NEW IDEAS FOR THE CEMETERY.

Secretary Rutherford Makes Several Suggestions In Report.

Would Like to See Memorial Sunday Observed Here.

Would Have General Fund Estab lished for Improvements.

Secretary Fred H. Rutherford, who summer spent several days in the east inspecting the cemeteries at Washington, Philadelpl Provisiones R. I., Boston and New York, and other places, has prepared an interesting report for the Board of Managers of Hamlton Cemetery in which he makes several suggestions of new ideas that might be profitably adopted here. The report says in part:

It was learned that in few cases was the same attention given to individual lots, as is the case with Hamilton Cemetery, and weekly cutting of the grass the exception rather than the rule. It was also more apparent that the di-ision of a cemetery into sections is the vision of a cemetery into sections is the only proper way by the most systematic work and the best results being obtain-ed by the few who have adopted this was the general opinion that no Board can afford to give any attention to lots whose owners are able but unwilling to pay for the work, and we were also advised that charges for rough care could at the time of interment be legally collected.

The principal objects we had in view

The principal objects we had in view on this trip was to secure ideas regard-ing road construction and the sprinkling of roads; the systems of piping water supply; the plans in use for providing perpetual care funds and the selection of shrubs with the general ideas regard-ing the planting of these, as well as the beds of flowering plants throughout the grounds.

beds of flowering plants throughout the grounds.

In most instances we found the macada mor telford macadam road in use, which, with a top dressing of tarvia, as seen in Fairmount Park, makes an almost perfect dustless road. We feel satisfied, however, that the roads built by your Board this spring, will, considering the cheapness of construction, make the best kind of surface by next year.

In view of the fact that probably next year will see the installation of a water system in the new sections of Hamilton cemetery, a great deal of information was secured, which could be of help in the work, and it was learned that common black iron pipe when coated with tar, outlasted galvanized or any other kind.

As to Pernetual Care funds we was as mon back fron pipe when coated with tar, outlasted galvanized or any other kind.

As to Perpetual Care funds we are more than ever convinced of the absolute necessity of a Sinking or General fund, in addition to the regular Care funds, this to be invested separately and the interest allowed to compound until needed, when there will be provision for care of the roads, boulevards, trees, etc., which are not covered by the regular Perpetual Care fund. In justice to the cemetery in the future and in justice to lot owners this provision should be made in, the near future.

A most careful study was made of plants and shrubs suitable to our climate and an effort will be made to prepare a list for next year's planting, which should considerably improve the appearance of the cemetery. Shrubs selected with due consideration to the seasons in which they flower cannot, we believe, be too freely planted, and with the unavoilable crowding of monuments which is being experienced here, the new cemetery will only be saved from degenerating into a stone yard by the planting, wherever possible, of sprubs and low branched trees to break the unbeautiful lines of head stones.

to the office the card index system, we believe, to be the proper sethod and would suggest the conderation of the adopting of this at sideration of the adopting of this at adearly date.

Some cemeteries supply for the use of lot owners waterings cans, 3 of which are left at each hydrant, and as it has worked successfully we believe a trial night be given this in the new cemetery, since it would do away with the private cans of all descriptions to be found about the grounds:

we found Flower and Mem al Sunday to be a successful insti-tion, and we hope some action will taken in this respect next year. We were impressed with the neces-

We were impressed with the neces-sity of preparing attractive booklets to replace the book of rules at present in use, and would suggest that a most careful revision be made of the rules and regulations, with a view to pre-sent each lot owner with a copy of these regulations in tabloid form, eas-ily understood.

The idea in force in the new cemetery regarding the marking of the boundaries of lots with marble posts we found admittedly the correct way and this work should be extended and this work should be extended next spring.

Your system of laying water pipes, in some cases, on top of the ground, while not attempted by any other cemetery, yet commended itself to many and we believe will be tried by many and we believe will be tried by some.

The curbing device in use here seemed to be the only satisfactory one in operation.

Many cemeteries refuse permission to lot owners to plant flowers in their lots, claiming that these beds are neglected in a few years, leaving unslightly places on the lot, besides which the flowers prevent the proper care of the ground. No cemetery, however, seems to have tried the plan adopted by your board of confining the plants to the border of the monument, which location, we believe, removes almost entirely the objectionable features, besides adding materially to the appearance of the lot and monument.

Many cemeteries look with disferent fences in the older portion of the grounds prevent your board from carrying out in a day the needed improvements and so bringing the grounds back to their natural condition, devoid of terraces and other artificialities, yet there is every prospect of eventually reapproaching the pleasing contour which has been persistently marred by the efforts of individuals for fifty years prior to the control of the board.

H. THOMAS, YEGGMAN, STRIKES AND KILLS ANOTHER PRISONER.

He and His Pals Are Now on Trial-Other Prisoners in Jail Afraid to Tell the Truth Till Yeggmen Are Sometimes the fear is too strong, and a regular treatment must be undertaken. Oftener the owner will have a short shooting season and does not care to take chances on a quick cure. His dog must be ready for business when the season opens. So, it is necessary to know the systems which have been successful in dealing with this trouble.

Once before I told about the man who put his bird dog to classing cats. When the cat was treed, he would clap his hands and "sick" the dog into excited attack. At this psychological moment he would fire blanks from a small pistol. Harry Thomas struck Dann back of the ear, Thomas struck Dann back of the ear, and Dann succumbed in a few minutes. The fact was not known until to-day that Dann received an injury while in the jail. The story was given out that h died from heart failure and this was generally believed. When, however, the yegman, who shot up Hornell last sun mer after robbing one place and attempting to rob another, were taken from their cells and started for the Court House the other prisoners told the facts about the quarrel which resulted in Dann's death.

Edward Dann and his brother George

Edward Dann and his brother George were arrested Saturday charged with being drunk. While they were associating with the other prisoners Edward Dann entered into a heated discussion with one of the pals of Thomas. The latter without warning struck Dann below the ear. Dann dropped to the floor. He never regained consciousness.

The prisoners were in such terror of Thomas and his companions that they feared for their own lives and denied any knowledge of a scuffle or blow until they gegmen were at a safe distance from the jail. To-day they opened up and declared that the powerful blow of the desperado had sent Dann to eternity.
