

Household Hints.

Booze water is a peculiar flavor for a sponge cake, but it is highly recommended, especially if the cake is to be served with cream.

Wet the top of a dish of washed potatoes with milk and set in the oven to brown. Let it stay there until there is a brown crust over it.

A handsome low screen is made by painting a large board a sky-blue, then fastening a spray of daisies and clover blossoms on it. Then set this in a frame of plait about an inch and a half wide, and this to be placed in a light ebony frame with a standard.

The night before a picnic, boil some eggs until they are very hard; then drop them into a can or jar in which you have some pickled beets. In the morning the eggs will be pink and will be delicately flavored. If possible carry them in a can with the vinegar still on them.

A lovely cover for a baby's parasol or its carriage is made by setting squares of antique lace together. It will be necessary to cut some of the squares into halves to fill in the space. Trim the edge with deep lace of the same kind. This is a most serviceable cover, for it is durable and bears washing well.

A very pretty lambrequin for a shelf is made of pink felt, with squares of plush or velvet put on at regular intervals. On the edge which is straight brass crests are placed with small tassels tied into them. This shelf can be still further ornamented by placing on it three Japanese mats with half of the round mat on the shelf and half hanging over. Put one mat on each end and one in the centre.

A good relish to take with a lunch is made of ham. Pound some pieces of ham in a mortar, just as fine as you can. Season it with pepper and spice, and moisten it with clarified butter. Put this into a mould, or earthen bowl, and press it in very tightly. Put it into the oven for half an hour. Let it get perfectly cold. It can then be cut into thin slices. It is nice if used for a filling for sandwiches.

For some uses, and in some places in a room, a square shelf—that is, one that is almost as wide as it is long—can be admirably adapted. Cover it with felt and put a band of velvet around the edge of the lambrequin, which should not be more than a quarter of a yard deep. Fancy stitches of silk above the velvet are very pretty. The edge may have fringe at present.

Baked cucumbers are a novelty on most tables. Take large ones, pare them, and with a pointed spoon scoop out the seeds. Mix the seed with a little cold ham, either boiled or fried, and a few bread crumbs; season with salt, pepper, and Worcester sauce. Fill the cucumber with this, put them in an earthen pudding dish, and bake them, basting them with gravy, or with butter and water.

This receipt for ginger-cake comes from the English cook noted for the excellence of her work: Put one pound of butter into one pound of flour; add half a pound of finely powdered sugar, the rind of a lemon grated, two tablespoonfuls of ground ginger, and one grated nutmeg. Mix them together; then heat one gill of sweet milk, or warm it rather, stir in to it half a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda. Roll out, cut in square cakes, and bake in a moderate oven.

Batter or string beans, if cooked and pickled according to these directions, are delicious: Wash them and steam them until they are tender but not soft; put them into a jar and pour hot vinegar over them; sweeten the vinegar and season highly with cinnamon. Another way equally excellent, but which gives a different flavor to the pickles, is to boil them in salted water until tender; then pour over them the hot vinegar which has been sweetened, and in addition to the cinnamon have a liberal allowance of pepper: cayenne or black may be used.

One of the novelties and luxuries of the period is banana cake. Take one cup of water or of sweet milk, three eggs, four cups of flour, three small teaspoons of baking powder. Mix lightly and bake in layers. Make an icing of the whites of two eggs, and one cup and a half of powdered sugar. Spread this on the layers, and then cover thickly and entirely with bananas sliced thin. The cake may be flavored with vanilla. The top should be simply frosted.

To preserve the large plums that have tough skins, it is necessary first of all to remove the skins. This may be done very easily by dropping a few of the plums at a time into hot water, then with a very sharp knife removing the skins. Cut the plums in halves, drop them into a syrup made of sugar and water. The plums should be weighed, and an equal quantity of sugar should be set aside for the syrup. Let them cook so gently that they will keep their shape. Take them from the syrup with a skimmer, put them into the cans, and pour the syrup over them, having first removed the scum from it.

Age should always command respect. In the case of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry it certainly does, for 25 years that has been the standard remedy with the people for Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Diarrhea, Colic and all bowel complaints.

Women with pale, colorless faces, who feel weak and discouraged, will receive both mental and bodily vigor by using Carter's Iron Pills, which are made for the blood, nerves and complexion.
