Thomas Laves, of Wallaceburg, who recently purchased the Normandie hotel, Sarnia, took possession last

The estate of the late Robert Ferguson, M. P., paid $15,294.80 to the Ontario Government as succession duties.

They are going to law in Chatham over the weight of coal. We are glad to get it here and ask no questions.—Wallaceburg Herald.

Thomas Higley returned to town this week and has accepted a position with Mr. H. M. Winters. Tom's return to Glenora will materially strengthen the local lacrosse team this season.—Glenora Tribune.

Mr. Harry Hall, of Chatham, was in town yesterday. Mr. Hall, who for a number of years past has run the Chatham Hotel, at Erie, expects to leave this week for Edmonton, Alberta, where he will engage in the confectionery and restaurant business.—Glenora Tribune.

We are sorry to report this week that the surgeons in Chatham found it necessary to amputate Leslie Brundage's leg. The disease had made such progress that this had to be done to save the boy's life. He stood the operation well and is now reported doing well.—Wallaceburg Herald.

An event worthy of special notice took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Terryberry, Maple Grove, on Wednesday evening, March 16th, 1904, when their eldest daughter, Eva Maniche, was united in marriage to Mr. John Allen Hope, of Blythwood, by Rev. W. H. Butt, of Chatham.

Senator Wm. McLaughlin, whose brothers reside in Harwich is again the Democratic candidate for state senatorship in Montgomery and Garland counties, Arkansas. A recent issue of the Mount Ida, Ark. Times, contains a verbatim report of an address delivered by him in his own interests at Mount Ida.

Joe Drake, who has been a resident of Dresden for a number of years and who has done a lucrative business in the watchmaking line, passed over to the silent majority on Friday morning last. He has been suffering all winter from asthma, which was the immediate cause of his death. He was in his 74th year.

The other day W. M. Bolton, near Winchester, lost two $1 bills and soon came across a hen trying to swallow one of them. The hen was captured, beheaded, and her crop opened. Inside, rolled up like a pellet, was the other bill in good condition. No wonder eggs are dear, when hens are going so high.

I received this week an interesting letter from Walter Hood formerly of Chatham township, but now of E. C. He is in the employ of P. R. He says the pay roll, month of February at the was upwards of $90,000.

SATCHEL OF THE SATELLITE

The old Thames is coming up to my expectations.
Old Father Thames is a good poker player. He's great on the raise.

A man who knows says that the grass began to grow yesterday.

I wonder if you would call those C. C. I. mural decorations "Signs of the Times!"

Moss Robinson's strongholds are the three O's—champagne, chickens and chopping.

The man with the look is certainly a financial genius. Where will the money come from?

Since Sam Moore, I haven't heard of any other civil servant resigning to get a $50 raise.

Lineman Sam Moore's a regular Peripat Morgan when it comes to financing a salary raise.

It cost a man in the County Court $4 for talking too much and yet people say talk is cheap.

Ald. Edmondson—This matter hasn't ended yet. Ald. Marshall has got to pass that vote of censure.

I have never quite decided whether Moss Robinson owns the City Council or the City Council owns Moss.

If the Government will promise to keep the water where it is now we'll not ask them to do any dredging.

I think I'll go up to the Council meeting next Wednesday night and see the fun that Ald. Edmondson promises me.

Ald. Edmondson certainly showed grit when he stood up against the whole bunch at Wednesday night's Council meeting.

England is going to have a treat. N. H. Stevens and John A. Walker, two Maple City citizens, are going to visit Albion's Isle.

They tell me that the pupils at the O. C. I. are trying to get the teachers to work the detention room on the Golden Rule principle.

The papers needn't make so much fuss about Port Arthur being bottled up. My friend Joe Seagram bottles up something better than Port Arthur every day.

The Sam Blake speech to the Canadian Club and the Globe's murrain, more emphasizes the fact that a private citizen or public man who pleads for purity in politics, is guilty of a gross attack upon the Ross Government.

The man who left the ballot box lock and note at the Urban Store said: "The story connected with this will be told for $100 if left with some reliable man." There is some doubt as to whether the reliable man was supposed to receive the story or the money. Don't let that trouble you, however, for the Satellite is perfectly willing to take both and for the purpose, will pass as a reliable man. He can lie and lie and is also able.

WHO CAN BEAT THIS?

J. T. Baskie—There are lots of mosquitoes around already. I have killed seven or eight the past two days.

HIS FIERCE REVENGE.

Cholly Hecol got married recently. One evening he found a burly ex-sweetheart of Mrs. Hecol's, wearing the lady's dress, looking dangerous, but decided not to shoot the intruder.
"I saw his umbrella in the hall," said Cholly, "and I took it to the parlor and broke it right over the brute's face." "Thank," said I. "I hope it'll rain when you go home to-night!" Then I went out and drank two glasses of apollinaris.—Detroit News.

THE WORLD IS GROWING WORSE

That the world is surely growing worse has been incontrovertibly established in Brooklyn, N. Y., a city far-famed for piety—or at least for the number of churches in its midst. On Sunday last two wicked Greeks with a handorgan took a position on a street corner near one of Brooklyn's largest and consequently most pious church edifices, just as the rising generation of the congregation was en route to study the remarks of the Sunday school teachers. As the handorgan ground out "Be-de-la" and other worldly tunes the children forgot their destination and yielded up their pennies to an industrious monkey in the employ of the Greeks aforesaid. The wronged superintendent of the Sunday school caused the Greeks to be arrested for breaking the Sabbath calm, and next day they were fined nearly as many pennies as they had reaped. Truly, the way of the transgressor is as hard as a liar's heart.

"THIS IS FREE AMERICA, EH?"

Some years ago—about ten—the late Sir Edwin Arnold visited Detroit, gave a reading from some of his works and remained over Sunday. On Sunday he strolled down on the docks at the foot of Woodward avenue to look at the whitecaps—it was a rough morning—and there met two newspaper men out cooling their fevered brows in the early morning breeze. Sir Edwin had met the gentlemen the night before under other circumstances, but democratically entered into conversation. Harbor-master O'Neil approached, was introduced, and invited the party to introduced, and invited the party to rigate. Sir Edwin joyfully accepted.

It was Sunday. A spasm of Sunday closing had recently swept over the city. So it was necessary to pilot Sir Edwin up one alley, down another into a woodshed, through a kitchen on the floor of which two interesting children were playing in remarkably scanty clothing, as their stylishly attired mother cooked ham and eggs for breakfast, through a filtered dining-room, down a hall—to the bar. Sir Edwin marched with twinkling eyes, and as he raised his glass, remarked:
"So this is free America, eh?"—Detroit News.
