MANILA IS EVIDENTLY HAVING MUCH TROUBLE

Cholera Epidemic, a Disastrous Typhoon and a Fire Which Burns Half a Town Among the Things Which Relieve Monotony of Life in the Philippines.

Manila, Sept. 25.—The epidemic of cholera is believed to have reached its height and is to be diminishing. The daily average of cases in this city has fallen below thirty and the low death rate indicates that the plague is present in a form light and not virulent. Alfred McVeigh, government physician, who was stricken several days ago, is dead.

The authorities expect a steady decline in the number of new cases and the entire disappearance of the cholera within a short time.

Manila, Sept. 25.—More extensive reports regarding the southern typhoon that swept through the central section of the Philippine group yesterday have been received indicating that while there was great damage to property the loss of life will be slight. A number of vessels are reported driven ashore at various points. Some were refloated and the crews of the others rescued without loss of life.

Lieut. Rowell of the Philippine constabulary was drowned in the heavy surf off Vigan, Northern Luzon.

Manila, Sept. 25.—A large portion of the town of Pang near Manila has been destroyed by fire.

THE DIVORCE QUESTION IN THE ENGLISH CHURCH

Anglican Synod of Diocese of Montreal Has Appointed a Committee to Consider it.

Ottawa, Sept. 25 (Special).—At the Anglican synod this morning a committee was appointed to decide whether, at the present synod, approval should be given to the canon on divorce passed at the general synod in 1905. The committee consists of St. H. Blake, Rev. Provost MacKinnon, of Toronto, and Dr. R. V. Rogers, of Kingston. The canon provides that "no clergyman within the jurisdiction of the Church of England in Canada shall solemnize a marriage between persons either of whom shall have been divorced from one who is living at the time."

James Howard, inspector of plumbing will have charge of the work and he is now getting men and material on the best method to adopt in cleaning out the place. Permission has been granted by the railroad authorities to tunnel under their rails.

ONCE FAMOUS COTTON KING HAS STEADY POSITION NOW

Daniel J. Sully Who Won and Lost Two Fortunes in Cotton is Now Working on a Salary as an Expert on the Staple Which Made and Ruined Him.

(N. Y. American.)

Daniel J. Sully, who twice won and lost the crown of "Cotton King" in Wall street, and whose unsuccessful effort to become "soap king" cost a quarter of a million, yesterday stepped out of the presidency of the Cotto-Cotton Mining Company and announced that he has abandoned the field of speculation forever.

Today Sully goes to work, not as the multi-millionaire of 1902-4, with the Street bowing to his every wish, but as a plain man of business, fortified only with his reputation as a cotton king. The first time within six years this New Yorker, whose original and spectacular operations made him known world wide, is at work for a salary.

"Just say that I am associated with Hayden, Stone & Co., determined to give their large clients which is interested in cotton the full benefit of my experience—yes, as an expert, if you wish. But, remember, conservatism is now my motto and will direct my every act."

That was the way the former Cotton King spoke of his new work yesterday as he displayed the new office which he is to occupy. There was no indication of regret in voice or eyes as the well-known speculator firmly announced his determination to abandon the alluring game of the Street. But when the interviewer asked "Why" the blue eyes did not seem to dim for a moment, and the former plunger said quietly:

"Please do not ask me that. I cannot talk about that."

Mr. Sully's new office is at No. 23 Broad street, just across the narrow Exchange place from the dismantled offices of the Cotto-Cotton Mining Company, but that narrow old town street seemed like a gulf fixed between the old life and the new as the ex-cotton king talked of his future.

"I am through with speculation for ever," said Sully, the business man. "I know that the new life is directly opposite to that of the old. I know that the general public turned from following my just operations. I know that I was the pioneer of advertising my operations in direct appeals to the people. But I know that I never did an act that was not honorable and I will now show them that a speculator can quit."

"But you know how many have said that and failed," he was reminded.

"I realize that fully, but I will show you that I can do it. And I will convince the people that I am conservative. That is one reason why I accepted the opportunity to become associated with one of the most conservative houses in New York."

"And you will be content with this and your Fifth Avenue home in contrast," he was asked.

"My home is no longer on Fifth ave-

SYNDICATE TO ACQUIRE LINE

Legal Proceedings Begun to End the Court's Control of the Eastern Steamship Company.

Portland, Me., Sept. 25.—Proceedings have been instituted in the United States Circuit Court to terminate the court's control of the Eastern Steamship Company and effect its sale to a New York syndicate, which includes some of the company's creditors.

The proceedings took the form of a petition for a final decree, on which the hearing was postponed to-day until September 30. The Eastern Steamship Company is one of the concerns controlled by the Consolidated Steamship Company, the big home Atlantic coastwise steamship combination now in receiver's hands. The reorganization committee planned to drop both the Eastern Steamship Company and the Metropolitan line from the reorganized Consolidated Company, and preserve the four lines running from Southern ports to New York. The Eastern Steamship Company operates mainly from Boston to down coast points.

HOTEL CLERK WHO "TAPPED THE TILL"

Frank McIsaac, Clerk of the Clifton House Said to Have Gone Away With $55 of His Employer's Funds.

Frank McIsaac, clerk of Clifton House left the house this morning shortly before 8 o'clock and it is alleged took with him $55 in cash out of the register. W. Allan Black, the proprietor of the Clifton House at once telephoned to police headquarters at King street east, telling of the robbery. It is thought by Mr. Black that McIsaac either left by the Steamer and went to Boston, or he fled to the United States.

