See Nikko and Die.

A CITY OF BEAUTY AND CHARM.
TOKIO, (Associated Press)—One of the most delightful places the Prince of Wales is to visit in Japan is the beautiful city of Nikko, 90 miles north of Tokio, of which the Japanese say, "One cannot appreciate the word 'beautiful' until one has seen Nikko." The city is one of the most popular resorts in the country and attracts hundreds of visitors at all seasons of the year. Within the immediate neighborhood are many objects and places of interest. Best known of all is the famous Red Lacquer Bridge spanning the river Dajia which originally none but the Shogun and one travelling as a special messenger for the Emperor might cross. A short distance from the Sacred Bridge are what the floods have left of the once numerous images of Buddha which lined the bank of the river along the Gammanga-funchi pool. The tale is told that these stone images come and go invisibly, the number never being twice the same. For a number of years, with orders to spare no expense, the pick of Japanese artists and artisans, gathered from all parts of the country, labored to create at Nikko a memorial worthy of the founder of the Tokugawa Shogunate, Iyeyasu, and to surround his tomb with such works of art as would leave it unrivaled. The site of the tomb of the First of the Tokugawa Shoguns, on the slope of the forest-clad mountain, itself is one of the premier beauty spots of a superbly beautiful district.

In creating the great memorial, each of the Daimyos of Japan was assessed to the limit of his capacity to pay, thus obtaining a fund estimated as the equivalent of $12,500,000.

THE EYE, THE TONGUE, THE EAR.

In a setting with an avenue of cryptomeria, extending over 20 miles, and broad roadways flanked with trees of all kinds are the shrines of Nikko, the beauties of which beggar description. In them are magnificent carvings, mural decorations from the brushes of the greatest artists of the day, gifts from the rulers of China and Korea. Unalloyed gold was lavishly used in the profusion of gilding to be seen everywhere about the buildings and the colors were made fast by the use of crushed gems. One of the most noted carvings about the temple is the "Three Monkeys" the "See no evil—Speak no evil—Hear no evil" trio, known throughout the entire world. The beautiful gate known as Yemel-mon is one of the most striking pieces of wood carving in the world. It is estimated by experts that this portion of the temple alone which has a surface about 422 square feet is valued at 2,400,000 yen (nominally $1,200,000). In this gate one of the pillars has its carving upside down. This was done, it is said, owing to the superstition that the flawless perfection of the whole structure might bring misfortune to the house of Tokugawa.

Fertilizers.

We have basic slag in bags containing about 200 lbs., which we are selling at $2.00 per bag or equal to one cent per pound.

This is the right time to put Basic Slag on your land because being a slow working fertilizer, it needs to be put on the ground early.

About the end of this month we shall have a supply of quick working fertilizers for potatoes, turnips, etc. prices will be higher than Basic Slag so if Basic Slag will do you, get it now and use it now.

Ca Canny.

A life insurance agent tried to sell a life policy to a canny Scot. He commenced by quoting for a reasonable amount, but, meeting with no success, gradually came down—Dutch auction fashion—until, driven to desperation, he at last said: "But surely you will take sufficient life insurance to cover your burial expenses?" "Na, na, mon," said the Scot, "I might be lost at sea."

At the House.

MODEL FARM CRITICIZED—NO REDUCTION IN EDUCATIONAL ESTIMATES.

The Estimates occupied the attention of the House during yesterday's session. The vote for the Department of Agriculture and Mines was passed without any strenuous objections.

MODEL OR STOCK.

Some argument took place over the Model Farm and it was discovered, after it had been in existence for three years, that it is really a Stock farm. This as Mr. Moore and Mr. Bennett took pains to point out, does not alter the fact that it is an expensive toy and by no means justifies its existence at the present time.

Mr. Bennett in a brief but forcible speech showed that not the slightest benefit had accrued from the organization of this Stock farm, and if it were immediately wiped out few, if any, would suffer. He quoted statistics to show that our agricultural products were decreasing in many cases. In 1921, we produced 5000 barrels less of potatoes than in 1901, and yet a Canadian expert had told him that we should be one of the greatest producing countries in the world.

AN UNATTRACTIVE SERVICE.

He suggested the removal of the vote of $980 for a court in the Imperial Institute. Mr. Bennett was glad to hear from the Prime Minister that no discrimination had been shown in connection with the salaries of officials of the Agricultural and Mines. It would not have been fair to them if this had been done. Mr. Bennett referred to the valuable service rendered by Mr. P. B. Rendell who recently left the Civil Service to enter commercial life, and he regretted that the service could not be made more attractive for men of ability. Mr. Bennett made some observations on existing conditions and thought the Banks should assist in supplying for the fishery. He announced his belief in co-operative marketing of our fish products.

Mr. Vianleomb spoke briefly, lauding the work of Mr. A. J. Bayly, Secretary of the Department.

ADOLPHING ILLITERACY.

The Educational Vote next came upon the taps. The silent head of that department was most apologetic. He would, of course, be delighted to see the Estimates reduced but his own department oh, impossible—the most valuable office in the Government must be left untouched. The vote of over $600,000 must stand. The ordinary labourer was better paid than the teacher, said Dr. Barnes.

Although statistics showed that in 1911 the standard of illiteracy was 17 per cent, he thought it should be 33 per cent. He concluded with a few plaintive references to the country's apathy to his efforts on behalf of Education.

VALUABLE SUGGESTIONS.

Mr. MacDonnell made some valuable suggestions which the Minister would do well to consider. The suggestions were:—

1. Wipe out the department altogether.
2. Let Dr. Barnes go as principal of the Normal School.
3. Do away with inspection. The schools were never inspected and this would mean a big saving.
4. Enforce compulsory education.

Otherwise results would never be obtained.

In concluding, Mr. MacDonnell said the department was a fancy and a sad, and as such, he would not vote for it.

EDUCATION AND BOLSHIEVISM.
Mr. Fox had a few trite remarks to add to the discomfort of Hon. Dr. Barnes. The increase of over $250,000 in the Educational Grant in 3 years, was unwarranted. The Minister had said that Education offset Bolshevism. What was responsible for Bolshevism? If not the Government, which had made a happy and prosperous people into a poor and depressed one.

Hon. Mr. Brownrigg said conditions were no worse here than elsewhere, but when challenged to confirm his statement, the Minister fell down badly.

Mr. Fox with biting sarcasm, destroyed Mr. Brownrigg's argument. Reduction in taxation was needed to move the wheels of trade. He asked that the vote should stand over. The Committee rose and reported. The amendment to the Municipal Act with reference to the Parade Ground was deferred when it came up for second reading. The House meets at 3 p.m. to-day.

He Knew Something About Her Past.

She came up the road with a bundle under her arm—some clothing, a few strips of ribbon, and a baby's sock.

She asked Squire Bartlett for work—any kind of work, for she wanted a home more than anything else. He wanted to know who her folks were and where she came from—then told her he didn't have anything for her. He was that type of man, very strict and positive, and running everything, only his wife knew how to make him change his mind without knowing he was doing it. She did this time. The girl said her name was Anna and they took her in.

They had a neighbor, a wealthy young man on his country estate.

Household Notes.

Serve hot butterscotch sauce with your waffles.

A little diced pineapple is nice in tofaster salad.

Bread flour gives an excellent texture to waffles.

Potatoes scalloped with tomatoes make a tempting dish.

Sprinkle a little lemon juice over spinach before serving.

Young roasting chicken are also baked with parsnips.
