Owing to the increased cost of living, I suppose, bottled booze is up in price. Will it go down just the same?

Barbers on strike. Football hair will now be in fashion.

The Cataract Co.'s new car shops will give Hamilton quite a boost.

The township meetings tomorrow evening ought to be well attended. No Liberal should stay away.

Why should we have to plead with Whitley to do justice to Hamilton? What makes him dislike the place?

With all these robberies going on around us, we may waken up some morning and find that we have been dead for hours.

Now that Sir John has been taken off the street, his clothes brushed and his face washed, he looks all right.

Called Off.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 7.—The Union Telegraphers here last night decided to call off their strike which has lasted eighty days.

Go Back Individually.

New York, Nov. 7.—Col. R. C. Clowry, President of the Western Union Telegraph Co. today said that the statement made by an officer of the telegraphers' union to the effect that a truce or agreement had been entered into between the telegraph company and the strikers, was absolutely untrue.

The Official Notice.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—The National Executive Board of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, yesterday prepared a circular letter to all local unions authority to vote upon granting the strike which has been on, for the past three months. The letter will be sent out to-day and the official order ending the strike will be issued as soon as two-thirds of the locals have signified their willingness to end the fight.

All Vacancies Filled.

New York, Nov. 7.—Following the official calling off of the telegraphers' strike by the local unions, the offices of the Western Union, which were crowded with applicants to-day, who sought to regain their old positions. None were accepted, however, the company, according to its statement, having brought its force up to the usual quota on Tuesday.

TOLD HIS CHILDREN SUNFIELD IS DEAD.

Murderer's Wife Writes From Chicago, Sending An Old Love Letter to Prisoner.

Foreign Friends Think if They Had $5,000 They Could Get Him Out.

The postman on the Barton street beat left a letter at the city jail this week for Jake Tamillo, alias Sunfield, that must have made the murderer of Andrew Radzyk feel bad—that is, if he has any sense of feeling at all.

"Dear Jake Tamillo—I want to write you a few lines and tell you that our children were asking for you last Sunday when I saw them at 4 o'clock in the home, and I told them that their father was dead, and they did not say anything."

I am very sorry that you must live in this world, and go to the other, all for a woman's sake. It would have been better if you had lived with your family instead of Mrs. Radzyk.

"If you have any money that you can spare you should give it to the children, for I have to pay $12 a month and get their clothes. Besides, I think you should do something for your children. Answer as soon as you can. I go to see the children every Sunday afternoon."

I have one letter from you that you sent me at the shop. I will send it back to you, and now you read it over and think it over again. I am not glad that this turned out, but I think the Lord wanted it to be so. I am very glad that the Lord took good care of me and protected me from all harm. I will send you a picture of mine, and you can look at me once more and for the last. Good-bye forever. Your true wife."

"S.—Take good care of yourself, as I be good to yourself. I am working every day.—Mary Tamillo."

Enclosed with the letter Sunfield received was one which he had sent to his wife after she left Hamilton. It was full of endearing words and contained an urgent request that she send him $10 immediately to pay a board bill he owed. He promised to return the money when he went back to Chicago with his mother. "As for your forgetting me, I know you have some one in my place," he said in the letter, "but I love you, and will never forget you. You are the only one in this world for me. Don't forget, dear sweet Mary, don't forget to send the money, dear. I am dead broke."

It is said that Sunfield's language was quite bitter when she saw the letter. He promptly recognized the handwriting. His solicitor, Mr. J. L. Counsell, says that Sunfield has shown a bitter feeling toward his wife since she wrote a letter to this city, before the trial, to the effect that he used to abuse her, and that he had been arrested in Chicago before she came to Hamilton to live.

Jake apparently little realizes how near he is to death. Yesterday afternoon Ald. Gardiner went down to the jail and had a talk with him. He was quite cheerful and very thankful for some cigars the alderman gave him. He expressed himself as satisfied that he would not hang, and he does not even suspect that he will. The police think that when Sunfield's last hope has failed he will try to cheat the gallows, and special watches will be put on him.

