BIG FIRE

The Barns Belonging to M. Wilson and Geo. Taylor Totally Destroyed—Narrow Escape of Surrounding Buildings.

A number of small boys, with matches and cigarettes, were the cause of a very serious fire yesterday afternoon about half-past three o'clock. The boys were taking advantage of the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Wilson and family to steal some choice apples that were stored in Mr. Wilson's barn at the rear of his residence on Wellington street.

After they had eaten as many of the apples as they could, they lit their cigarettes in the barn and decamped. It is supposed the matches set fire to the hay in the building and, as a result, the Wilson barn and George Taylor's barn adjoining were totally destroyed.

Some one sent in the alarm to the fire hall from the Riverside Terrace. The fireman who received the telephone call heard the words, "Back of George Taylor's, the cigar man." The brigade turned out to Mr. Taylor's store on King St. and laid a line of hose at the rear of the building, but no fire could be seen. They went back to the hall and received the message corrected, and the informant this time gave the words, "Back of George Taylor's residence." They then lost no time in reaching the fire, but by this time the blaze was far beyond control and the firemen directed their efforts towards saving the surrounding buildings.

The residences of Mr. Wilson, Mrs. Thornton and G. K. Atkinson, which were in close proximity to the fire, were in danger several times. Mrs. Thornton's storehouse was destroyed and the Atkinson residence caught fire seven or eight times, and had it not been for 80 feet of garden hose, which was used with good effect, the house would surely have been destroyed. This was caused from the fact that the firemen did not have enough hose with them to reach the building, having laid a long line of hose on King St. which they were forced to leave.

Fortunately, Mr. Taylor's horse was at pasture and some men working nearby ran his buggy out in the yard, but both buildings were completely destroyed. A phaeton belonging to Mr. Wilson, which was in the barn at the time was also destroyed. The experience of yesterday goes to show how careful people should be to give explicit directions in sending in a fire alarm over the telephone. If the firemen had received correct information the first time, much of the damage caused by the fire might have been averted.

Through the thoughtlessness of a bicyclist the team attached to the truck had a very narrow escape from serious injury. When the team was running down Wellington St. a man who was wheeling to the fire passed in front of the horses, and Driven Johnson, in order to save the bicyclist, pulled up his horses. They both slipped and fell, but got up again and proceeded to the fire, none the worse for their tumble.

Why furnaces crack in Summer.

In the old fashioned hotwater heaters with wide, flat surfaces, the soot finds a splendid resting place. A scraper and brush jams soot into the interstices between the water sections. There it cokes and hardens, absorbs moisture, then it expands, and you have a cracked waterpost. If you have a "Bison" hotwater heater you won't have any furnace troubles. There are no flat soot collecting surfaces in the "Bison"—no crevices where soot can lodge; there will be no cracked waterposts, no delays, no mess, no plumbers' bills.
