

Orange Parade on Sunday

Rev. G. Marshall Addressed Societies at Emmanuel Church

The annual Twelfth of July Parade of the Orange Lodges of Belleville, with the sister societies, the Prentice Boys, True Blues, and Sons of England, was held Sunday morning at Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Church. The brethren were out in large numbers and in full regalia, and were led by a couple of Highland pipers.

Emmanuel Church was packed for the service. The Rev. George Marshall, rector, officiated. The hymns were appropriate—"Stand up and Bless the Lord," "Stand up for Jesus" and "Onward, Christian Soldiers." During the offertory Miss M. Harris sang a solo very sweetly.

The preacher, after welcoming the Societies, announced his text—II Chron. 33:11 "My son, be not now negligent."

Hezekiah was but twenty-five years old when he was called to the throne. Shortly after he called on the men of the kingdom to assist in the reforms he planned. Things were in a deplorable condition as a result of his father's weakness. But the young king does not weep over this. He has faith in himself and in God. It was no time for music and dancing. He felt the call to action. He was old-fashioned enough to stick to the religion of his grandfather.

His first reform was the temple of God. The temple was cleansed, the people poured in. Then began a religious revival of great proportions. God was feared, order restored, victories won, and prosperity returned.

This glorious result came from the response of a handful of men. It was a call of God to service. In all ages God has called men and glorified them for their work.

History plainly shows that a season of lethargy gets hold of the people after a time of prosperity or depression. It is so in Rome, in Ireland and in a lesser degree in every part of the earth. During the war we were buoyed up. We talked of the brotherhood of war. But since the armistice we have seen none of these results. We see the same class distinctions.

If this disappointment proves anything it is that it is not in the power of adversity or prosperity to reform men. You cannot legislate men into a noble life. In the past we have been more anxious to prove men sinners than help save them. But Christianity is not a private thing, it is to apply to all.

Negligence was the only thing that Hezekiah feared. The kind of negligence the world is suffering from today is that which is satisfied with itself. Some negligence resembles paralysis—there is no response to the higher emotions.

What is real pleasure? Does it stand in advancing the Kingdom of Christ or in robbing and plundering one another? Can there be any pleasure in the aching head the next morning?

Don't barter your peace of mind for a thrill of passion.

How many refuse to do anything by offering all sorts of excuses about their lack of qualification?

Hezekiah had heroic courage. The sudden act of daring may be but the impulse of a moment. That is real heroism that deliberately undertakes the risks, the wrong interpretations, the where does God find these heroic men? Among the noble? Not many. Every organization knows that numbers do not always count. The early ambassadors of the cross counted not the risk.

Life is given us not for sloth, but to act some noble and useful part. "My brethren, stand firm to the Protestant faith," he urged.

Men and women must get back to the house of God. Family worship has gone, the family altar is destroyed. Bring them back and the slumbering consciences will be aroused. Every man should regard himself as a high priest of the family. Boys and girls do not honor their parents as they should.

Men, stand by your Bible, the most loved and most hated book in the world. Stand loyally by your King, your country, its liberties won at the cost of your forefathers' lives. Make your lodges as perfect as possible. There is no perfection in this world, but that does not prevent us from making them as perfect as may be. Mr. T. D. Ruston read the Scripture lesson.

RECOVER CAR IN PETERBORO

Mr. W. H. Finkle's Chevrolet car, which was taken from Trenton on Friday night, has been recovered in Peterboro and three men are under arrest in that city charged with theft of the machine.

Death of Mrs. John S. Black

One of the best beloved residents of Stirling, in the person of Mrs. John S. Black, passed to the life everlasting on Monday evening last, July 6th, at 29 Pinewood Avenue, Toronto, the residence of her younger daughter, Mrs. Robert Kerr.

Mrs. Black was born on August 16, 1847, at Colborne, Ont., whither her grandfather and his wife and two eldest children came from Meriden, Conn., at the close of the Revolutionary War. Her early years were spent at Colborne. On June 3rd, 1868, she married John S. Black, eldest son of the Rev. John Black, one of the pioneer Methodist Ministers of Canada and a former resident of this village. On June 6th, 1868, she came to Stirling as a bride, driving with her husband from Belleville—there being no railway in those days. On June 5, 1920, she left Stirling for Toronto to undergo medical treatment. This leave-taking proved to be her farewell to the pretty little village in which she had lived for 52 years and in which all her children were born.