A number of foreigners waited on Mr. Gardiner, and asked him to use his influence to get Jake off. The alderman was rather modest as to his influence, and they told him that if they had $5,000 they could get him off the way they did "over the line." They seemed to think that Jake was not going to hang, and thought it was an outrage, as in their country murder was regarded much less severely.

Jake has the run of Murderers' Row in the jail for exercise, but is constantly guarded, night and day.

THEY THINK HE HAD HAND IN WOODSTOCK ROBBERY.

Three Serious Offences Alleged Against Louis Lawrence, Arrested at Burlington.

The local police think they have the man who is being hunted all over the Dominion on the charge of holding up Harry Walcott, the Woodstock C. P. R. operator who was bound and gagged after being threatened with revolvers, and robbing the station. Arthur Jackson, a colored man, was arrested in this city on the charge, and another man who was supposed to be named Green was being hunted. Last night the local police were asked to send a couple of men to Burlington, where the village "bad man," in the person of Louis Lawrence, had returned. The Burlington police knew he was wanted in many places, but were not going to take any chances and arrest him. Detective Miller and Constable Springer went down, and soon had the man in the toils.

He was brought to this city and put in the cells. This morning he was brought up for vagrancy, and remanded for a few days.

As far as the local police know, there are three charges against Lawrence, and they are serious ones, which, if proven, will put him behind the bars. In Brampton he is wanted on a charge of breaking into the G. T. R. station and stealing a fur coat, pair of boots and several other articles of value. Besides all the money that was there. Brampton has the first claim on him, and it is to that place he will go. In Oakville he is wanted on charges of theft and burglary, and in Woodstock the county police would like the operator who was held up to have a look at him. The police say that the prisoner is one of the worst crooks in the country, and that he has served several terms. When sent to Kingston he broke jail and was not caught for some time, and he got a couple of years tacked to his sentence at that time. In Burlington, it is alleged, he has long terrorized the citizens, and the police, and many places will feel easier while he is locked up.

The police say that Lawrence intimidated that he expected to be sent down this time, but nevertheless it is thought he will make a strong bid for his liberty.

Jackson was remanded at Woodstock again yesterday. The charge of vagrancy upon which he has been held was changed to the more serious one of robbery. Jackson says he is simply being held as a blind while the police run down the real offender.

BANK OF ENGLAND DISCOUNT NOW RAISED TO 7 PER CENT.

Too Much Gold Going to the States, and Bank Needs It For Its Own Use.

London, Nov. 7.—The directors of the Bank of England this morning put up the minimum discount rate from 6 to 7 per cent.

An even greater squeeze in Germany, with a consequent increase of the discount of the Imperial Bank and selling orders from Berlin. The announcement had a strong effect on the Stock Exchange here. Consols, which opened 3-16d. higher owing to the settlement of the railway dispute, immediately fell half a point. Home rails started one to four points dearer, but lost most of the advance within a few minutes. American rails had similar experiences. The opening prices ruled around parity, but a drop of a point followed immediately after the publication of the bank rate, and selling brought quotations at noon yesterday to one to three points lower than yesterday. It was not until the bank statement was issued that the market fully realized how heavy had been the drain on the gold reserve.

The only thing which could have averted this heavy rate would have been assurances from responsible quarters in New York that the situation there, which is recognized to be due to exceptional demands upon capital in consequence of the great commercial activity in America, is sufficiently well in hand to warrant the expectation that there would be an early cessation of the gold drain on the market. In the absence of such an assurance the Bank of England utilized the only weapon at hand to protect its reserves. It is realized, however, that even this high rate may not prevent shipments of gold to New York, but it is hoped that it may attract the metal from abroad in sufficient quantities to restore the equilibrium.

The step was doubtfully necessary, as the bank must nurse its supplies just at present for the autumn country cash requirements have to be met, as well as the usual Egyptian demands, and there is a possibility of demands for gold from Argentina.

The local business community is bound to feel the pinch, and the financiers anticipate that the drastic rate will cause

Four Per Cent. Paris, Nov. 7.—The Bank of France to-day raised its discount rate from 3-1/2 to 4 per cent.