McIsaac is said to belong to Sydney and was only hired by Mr. Black about ten days ago. His employer fitted him out with a new suit of clothes. McIsaac was at one time employed by the Royal Hotel as a bell boy and was the door keeper at the Happy Hall House. He seemed to be a very bright youth. He was said that his father and mother are both dead. Mr. Black had every confidence in the boy, for only a few days ago, there was placed in the cash register several hundred dollars and everything was alright until this morning when he robbed the register.

He presided at a recent conference of the Irish Reform Association, of which Lord Dunsany is president and from which he has been elected a member of the executive committee. The official of the new imperial home rule association which lately sprung up in the ranks of the Irish Reform Association, is said to be a more moderate form of home rule than that demanded by the Nationalists could agree. ## THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

HIRAM'S EXPERIENCE.

Mr. Hiram Hornbeam drove to the picnic at Loch on yesterday. On his way home he discovered that there was something wrong with the harness on his horse. He was necessary to get out and investigate.

"By Hen!" said Hiram. "That ain't my bridle."

Further examination showed that the harness was Hiram's. Somebody had effected an exchange, and it was for the worse.

"Now," said Hiram to the Times new reporter, this morning, "if I knowed whether it was a girl or a tory done that trick on me I'd vote agin 'em."

But his loss did not lessen Hiram's appreciation of the joys of the picnic.

"Say," he said, "I seen a feller from Willet Grove eatin' sandwiches fer an hour and 27 minutes. We timed 'em."

But when I seen a dude feller from town hobnobbin' an old ladysey from my back, with carrybunches on 'ee face and a pant leg stuck into ees boot it made me laugh. Say, they were more fun than yer tory gally."

"I ain't afraid it'll spile the Loch Lomond fair this fall. Great weather—it is."

JOYFUL INTELLIGENCE.

The Times new reporter was in a gay humor this morning. He had read the thrilling account of Mr. Jack's titanic struggle and glorious victory in the golf championships, and it was pleasant reading. Mr. Jack would be in good humor today. Mr. Jack is a financier. So is the new reporter. But Mr. Jack is long and the new reporter is short on finance.

To use a golf term, the new reporter is generally in the hole. Would Mr. Jack hole him out? What less could a champion, with his blushing honors thick upon him, do? What gally, the new reporter placed his autograph on a blank form, filled in the blank with the word "city," and went out to congratulate Mr. Jack. It was a fine put, and the rest of the staff teed.

AGREEMENT WAS SIGNED TODAY

There is now Nothing to Prevent the South Rodney Wharf Extension Being Commenced at Once.

The agreement between the city and the federal government in connection with the extension of the South Rodney wharf was signed today, and nothing now interferes with the work being undertaken at once. The area on which the wharf will be built has been transferred to the government, and the city has agreed to facilitate legislation in connection with the matter in the provincial house if the federal authorities deem it necessary to have the authorization of the local government.

The plans as finally agreed upon show several changes from the original. The southern frontage will be 160 feet and the harbor frontage will run out on an angle, giving 357.7 feet. The northern wharf will be the largest yet built, with 607.5 feet.

The width has been extended from 212 feet to 236 feet, an increase of 24 feet. This latter change was made at the request of the C. P. R., which wanted more room for laying the rails.

It is understood that tenders will be called for at once.

West Indian Liner Escape 1 Big Gale Off the Southern Coast.

The Peckford & Black West Indian Liner Dahome, Captain Grov, arrived in port this morning from Bermuda, Windward Islands and Demerara, after a very fine passage all the way up. New York, Sept. 25.—Fog and smoke from forest fires still surrounded the coast today after having given the coast ship people from South Jersey to Nantucket and the ocean ship concerns another day of delay, serious not only to passengers but to freight interests. Numerous ocean liners were still waiting just outside the Hook, though during the forenoon the atmosphere cleared slightly and the Carmanis which had arrived yesterday and neck with the Teutonic, started slowly Manhattanward. The outward bound Mauretania which attempted to sail Wednesday, was still in Gravesend Bay this morning. The weather bureau reported the fog still dense off shore, but noted indications of a slow though incomplete clearing during the day.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Forest fires have broken out in the Minnesota national forest, says a telegram received by the forest service from Supervisor Marshall, but the government officials appear to have the situation well in hand. The fires are reported as having started mostly from the railroad. Forest officials in Washington declare there is little danger of any widespread damage to the Minnesota national forest, though the general conditions are so bad that until heavy rains have fallen, there is bound to be anxiety. The damage done by the present fires has been confined to the loss of very young growth.

PRACTICAL JOKERS CARRIED THIS JOKE TO POINT OF DANGER

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Andrew Babo was taken from Burlington, Ind., to the South Chicago Hospital of the Illinois Steel Company yesterday, with his vital organs torn by a jet of compressed air. He will probably die. He is the victim of a practical joke played at the plant of the Buffalo Cement Company, a subsidiary concern of the United Steel Corporation where he was employed as a laborer. The cause of his injury was a series of three games for the Bullock trophy, the first to take place on Saturday next, October 3rd.

While tomorrow's game will not count in the series, nevertheless the contest should be a good one as neither care to start the season on the losing end. Both teams will line up strong and some new and fast material will be seen with both teams. The Greeks will probably line up very much as they did at last season, but it is expected that the Indians will be very much stronger.
