POLICE COURT

A young man was before the police court today on a charge of peering into windows after night in the vicinity of Mecklenburg street. Policeman McAineh said that he was on special duty last night about 11.15 o'clock as a result of complaints that had reached the police officials, that an individual was for the last few weeks back going about at night in Mecklenburg street, between Wentworth and Carmarthen streets, and was causing annoyance to people in the houses by glaring in under the window shades.

The magistrate remanded the defendant saying that he was liable to nine months in jail.

Albert Scels was charged with begging. He was remanded.

Louis Dritz, charged with the theft of a rope from the Wiggins Slip, West End, by A. B. Ruddle, was remanded until Monday. The value of the article is placed at $12.

Joseph Flynn was also remanded on the charge of drunkenness and tampering with a fire alarm box in Mill street, after Policeman Corner had testified. Several other prisoners were fined the usual amount for drunkenness.

The court fined the defendant $10 for not sounding the horn and allowed the fine in the other case to stand.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Albert Murphy and Miss Catherine, both of Roxbury; and two sons, Vincent, of Roxbury, and Joseph H., of West St. John. "OFF TO THE FISHING GROUND"

(From "The Watchman and Other Poems," by L. M. Montgomery, author of "Anne of Green Gables.")

Oh, be glad and heartsome thing
To wake ere the night be done,
And steer the course that our fathers steered
In the path of the rising sun.
The wind and welkin and wave are ours
Wherever our bourns is found,
And we envy no landsman his dream
and sleep,
When we're off to the fishing ground.

"The Old Man's Grave."

There is something very kindly and tender in her touch, a gentle sympathy with the varying moods of nature, and a singular charm and nimbleness of expression. "The Old Man's Grave" is a good example.

Make it where the winds may sweep
Through the pine-leaves soft and deep,
And the murmur of the sea,
Come across the orient lee,
And the falling raindrops sing
Gently to his slumbering.

Make it where the meadows wide
Greenly lie on every side,
Harvest fields be reaped and trod,
Westering slopes of clover sod,
Orchard lands where bloom and blow
Trees be planted long ago.

Make it where the starshine dim
May be always close to him,
And the sunrise story spread
Lavishly around his bed,
And the dew grasses creep
Tenderly above his sleep.

Since these things to him were dear
Through full many a well-spent year,
It is surely meet their grace
Should be on his resting-place,
And the murmur of the sea
Be his dirge eternally.

THE POLICE

The police force is considerably crippled with the absence of men from duty because of sickness. With the small force the fact that several are away is much felt. The many friends of Inspector Thomas Caples will regret to hear that he is very ill in his home and has not been able to be at headquarters for some days. He has a severe cold and complications have set in and, according to the police officials, he is none too well. Policeman Henriksen is also confined to his home with a poisoned hand. He was arresting a prisoner some time ago and his hand was accidentally scratched. Later inflammation set in and he has been unable to be on duty for a week.

DEATH OF JOSEPH SEYMOUR

General regret was expressed this morning when it was learned that Joseph Seymour of this city had passed away at his residence, 254 Caramarthen street, after a lingering illness. Although he was falling in health for some time, yet death came suddenly and unexpectedly.

Mr. Seymour was seventy-five years of age, and was one of the best known men in the city, and was for many years employed on the St. John Telegraph, for considerable time as day foreman.

He was much thought of by those who knew him and by those with whom he worked. His ever genial manner won for him a host of friends, who will learn of his death with deep regret.

Besides his wife, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Hutchings of this city; two brothers, E. N. and William Seymour of Boston, and two sisters, Miss Seymour and Mrs. Alexander Robinson, also of Boston.

D. J. & CO.

Financial Items—There is a good deal of talk of a powerful bear party having been formed to work the stock market lower, many references being made in this connection to the stiffening of call money rates of the last day or two, and the possibilities in that connection during the next two weeks, because of loan requirements. Private advice are very unfavorable in tone with regard to the Mexican situation. Nothing definite is given but there is a state of caution inspired as a result of information alleged to come from Washington in the last few days. It has been responsible for some of the selling of so-called Mexicans.

Press Comment—The west is a seller of numerous war stocks.

Sun—"Money made from speculation in industrial shares and from fortunate developments of business has been invested in the seasoned rails.

Wall Street Journal—"The technical position of the market seems to be much stronger than has been generally assumed by the professional element; due in great part to direct absorption of securities by investors."
