Cleveland, O., June 22.—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul, light heavyweight, scored a technical knockout over Willie Meahan of San Francisco, in the first round of a scheduled twelve-round decision bout here tonight. Rowing at Shediac
J. A. Kelly of Shediac is communicating with St. John firms with a view to purchasing rowing shells for two crews. It is planned to have one crew from Shediac and one from Point du Chene. It is expected to have crews ready to participate in a regatta at Shediac about August 1.

Dingy Race.
A dingy race was sailed at the Royal Kennebecasis Yacht Club last evening. E. N. Harrington won with H. W. Heans second. The winner's elapsed time was 18 m. 4 seconds.

Made a Record.
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 22.—Specially invited crews won chief honors in the annual intercollegiate regatta here this afternoon when the U. S. Naval Academy eight and the University of California crew took first and second places respectively in the three mile varsity event, the feature of the program. Cornell was third, Pennsylvania fourth and Columbia and Syracuse finished in the order named. The middies, whose crew included most of the oarsmen who won Olympic honors at Brussels last summer, rowed the three miles in the record time of fourteen minutes and seven seconds. This surpassed the time of 15 minutes, 31½ seconds made by Pennsylvania at Saratoga Lake in 1898.

IN SIR JAMES BARRIE'S NOTED DRAMA

"HALF AN HOUR"

DOROTHY DALTON HAS PROBABLY THE MOST APPEALING ROLE OF HER CAREER in "Half an Hour," her new picture, which we are showing today and Thursday. It was adapted from the famous play of the same name written by Sir James M. Barrie, author of "Male and Female," "Peter Pan," and many other well known successes.
The story is about a beautiful young English girl who was practically sold by her father when she became a wife of a millionaire. Practically a stranger in her husband's house, she sought relief in the company of another and more alluring man. Finally she decided to run away with him. Then came the dramatic event that in a few minutes changed three lives forever.

S. D. Chown, general superintendent of the Methodist church in Canada, is sixty-eight.

In the railway world Sir William Mackenzie and Sir D. D. Mann are both over sixty-five, while Sir William Horne and Lord Strathcona would under this ruling have been retired at the very height of their careers. Lord Shaughnessy is sixty-eight, and J. L. English is sixty-five.
Here, if the same rule were made applicable to him as to the Customs department he would only have two more years of usefulness, while Mr. D. B.
Hornblower, president of the Canadian National Railway, has likewise only two more years till he reaches the "phantom line."

In the newspaper world Baron Athol-stoun is the outstanding figure in Canadian journalism, is seventy-three; in the university field the Very Rev. D. M. Gosport, who retired only a few years ago as principal of Queen's, is now seventy-six, while the man who served as the chancellor of the university, Sir Sanford Flavel, lived well beyond the three flannels, and ten, and was active and useful up till the closing days of his life.

In the industrial field that Grand Old Man of Canada, Mr. J. B. Booth of Ottawa, still active, hale and hearty, and the leader in his great field, is ninety-four years of age, while Chester Daniel Massey, of the Massey-Harris Company, is seventy-one. Col. O. F. Denison, Toronto's picturesque police magistrate, is eighty-two. Admiral Kingsmill is sixty-six, and so it goes on all through the list, not forgetting such men as Sir Charles Fitzpatrick at sixty-eight, Sir Allen Aylesworth at sixty-seven, Sir Hornblower Lorne, now sixty-two, and others too numerous to mention.

What Canada and the world would have lost had the wise men of Ottawa, who are responsible for this recommendation that sixty-five-year-old men should be counted down and out, the immortal words of Cicero, which we had occasion to quote some days ago, as follows:

"The great affairs of life are not performed by physical strength or activity, or nimbleness of body, but by deliberation, character and expression of opinion.
Of these old age is not deprived, but as a rule has them in greater degree."

WOMEN WANT HOMESTEAD RIGHTS
Edmonton, Alta., June 23.—A motion urging the federal government to permit women to file on homesteads on the same basis as men was presented at yesterday's session of the federal women's institute.
The sentiment of the meeting seemed to favor such a policy.

