upholstered furniture in most good shops.

Write for this booklet. Easy, practical methods of re-covering furniture are simply described in our booklet, "Home Upholstering". It is yours for the asking.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why You Shouldn't Treat
a Running Ear at Home

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG,
A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University).

DR. HIRSHBERG

When a child

claps his ear

and shrieks with pain, do not delay

with home treatments. Let a common ear specialist or hasten to the ear hospital.

Often the baby

will put its hand

to the affected ear

or bump its head

down on the pillow.

As a rule, an ob-

servant, attentive

with running ears

at once discovers earache.

Nine times in ten the mother makes the lifelong mistake of treating the child

at home. Oil in the ear is an abominable and a physical evil. A fact that I have tried to ingrain into the family

habits of my readers.

Running ears and perforated ear

drums are proofs in adult life that mothers still risk the sense of hearing

in their babies by home remedies, which allow the disease of the infant

to burst—nearly always in the wrong place, instead of calling the ear specialist, whose magic lancet properly perforates the drum. This lets out the matter and eases the pain. The drum beats quickly and no hole is left in it.

What it is.

Don't let anyone tell you that "a child will outgrow a running ear."

In the words of Dr. C. M. Sautter of New York: "He knows very well that if he

he makes this statement it is an untruth.

A running ear is an abscess next door to the brain. Meningitis, abscess of the brain, a clot on the brain, are all or one possible. Mastoid abscess is even more common than these.

A fall or a blow upon almost any part of the anatomy of a person with an untreated running ear may so disturb the balance and continuity as to stir up a sleeping abscess.

A boy whose mother had sent him at the age of 14 with a note to request a certificate to allow him to enter public school, because he could not hear, had been a pupil at a deaf and dumb institute. Nine months before he had been operated on for a mastoid, and two months later for the same thing on the other side.

Consult a Specialist.

On his return from the hospital he was found to be able to hear a moderate whisper in either ear at eighteen feet. Previously he had been very deaf,

with running ears.

If examined carefully, a person with running or perforated ears is found not to hear well. Many of them do not know it, or from mock modesty and delusory self-sensitiveness refuse to admit it.

However, do not sacrifice your child's future to a false economy or a foolish vanity that you can treat an earache as well as an ear specialist.

Answers to Health Questions

A. M. S. Q.—What do you think best for hives?

A.—Hives may sometimes be due to hypersensitive state of the human tissues, usually to some particular articles of food, because of hereditary fish, tomatoes, beer, fruits, drugs, odors, clams and oysters. The remedy depends upon the cause. It may be caused by the trouble, and then to eliminate it from the diet. While looking for this the itching can be relieved by applying

a little of the following lotion:

Pink ointment..... 2 1/2 drams

Zinc oxide..... 2 drams

Glycerine..... 30 drams

Phenol..... 2 drams

Lime water..... 2 ounces

Rose water..... 2 ounces

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND
ADELE GARRISON'S NEW PHASE OF
REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

Why Madge Listened Fearfully To Dicky's News

"I'd like to be Rita's old-fashioned dear," Dicky growled as we hurried over to our own home to get wraps for the visit to "The Sand Pile" upon which Miss Brown had insisted.

"Why?" I asked indignantly, although, woman-like, my pulses were leaping at my husband's evidently genuine irritation at the girl whom I so disliked.

"That I could stand at one end of a good hickory switch, with her at the other, and give her the tanning she needs. Of all the fool stunts this is the limit!"

I thought you liked an occasional evening in a cabaret, I said, and yet, with a moan, she was coming on—I'll bet there'll be plenty warm enough to sit on that veranda and watch the moon.

"But I like the lake through the apple blossoms, and nothing will do that blasted cat but a trip to this cat of all places. Any cate would be had enough on a night like this, but 'The Sand Pile'!"

He paused as if he would think of no words strong enough to express his disgust. I slipped in another query:

"Is it so bad, then?"

"He turned on me angrily. 'What are you trying to do? Kid me?'"

"Dippy over the game?" he countered.

The Adventures of Jimmy Coon

JIMMY COON GETS HIS DINNER.

Those two Snow Shoe Rabbits led Jimmy Coon and Teddy Possum along the banks of the brook to a place where it widened and made almost a little pond. And here right in the middle of the ice was a little round hole.

Some time in the winter when the ice and snow are everywhere get your father to take you to a lake or pond. Look around, and before long you will find a little round hole just like this one.

"There," said one of the Snow Shoes. "You can fish through that hole. Make it bigger."

So Jimmy Coon scratched at the hole and broke off little pieces of ice. He soon he could put his little black hand and arm through the hole.

The water was not so awfully cold, as the ice was a blanket for it. But brook water is very cold in summer, and Jimmy Coon, in warm weather, often fished for trout.

Of course, the noise made by breaking the ice scared off the fish for a time, but soon they came swimming back, right under the hole.

Jimmy Coon was a very skillful fisherman, and he pulled out one, then two and three fish.

There was a regular fish dinner, and only Jimmy Coon and Teddy Possum ate, because the Rabbits had had their lunch.

Mr. how they enjoyed that dinner, and they didn't have to bother with a fire, for they didn't have to cook their fish.

They looked all around, and little Peter was not to be seen.

When they had finished there wasn't a bite left.

"This is a nice place to visit," said Jimmy Coon. "Lots to eat, and you don't have to bother to hunt it."

These cousins of Peter Rabbit seem to be very nice people. What did he mean when he smiled that time you asked him why he was afraid of Mr. Red Fox?

"I don't know. That was a funny thing, and we must watch and see what it means. But what about Peter Rabbit? We must not let anything happen to him, for we told his mother we would bring him home safely."

Of course we will take care of Peter, but where is he? They looked all around, and little Peter was not to be seen.

stopping for the pin with an annoyed grunt. "Why, hasn't your wonderful Sherlockian brain deduced that yet? You're getting rusty, old dear. Better apply the oil can."

He settled the pin carefully, gave his hair a slow stroke or two with his military brushes, selected some handkerchiefs with deliberation, while I mentally danced with impatience to hear his next words.

"What Rita wants of a husband no one knows—for goodness sake get a move on, they'll be waiting for us!" he interrupted himself irritably.

"I'm practically ready," I retorted. "But I won't stir a step until you finish telling me about this."

"Oh, you won't stir?" he teased, tucking me firmly under one arm, catching up my cloak with the other and rushing me down the stairs. "I'll tell you nothing except that for some unknown reason Rita evidently thinks she'd like to try matrimony for a change, with Alf as the goat. And she's pretty nearly got the poor chap lassoed—he's been abroad so long that his perspective's off focus. But I'll bet that coat I can't get into that she wears the game tonight some-way."

To-morrow's
HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, JUNE 15-16.

Sunday promises to be a day on which the planetary forces assist the mind to sober and profound thought and introspection giving but little assistance to purely corporeal affairs, which may be fraught with annoyance and loss as well as with disappointment.

Those whose birthday it is should be careful of their money, attend to business, and be direct. A sharp blow on this day will be trustworthy, reliable, but prone to extravagance.

Monday is a day of rather weak planetary potent, with matters moving along the usual routine grooves. There is some prospect of a change which ought to result advantageously, although the position is not a very important one. There may be need to guard against sharp words and deeds, or resort to the law.

Those whose birthday it is may have some change or journey during the year, though none may be of great importance. A child born on this day will not have an eventful life. It will be inclined to be impulsive and impetuous.