Mrs. Black had been confined to the house for some months previous to her decease, as a result of complications following an attack of pneumonia in November last. A few weeks ago her condition was such that it was possible to move her to Toronto. There a medical examination was made and a minor operation was decided on. This was performed on June 23rd—the birthday anniversary of her daughter, Edna. It was quite successful. Kidney trouble, however, later developed, and her weakened constitution was unable to resist that attack. She passed peacefully away at 10.10 o'clock on Monday evening, July 6th, in the presence of her children, Messrs. John M., and Harry S. Black, of Montreal; Mrs. James Ralph of Stirling; Messrs. Charles D. and Byrne M. Black, of Napanee, and Mrs. Robert Kerr, of Toronto.

Mrs. Black will be affectionately remembered by those who knew her. The personification of gentleness and kindness, she always had a smile and pleasant word for those she met. She was the idol of her children, all of whom, with the exception of one, survive her. To them her passing will be an irreparable loss.

On Tuesday evening a funeral service was conducted at Toronto in the presence of the family and near relatives by the Rev. J. A. Hiltz, formerly of this village. On Wednesday the body was brought to Stirling and, at the setting of the sun, it was laid to rest at the side of that of her husband in Stirling cemetery.

The Rev. James Batstone read the committal at the grave. Mrs. Black was descended from two of the oldest families on the North American Continent, namely: the Merrimans, and the Livingstons, of Livingston Manor, New York. Her father, the late James Monroe Merriman, Collector of Customs at Colborne, Ont., was a direct descendant of Lieut. Nathaniel Merriman, who came to New England with the Pilgrim Fathers and twenty-four years after the founding of Quebec by Champlain. Her mother (whose maiden name was Maria Livingston) was descended from Robert Livingston, who came to the Province of New York in 1683 and founded the Lordship and Manor of Livingston on the Hudson River. He was the great great grandson of William, fourth Lord Livingston in the Peerage of Scotland.

West Will Have a Big Crop

Business Very Quiet, Says Aid Bone, Who Has Returned

Ald. J. Bone arrived home on Saturday, after a month's trip in the West. He travelled to Vancouver by C.P.R. and returned from Prince Rupert by Grand Trunk Pacific.

Everything points to a big crop throughout the west, except in the vicinity of Saskatoon, says Aid Bone. He noted that lumber had fallen in price very greatly in British Columbia. Shingles, for instance, have tumbled from $8 to $3 and $4 per thousand. Business generally is very quiet in the west. Everything seems to be waiting on the crop.

In many lines prices are being slashed. Ladies' dresses selling recently as high as $250, are offered at $80.

Ald. Bone is full of praise for the government railroad, the Grand Trunk Pacific. The service is excellent from Prince Rupert east, and particularly from Winnipeg to Toronto.

Eight boys obtained the highest possible scores: Walter Baker, Warren Soule, William George, Ray Buskirk, Edgar Andrews, Burvis Jordan, Gerald Wiggs, Charlie Naynor.

Second—Queen Mary School, Total 505 points, average 33.8, Percentage 86.3.

Four boys made the highest possible scores: Archie Burke, Ned Symons, Harold McKnight, George Richardson.

The Marsh Competition

Highest possible individual score, 45. Prizes donated by Lt.-Col. L. W. Marsh.

First—Queen Victoria School, Total 332 points, average 41.5, percentage, 92.2.

Four boys made the highest possible scores: Warren Soule, Kenneth Emerson, Edgar Andrews, Walter Baker.

Second—Queen Mary School, Total 294 points, average 36.7, percentage 81.6.

Two boys made the highest possible scores: Charles Doolittle, Reginald Rich.

Strathcona Competition

Individual order of merit on the shoot off of the six best scores obtained in the team shoot. Highest possible score 50:

First—Walter Baker, Queen Victoria School, 49.

Second—William George, Queen Victoria School, 45.

Third—Harold McKnight, Queen Mary School, 44.

Fourth—Warren Soule, Queen Victoria School, 42.

Fifth—Archie Burke, Queen Mary School, 42.

Sixth—Ned Symons, Queen Mary School, 36.

Marsh Competition

Individual order of merit of the six best scores obtained in the Team Shoot. Highest possible score, 50:

First—Reginald Rich, Queen Mary School, 45.

Second—Kenneth Emerson, Queen Victoria School, 44.

