How Nerve Cells Are Broken Down

Every man or woman who works with the brain uses up daily an enormous amount of nerve force. Millions of tiny nerve cells are broken down and must be replaced if mental and bodily efficiency is to be maintained. If brain fog, headaches, sleeplessness or irritability set in, the evidence is plain that nature is not rebuilding as fast as work is breaking down. You cannot allow this depleting process to continue long if nervous prostration or paralysis is to be ward off. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will help you to get the balance on the other side of the account, so that each day will add a little to your stock of health and vitality. A man whose work is largely mechanical may keep going with health below par, but the brain worker must have a clear head or fall behind in the race. Restore the wasted nerve cells with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and know the joys of good health and success. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, 3 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edman-son, Bais & Co., Limited, Toronto.

 Suffragettes waylaid Winston Churchill. When he landed from the Admiralty yacht here, he was met by a crowd of women, one of whom shrieked, "Why don't you stop forbidding feeding our women." Another woman made a rush at Churchill and tried to clutch him, but was prevented by policemen. Several others attempting to molest Churchill were frustrated by the police.

 Little credence is placed on the report which have been circulated of the negotiations between Italy and Turkey being abandoned on the ground that it was found impossible to conclude peace with actions on both sides going on. The reports are considered as circulated to influence public opinion so that the respective governments may obtain better concessions.

Special Evening Telegram.
DUNDEE, To-day.
 The divine right of Kings was discussed at a resumed meeting of the British Association yesterday by Sir Henry Cunningham, President of the Economic Science Section. The lecturer declared the old doctrine had now been replaced by the divine right of majorities. Legislation, he said, must have regard to natural laws. Taxes, in his opinion, often resembled arrows shot into the air. When they were intended to fall on the landlord, they often fall on the tenant. Postmaster-General Samuel spoke on the tendency towards centralization of Government over vast areas. He advocated federal union in order to meet the complex Imperial and local requirements of the British Empire.

FRIDAY, Sept. 6th, 1912.
 Something new in the way of Corn and Ward remedies has just reached the local market in the form of "Nox a Corn," which claims to be different and distinct from other such things and more effective. It is put up by the same firm as prepares 108 Nox a Cold, and if it be of equal quality is certain of a wide popularity. Price: 50c. a bottle.
 "Shavo" is a distinct novelty. It is a Shaving Cream that is not a soap and makes no lather, but yet softens the beard and makes the skin elastic and pliable so that the beard may be removed with the greatest ease by either ordinary or safety razor. No brush and no water required with this cream. Add it to its own after shave. It certainly is worth a trial. Large Crock for 25 cents.

Mr. A. Carman, one of Davisville, Ontario's energetic young men writes: "Some time ago I was getting over a wire fence, and when lifting my left foot, my right slipped, and in falling the heel of my boot caught the second wire, thus spraining my ankle. From the pain I thought my leg was broken. I managed to get home, suffering great agony. My father walked over a mile to the drug store, who sold him a bottle of Egyptian Liniment, which we applied with surprising results; it relieved the pain almost instantly, and on the next day, Sunday, I was able to put my slipper on. Though this was the worst accident I ever had, I was able to work on Monday without the loss of a single day. Accidents will happen. Don't be without a bottle of Douglas' Egyptian Liniment. 25c. at all dealers. Free sample on request. Douglas & Co., Napanee, Ont.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

TRY THE SUNLIGHT WAY.

Now the Lovely Autumn Days Make Autumn Styles Imperative

BY J. R. HAMILTON.
 New clothes are just as necessary to happiness of a woman as food or shelter. It has become customary for every woman to be in style and to keep in style; and whenever she is out of style she is out of harmony both with herself and with all of her surroundings.
 The most stupid thing in the world is for man to argue that style is not essential to a woman's happiness. To tell her that she has enough clothes already or that last season's are "not worn out" is to show an ignorance not only of her necessities but of his own. For man is a slave to custom and to style more than any woman dare be. From his boots to his hat he is absolutely a creature of convention; and convention is only one form of style. Madam, when your husband asks you (as he probably will) why it is so necessary for you to get down to the stores right now and look over the new clothes just in, you ask him, for example why it is so necessary for him to wear a necktie, or a certain kind of collar or a special style of hat.
 Ask him if his necktie adds to his comfort or his ease or his happiness. Ask him if it keeps him warm. Ask him why he wears a collar that pinches his chin and makes his neck sore. Ask him why he wears that hideous hat which for ugliness has never seen its equal since the beginning of time.
 And he will give you a woman's answer—"because—"
 It is all he can say. He wears them because every other man is wearing the same, and he would be the most uncomfortable individual this side of the eternal fires if you took them away from him or made him wear anything else.
 He wears them because they are the custom or style or convention or whatever name he wishes to call it. But he doesn't wear them because they are necessary or protective or warm or essential in the least to any of his bodily needs. No—he doesn't even have your excuse of wearing them because they are beautiful.
 So dismiss his objections with a single wave of your hand. Good clothes and new styles are decidedly essential to happiness.
 This paper is filled with the news of these new styles. Every advertisement is running over with it. Sit down now for a comfortable half hour and read this advertising news. Then pick out the styles and the stores that interest you most and go to them as soon as you can.

Willing But Lazy

Peruvian Indians Work When They Are Coaxed With a Lariat.
 An American whose business interests in Peru have led him from time to time to spend considerable periods in the interior of that country has found that the Indians of Peru are the laziest people in the world. If they have a duty to perform, a promise to keep or a debt to pay, though not unwilling to meet the obligation, they can, it is said, hardly summon resolution to do so without some assistance. During his stay at a place called Cajamarca, in the Cordilleras, the American was enabled to witness an instance of this.
 He was sitting one evening with his hosts at the door of his house. Suddenly there was a great noise in the quiet street, and a horseman rode up. It was a friend of the family, who was on his way to settle an account with a troublesome debtor. When the family hinted that a creditor would hardly be received at such an hour, the man touched something hanging on the pommel of his saddle, and said he had something there that would settle things.
 His debtor was an Indian who lived not far away in the country and who had promised to make for him three or four hundred large adobe bricks in payment for some small wages that he had purchased two years before. He seemed perfectly willing to fulfill his contract, and whenever he was reminded of it would promise to be on hand the next day; but he never appeared. An hour later the merchant, who was repairing his house, returned with his man at the end of a lariat. The next day the American saw him cheerfully at work. It was but a matter of getting the Indian busy.—National Magazine.
