

GENERAL KEER'S HIMALAYAN TEA,

Imported direct from India by Major General Keer, in March last.

Advertising has been so abused, especially in the matter of tea, that the public naturally distrust advertisements. General Keer hopes, therefore, that consumers will give his tea a fair trial, and thus be able to judge the correctness of his statements. He will forward one-half lb. samples, post paid, to applicants on receipt of 35 cts. in stamps, and pledges himself to supply tea of exactly the same quality.

This high class black tea is not only one of the finest in the market but one of the cheapest. Owing to its great strength and "liquoring" power it can be made to go much further than ordinary tea.

It is well known in England that Indian Teas, as imported, are absolutely pure, a very important matter of health. This tea was selected and packed in India to General Keer's order, and has therefore never been in the market before, but is exactly as received from India.

In the drawing-room it is a favorite on account of its rich mellowness and delicate aroma; at the same time families find it to be an economical beverage. To men exhausted by mental or muscular labor, it is most refreshing.

General Keer, whilst in India, drank Himalayan Tea in preference to all others, and therefore, from long experience of its excellencies, he is encouraged to import it, in order to supply, as he believes, a great need. Anything that will tend to reduce the consumption of green tea will be allowed by the medical faculty to be a boon to the country.

Those who drink it for any time often remark that they could not go back to their old teas, and a few confess that they never knew what really good tea was till they were persuaded to try General Keer's Tea.
