Send for "Bedtime," 5-year Guarantee & 30-day Trial offer

IT will cost you only a post card and a few minutes of your time to write—but you'll be well repaid for your trouble. "Bedtime" has put many people wise to the way of making good and bad Brass and Enamel Beds. It's certainly worth reading! It illustrates a great variety of the most beautiful Beds ever made—Quality Beds. The 5-year Guarantee shows how honest and square we are with you—even after you have used your Quality Bed for as long as 5-years. If your Quality does not toe the mark—if anything happens to it from use, it will be satisfactorily repaired, or you get a brand new Quality Bed, free. And the 30-day Trial! That's put up to you to prove that Quality Beds are the best on earth! It gives you a chance to try a Quality Bed yourself, before you decide to keep it. Then you'll know what you want. You just get the Quality Bed you like best from our dealer in your town, and use it 30 days. If you don't like it then, back it goes—but you won't be out one cent. And you won't be obligated, nor questioned, nor pestered to death with salesmen, either. After you try the Quality Bed 30 Days, you certainly ought to know whether or not you like it,—so you'll be the judge—not us. You have all the say in this affair, and you take no risk. We guarantee that! No matter where or how long you search, you just simply cannot find a Brass or Enamel Bed equal to a Quality in workmanship, durability, beauty of design or elegance of finish—or anything else. And yet, mind you, the price of Quality Beds is lower than all others. If you'll write us now, we'll send you "Bedtime" and name of dealer in your town. You ought to write now—you'll be mighty glad for it.

"Metallic ceilings and walls in the kitchen prevent many a bad fire—you know they are fireproof."

The Philosopher
of Metal Town.

Walls and Ceiling For the Kitchen

It is impossible to keep the ordinary kitchen walls clean—smoke discolors them—dirt and grease sticks and stains so readily—very unsanitary, a regular breeding place for vermin. Why not have a bright, clean kitchen—cover the walls and ceiling with

METALLIC

It is both sanitary and artistic. Metallic is the ideal ceiling and wall covering for the kitchen—no dust falling in the food—no vermin, keeps out the rats and mice, and is always fresh and clean. Our free booklet "Interior Decorations in Metal" tells you all about ceilings and walls, write for it now. Phone Parkdale 800.

follow the national and imperial celebration.

It will be this very opportunity to show our patriotic spirit and our vigorous nationality by honouring the heroic defenders of our country and rejoicing over our huge expansion and consolidation that will enable us to enter into a final celebration of the Century of Peace with a national status and as a nation among nations, not as a mere dependency or "possession" of Great Britain. This is in accordance with the spirit of the Empire to-day. The Mother Country looks upon us no longer as a colony, but as a sister nation and invites our advance to equality of status with herself. It is the same with the Commonwealth and the other self-governing Dominions of Greater Britain. We have become an Empire of Nations.

Canada has really two motherlands, Great Britain and France; and the United States owes much of its civilisation to its English language and literature, its fundamental laws derived from the Common Law of England, and its representative form of Government, derived, mainly, from the British system. It is eminently fitting, therefore, and not unnatural, that Great Britain, France, the Daughter States of Greater Britain and the United States should draw together in a joint celebration which will manifest their common interest in the progress and peace of the world and their common policy of standing against any aggression that might endanger the doctrine of the Balance of Power upon which the national liberties of the world rest.

It has been suggested that a celebration of the victories of the war would arouse feelings of animosity and be incompatible with a friendly international celebration of the Century of Peace. Even if this were probable, it should not deter us; for it is more than all important that our people, and particularly the rising generation, should learn to value British institutions, British connection and Canada's power to increase the mighty influence for good that the British Empire exercises upon the world's civilisation. But, to my mind, a celebration that would show how highly we value our Canadian nationality and our share in the Empire, would increase the respect of all nations for us and none more than that of the United States.

We do not resent the celebration of the Fourth of July, and eminent British statesmen attend its festivities, even in London. Our King, when Prince of Wales, touched the hearts of the American people by baring his head before the tomb of Washington, "the father of his country." But Washington and his fellow patriots are no more worthy of monuments and reverence than are the heroes whose defence of Canada in 1812-14 laid the foundations for an equally great nation. The Americans would be wholly misled as to the spirit of the Canadian nation and would hold its patriotism in contempt if it neglected to honour the memory of its founders and saviours. The misunderstanding of the Canadian regard for the Mother Country was one of the inducements of the war of 1812-14; for many Americans thought Canadians would be glad to shake off the "galling yoke" of the parent state. We should see that no such misunderstanding can ever occur again. We can command the respect of other nations and avoid misunderstanding only by showing pride in our country and Empire. But we need not be jingoes; our patriotism should have higher motives; our imperialism should respect the legitimate aspirations of other nations and races.