N. S. BAPTISTS.
Canning, N. S., June 23.—At the annual conference of the Central Baptist Association of Nova Scotia, comprising Hants, Halifax and Kings counties, yesterday, Rev. A. J. Prosser of Upper Canada was elected moderator. Dr. G. B. Catton, strongly of Acadia College made a valuable appeal for assistance in the one million dollar campaign about to be launched by the university.

LEADING FIGURES IN BIG CONTEST

"Jack" Dempsey.

New York, June 21.—William Harrison Dempsey the name by which the world's heavyweight champion was christened, was born 26 years ago in Manassas, Colo.
The prefix "Jack" was assumed by the big fellow when he had grown to man's estate, and had chosen the belting ring for a livelihood. As a fighter he had the idea and a good one, that by assuming the Christian name of "Jack" some of the children of the "middleweight" title holder might revert to him.

The champion is the sixth child of a family of eight. Three of his brothers and three sisters are alive but the youngest of the eight, who was named Bruce, died about two years ago. When Dempsey was seven years old his parents, Hiram and Collie Dempsey, with all their children moved from Manassas to Montrose, Colo., where they lived for nine years. Then the Dempsey household was shifted to Salt Lake City, Utah, and that is the place which, including the champion, claim as their home.

Born of rugged-parents, Dempsey claims that he has Irish, Scotch and Indian blood in his veins and insists that the fighting qualities for which all three of these races are famous have been passed on to him in generous portions from his antecedents.

Most of Dempsey's early life was spent in the open on a farm but later he alternated by working in the mines except in harvest time when he found it more unattractive to devote his strength to reaping wheat and other crops in the grain belt. In this way Dempsey kept himself in fine physical condition, the hard labor developing the wonderful muscles which proved to be such a useful factor in his winning the world's heavyweight title.

His challenger, Carpenter, Dempsey had very little early training for a career in the fighting arena, while the French champion was a close student of the glove game and an actual competitor when he entered his "teenies."

According to Dempsey's own story his first fight encounter was in an improvised ring at Montrose, Colo., when he was about 19 years old. His opponent was a young blacksmith named Woods, whom he knocked out in the first round.

This initial contest netted the young champion $25. His next fight also resulted in a third round knockout.
Andy Malloy, a negro in ten round decision bouts. This was in 1916.

During the following year Dempsey knocked out Al. Norton and Charley Miller, each in one round. Later he won from Willie Meahan, Carl Morris, Bob McAllister and Gunboat Smith in four round bouts in California and was knocked out by Jim Flynn, the "Pueblo Fireman." In the following year Dempsey reversed this by knocking out in a single round and following up with a series of knockouts, among his victims being Fred Fulton, Battling Levinsky, Porky Flynn, Arthur Pelkey and Terry Kellar.

Dempsey's banner year was 1919 when after scoring five knockouts of one round each in Pennsylvania and Connecticut, he won the title by stopping the big St. Peter's, on Tuesday evening. The handcuffed protest yesterday to J. S.
Malcolm, chairman of the board, and a decision is expected shortly. The manager of the Pirates said last night that they based their claim on rule 61, section 3, sub-section 2. The disputed play was when, with one man out and St.
Peter's runners on second and third base, in the seventh inning, a pop fly was hit to the first baseman of the Pirates. He caught the ball and was going to throw to third for a double play, when he discovered the base was not covered. He then tried to catch the runner at second but was unsuccessful in this. Meanwhile the runner from third scored, according to the Pirates' version, without re-touching third after the fly was caught. Both umpires at the game announced that they had not seen the play.
The play was resumed but the Pirates have entered a protest, claiming the game.

SOME STAUNCH MEN OF 65

Kingston Paper Gives Some Examples in Criticising Ottawa Course re Civil Service.

(Kingston Standard.)
Apparently the dominion government has made up its mind to follow the recommendations recently made by the various commissions, and retire all men in the Customs and Inland Revenue Departments who are over sixty-five years of age without regard to the fact that many of these men are still well and are in no wise incapacitated because of their age.

With all due respect to the dominion government and to the memory of the late Dr. Osler, who recommended that all men above sixty be retired, we think the suggested action is a mistake.