Third—Edgar Andrews, Queen Victoria School, 43.

Fourth—Charlie Doolittle, Queen Mary School, 41.

Fifth—John Hibbard, Queen Mary School, 36.

Sixth—Warren Soule, Queen Victoria School, 35.

The shooting was very keenly contested and the results obtained reflect credit on the instructors concerned.

It was noticed that while one school had three rifles another had only one. I would strongly recommend that each Corps have the same number of rifles at their disposal in order to put them on equal basis. I would suggest at least four rifles for each school with a Cadet Corps.

Finally I am of the opinion that under the circumstances the results of both competitions were very good.

COAL BY BARGE AT COBURG.

Messrs. Robert Hicks & Co. Peterboro, have been advised that the barge "Scotia" with a cargo of hard coal, has arrived at Cobourg. So far as Peterboro is concerned this is one of the first ship loads of coal to be distributed by this route.

SUSPECTED OF BIGAMY.

A Justice of Peace at Sharbot Lake has written the Children's Aid Society of the County of Lennox and Addington, that a man and woman were living together at Sharbot Lake and it was believed that the woman's husband was still alive. The society did not think this was its business, but as the woman's two children were living with them Inspector Pollicie was instructed to find out how they were being treated.

DIETITIAN LEAVES ESTATE TO HARVARD.

Dr. Horace Fletcher, renowned dietitian, who preached the doctrine of thorough mastication of one's food, left the residue of an estate of $126,573 to Harvard University, for the "purpose of fostering the knowledge of healthful nutrition," according to an appraisal filed in the Surrogate court Friday by the deputy state collector. Dr. Fletcher died in Copenhagen, January 12th. His widow, Grace, a resident of New York, receives an annuity of $3,600.

ALLOWED HIS LIBERTY.

In the police court on Saturday William John Saunders, a stranger, who was charged with vagrancy, was allowed to go.

RECOVERED HALTERS.

Mr. John Paest, of Halloway, reported to the police that he had two halters stolen by two boys. The police located and recovered the halters.

MALICIOUS FALSEHOOD IS IN CIRCULATION.

A story is being circulated around Lindsay that effects the reputation of some of its most respected Clothing Merchants. The story is being told in many different ways but the purport of it is that a gentleman bought a suit of clothes and paid for it, then he demanded to see the invoice price and he found on examining it that he had paid four or five times what the suit cost. This story is absolutely without foundation. It is a malicious attack on the good reputation of some of our most respected merchants, and people should take the trouble to find out whether or not these canards are true, before repeating them.

PASSED EXAMINATIONS.

Miss Anna Bailey, "Maple Grange," Stirling, has successfully passed her Junior Vocal examination at the Toronto College of Music.

WILL NEW YORK MOVE TO CANADA.

Will New York ever move over the line to Canada? If it does the Ford Motor Car Co., of Detroit will take over the Ontario Malleable Iron Company's Plant in Oshawa.

Manager John Dyer of the Ontario Malleable Iron Co. did not express himself exactly in Oshawa terms, but when asked by The Telegram if there was any truth in the rumor that the Ford industries would take over the plant, answered "There is not a particle of truth in it. The Ford Company are no more likely to take over the Ontario Malleable Iron Plant than New York is likely to move over to Canada."

NOTHING DOING YET.

Brig-Gen. A. E. Ross, who returned to Kingston from Ottawa on Thursday, when asked by The Whig if there were any later developments in the Portsmouth penitentiary situation stated that there would be nothing doing until after the visit of Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice who would come to Kingston on Thursday afternoon for the purpose of attending the picnic at Wolfe Island and also look over the situation at the prison.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

A young seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cook, of Toronto, who are guests of Mr. Cook's sister, Mrs. J. I. Johnston, Sussex-st., Lindsay, and are spending a few holidays at the Morgan annex, Pleasant Point, had a narrow escape from drowning the other day.

The young fellow is a good swimmer, and when swimming in the big Y.M.C.A. tank at Toronto, thinks nothing of diving in eight feet of water and swimming around the tank. However, it appears that the lad dived off the end of the government wharf at Pleasant Point, and instead of swimming towards shore he thought he would stand up on the bottom, and it is assumed that when he found he could not reach bottom he lost his head, instead of stroking out. He disappeared beneath the water twice, when his father jumped in with his clothes on and rescued the young lad.
