A GREAT PEACE ARMY

World-Wide Ramifications Make For Peace, Not War—its Varied Operations in Toronto—Glimpses of Some of its Efforts.

To those accustomed to travel in other countries—European or Asiatic—we venture to say that not the least impressive thing they have witnessed has been that of a class of people who are familiar objects in the traveler's own country. We mean those men and women who are distinguished by an almost universal uniform and known as the Salvation Army.

TIGER ATTACKS KEEPER. Tears Back of Trainer at Coney Island Menagerie.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Mogul, a sulky Bengal tiger, who has been making no end of trouble for his owners ever since he was added to the attractions of Coney Island, a fortnight ago, sprang from the pedestal to which he was chained this afternoon, snapped the links and landed solidly on the back of his trainer, Henry Falkendörfer, beating him to the ground.

Falkendörfer struggled bravely. Of the five blank cartridges in his revolver not one exploded as he pulled the trigger. A savage blow from the tiger's forepaw had opened his scalp, and when he was finally pulled through the door of the cage by attendants who went to his rescue with iron rods, he had concussion of the brain and small hope was held out for his recovery.

AN UNFAIR ARGUMENT

Editor World: As a number of persons are advancing the argument that I am using a certain body as a means to success in your contest, pointing to my photo in headlines of the order as a justification to their claim, I ask that in justice to myself you publish a flat denial to the accusation. So far as I am concerned, I know nothing of your ever having a photo of myself in any newspaper. I merely desire this statement to appear, so as to put at rest the false statement that I was or am a party to having the photo used which you have been pleased to publish on two occasions.