Certainly if we review the careers of the great men of Canada, past and present, we would find that had they been retired at the age of sixty-five the country would have been infinitely the worse for it. In whatever walk of life we look this fact is strikingly borne out. Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir Alexander Campbell, Sir Richard Cartwright, that great French-Canadian, Cartier, were all beyond sixty-five when they died. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was seventy-eight when he passed away. Hon. W. S. Fielding is seventy-two, Col. Landry, speaker of the senate, is seventy-nine, and so it runs through the political life.

In the banking world Sir Bryan Walker, head of the Bank of Commerce, is seventy-three, and Sir John Aird, general manager of that bank, is sixty-seven. Sir Herbert Holt, president of the Royal Bank, has just reached the "retiring age" of sixty-five. M. J. Haney, president of the Home Bank, is sixty-seven, and Sir Montagu Allan of the Merchants Bank has only four more years before he will be in the "also ran" class.

The same thing is strikingly true of the leaders of the church in Canada. Cardinal Bevin is eighty-one, Archbishop Gauthier is seventy-eight, Archbishop Bruchesi is sixty-five, Archbishop Spratt of this city, is sixty-four, Archbishop Matheson of the Anglican church is sixty-nine, Archbishop Worrell is sixty-seven, Archbishop Thorne is seventy-three. Rev. C. W. Gordon (Ralph Connor), just elected moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, is sixty-three (and soon, therefore, under this ruling, "on the shelf"), while Rev.

PIRATES PROTEST

The Pirates have entered a protest with the arbitration board of the City League on the game which was won by the St. Peter's on Tuesday evening. They handed their protest yesterday to J. S.

was when, with one man out and St.
Peter's runners on second and third base,

nounced that they had not seen the play.
The play was resumed but the Pirates

Schoke, one of the four alleged bandits who held up James Duke, a storekeeper day and robbed him of $800 cash and $80 worth of goods, came out of the bush and walked into the arms of Chief Barnett of Capreol, and Provincial Con-lying in wait for him. Mike Lazarek,

HONORS WON BY WM. T. BRICKLEY

St. John Horseman Given Praise for Work With the Hartland Racers.

(Special to The Times.)
Fredericton, N. E., June 23.—William T. Brickley, a St. John trainer, who signified his first appearance as driver for the Hartland Driving Club by winning three of the four races on the card of a matinee meeting yesterday at the Woodstock track, will open his regular campaign at the Maine and New Brunswick circuits' curtain-raiser meeting at Fredericton on June 30 and July 1. He added to his reputation by the wonderful showing he made last season with Peter Farren, 2,07½, while the sensational St.
John pacer was in his care, and all the training work at the Woodstock track have been won in praise of his excellent work with the Hartland horses. He also has one St. John-owned pacer, Betty Gamage, a brown mare by Kempton, which he bought at Portland Maine, last winter for W. J. Robertson, a St. John business man.

The Hartland Driving Club's stable, headed by Ben Alt, 2,09½, will have a busy season, their schedule taking them to the races every week from July 1 to October 15 on the Maine and New Brunswick circuits. They are expected to arrive here on Monday or Tuesday from Woodstock, and it is expected that about the same time, Dr. F. B. Taylor, of St. John, and other St.
John horses will be arriving to get their final tuning up for the opening here.

GETS BIG KNIFE BACK FROM TEACHER AFTER 52 YEARS
Brookville, Ont., June 23.—W. F.
Chapman of the Light and Power Department, when a boy, attended school at Maple Grove, near Ganouque, Ont., where he was taught by Margaret Garrett. One day the teacher took away a large jackknife, with which he was mutilating a desk. She died a few days ago near Ottawa, and at her request the knife has been returned to Chapman, after a lapse of fifty-two years.

DRUG CASE
In the case against Dr. Broderick, charged with unlawfully signing prescriptions, for the filling of which a drug was required, but without medicinal purpose, J. Benson Mahony was recalled to the stand and produced a book in which he kept account of all narcotics sold from his store. The book was entered in evidence. Dr. W. F. Howley said that he had often treated drug addicts. He considered that if the drugs were given to the addict himself for personal treatment, such treatment would not be medicinal. If the doses were not gradually diminished it would not be medicinal.
