Red Cross.

Help to the utmost of your power to bring some small comfort and relief to those who are undergoing such terrible sufferings to save our own country from the hands of ruthless barbarians. All we can do is so little, but that little can be done to-morrow by buying a BADGE OF THE NEWFOUNDLAND REGIMENT from the members of the St. John's Ambulance Brigade, who will offer them for sale throughout St. John's. The number of Hospital beds obtainable are still inadequate to the number of wounded brought from the firing line, day by day. By to-morrow's sale the members hope to help considerably towards providing and supporting one more bed for six months at a Base Hospital. Give your thirty cents, take your badge, and you will have done your little bit.

The Sea Wolves and the United States.

If American press reports of the feelings which dominate the Cabinet Council at Washington yesterday are to be relied on, the patience of the government of the United States has been severely tried by the German Reply to the American Note about the circumstances attending on the sailing of the Lusitania, the Gulfing and other vessels. The special pleadings of Jacob, the substitution of fiction for fact, and the general dilatoriness of the German answer will be roundly brushed aside by the President's rejoinder, and Germany will be called upon to give a prompt and definite reply whether Germany intends in future to be guided by the accepted principles of International Law and the rights of neutrals or follow its own rules of maritime warfare. The President will demand that Germany guarantee not to sink unarmed merchant ships without notice, that Germany shall search before condemning merchant ships, whether they carry contraband or not, and shall not sink any such ship without transferring to a place of safety passengers and crew. The request is tantamount to a demand that Germany shall cease carrying on the submarine warfare against merchantmen in the way which it has been carried for more than three months.

The United States is in the right because the German method of maritime warfare is a violation of the rights of humanity. Just as Germany has resorted to the example of Attila the Hun as a model for the barbaric practices in her warfare on land, so she has resorted to the inhuman examples of the Corsairs of Algiers in the fifteenth century for her method of carrying on her warfare at sea. Just as Germans have become the Huns of the Twentieth Century on land, so they have become the Sea Wolves of the Twentieth Century.

Unless a favourable answer is returned, President Wilson will sever diplomatic relations with the Kaiser and take steps to safeguard American lives and interests.

B.I.S. Dinner.

The annual billiard dinner of the Benevolent Irish Society was held last night at the rooms. Covers were laid for over a hundred persons, the catering being excellently done by the F. B. Wood Co.'y. Hon. J. D. Ryan presided and an enjoyable time was spent. During the toast list eloquent and patriotic speeches were made by Mr. J. M. Kent, B.A., K.C., and the Rt. Hon. Sir E. F. Morris, the Proposer and Responder, respectively of "The Empire and Allies"; also by Dr. V. P. Burke and Mr. J. M. Devine, the Proposer and Responder to "Our Boys in Edinburgh." The affair closed with the rendition of Anil Lang Syne and the National Anthem.

Local Fishery is Very Backward.

This is said to be one of the most backward seasons remembered for the local fishery, mainly on account of the ice blockade which prevents boats from getting on the grounds. In some years fishermen had saving voyages ashore up to this date. So far not a fresh 'cod's tail' has come into the local market. Many fisher folks around here have not got any for their own consumption. The same applies to Quidi Vidi, Logy Bay, Torbay and right on to Cape St. Francis. Matters are different at Portugal Cove, although the fishermen there have more than their share of ice to contend with. Codfish is scarce but there has been a good sign of herring constantly for the past few weeks. Yesterday some of the residents there brought goodly supplies to the city and disposed of them at remunerative prices.

In Memoriam.

JAMES HARDING.

In the death of James Harding, who departed this life at 2 o'clock on Friday last, Holyrood has lost one of its best men, in the full flush of life and in the very prime of manhood. Deceased who was of a gigantic stature was stricken down with the incurable malady of heart trouble last October, and despite the medical aid of Dr. Jones and the constant attention of Rev. W. P. Finn, P.P., the illness made such inroads upon his herculean constitution as to bring about his dissolution on Friday last. The late James Harding was only 42 years old and was twice married, first to a Miss Lineham, of St. Mary's, who died four years ago, and second, to a Miss Finlay, of Trepassay, who together with two children, his father and mother (Mr. and Mrs. R. Harding, of Greenfield), and one brother and sister, mourn their loss and to all of whom we tender our heartfelt sympathy in their hour of trouble and distress, but Jim's happy death and the hope of the happiness in store for him, ought somewhat to assuage their keen sorrow and affliction. His funeral took place on Sunday evening from his late home to the Southside Cemetery and was one of the largest ever seen here. It was attended in processional order by the members of the Star of the Sea Association, of which deceased was a staunch member. The funeral service was conducted at his home by Rev. Father Finn, who also gave the final benediction at the graveside in the cemetery to our dear departed friend who had been moved down in the prime of manhood and whose early grave was bathed with tears of his sorrow-stricken relatives. May he rest in peace. Amen.
