

THE ISSUE SQUARELY PLACED

The Conservative Leader's Resolution in the Commons.

Mr. R. L. Borden Moved For Mutual Preference Within the Empire and Against the One-Sided Tariff Policy Which Now Prevails by Order of the Liberal Trade-Fiscalists—Sir Wilfrid Laurier Regarded the Question.

Ottawa, March 19.—The session yesterday was probably the most important sitting of the present Parliament. Mr. R. L. Borden laid down the policy of the Conservative Administration in its application to the conditions now afflicting the country. The House listened attentively. The address would, in extension, fill ten newspaper columns.

Sir Wilfrid's speech in reply was exceedingly weak. He begged the whole question, and came very near making a ridiculous impression.

MR. BORDEN'S SPEECH.

Opposition Leader Clearly Set Out the Conservative Policy.

Ottawa, March 19.—Mr. R. L. Borden, who got a hearty Conservative cheer on rising to resume the budget debate, touched Sir Wilfrid and Sir Richard smartly upon the characteristics shown by each when put in a tight corner. For some years, he said, Sir Richard had passed as a Biogen, looking with a lamp for the honest man, but in the way he dealt with the budget he had not very well preserved that role. Mr. Borden compared Finance Minister Fielding to a man skating on thin ice, who, being warned, said: "I realize the danger, and as soon as I fall in I will govern myself accordingly."

He gave a few comprehensive figures by way of comparing the Conservative and Liberal Administrations. "During the four years from 1893 to 1896, under a Conservative Administration, Canada's imports from England amounted to $1,450,000,000, while during four years of Liberal Administration English imports amounted only to $1,438,000,000. On the other hand, the imports from the United States from 1893 to 1896 were $224,000,000, and during the four years of Liberal Administration came up to $243,000,000.

The Challenge Accepted.

Having quoted other figures bearing on the contrasted trade of Canada under the preferential tariff, Mr. Borden accepted the challenge of Sir Richard Cartwright, and offered some suggestions with respect to the taxes. The hon. gentlemen opposite are now in power; there are their promises and pledges before them, and here is a surplus of over $6,000,000; and will they be good enough to explain to the House why it is, if those (the reduction of the taxes on tobacco, sugar, breadstuffs and coal), were good principles in 1882 and 1885, they are not good principles now, or why it is that, holding those principles, if they do continue to hold them, they have not seen fit to lighten the burdens of the people? Further than that, the Minister of Trade and Commerce distinctly stated in his speech, although he differed in that respect from the Minister of Finance—that this is not a protective tariff, but a revenue tariff. If this is a revenue tariff, on what principle does the Constipated Bowels.

Constipation, or inactivity of the bowels, is probably the cause of more distress and disease than any other organic derangement. Once the bowels are constipated, the kidneys become clogged, the liver torpid, and the stomach and whole digestive system completely interfered with.

The head aches, there is dizziness, weakness and dizziness of vision, pains in the back, sides and limbs, the accumulation of wind and gas on the stomach, pains and fullness in the region of the stomach, and depression and despondency of spirits.

Constipation can never be cured by the use of salts and similar weakening and debilitating purgatives. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills not only cause the natural action of the bowels, but so strengthen and invigorate them as to enable them to regularly perform their functions without the aid of medicines. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers.

Don't Wake the Baby.

Did you know you could give medicine to your children while they were sleeping? You certainly can. It is called Vapo-Cresolene.

Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp, and place near the bed. The children quietly breathe in the vapor. There is nothing equal to it for whooping cough, croup, colds, cough, sore throat, and all other troubles of the throat and chest. It is economical, pleasant, safe.

(Cheers.) But the extraordinary part of it is that when you turn to those hon. gentlemen and say: "Does he still denounce the policy of protection as bondage?" He went on to say: "Yes, bondage, and I refer to it as bondage in the same way as American slavery was bondage."

Speaking of his own resolution before the House, Mr. Borden said: "In its main essential features, it is the policy which was laid down by Sir John Macdonald in 1876-7. It is a policy intended to give work to the workmen of Canada, it is a policy designed to protect the industrial interests of Canada, to prevent our factories being closed, to prevent our people being forced to work in the United States, and to assist in developing the industries of this country; it is a policy at all events, whether it is wrong or right, by which the Liberal-Conservative party is prepared to stand, and I shall ask the Minister of Finance and the Minister of Trade and Commerce to tell us where they stand with regard to this protective feature of the tariff, as now presented to the country by the Government. I shall ask them to frankly and clearly say whether or not the Government has not abandoned its policy of free trade and revenue tariff, and believes in protection, or whether, as the Minister of Trade and Commerce has told us, the ship's head is still pointing towards the open sea."

The next branch of the resolution deals with the preferential tariff. In 1897 our chances were temporarily thrown away by the right hon. gentleman who leads the House, for a certain phrase which he used. He spoke of granting an advantage to Great Britain on account of the splendid freedom which she granted us. Well, we all realize that Great Britain has granted us a splendid freedom, but did not, the right hon. gentleman, when he promised the people of this country that he would obtain for them the preference in trade with British markets, and he not know then that Great Britain granted us a splendid freedom? Had that fact dawned on him when he arrived in London? And did he not remember the words of the Minister of Trade and Commerce, who said that he owed Great Britain nothing for the wrongs she had committed against us by blundering? We had in 1897 a magnificent opportunity to obtain from England some advantage in her markets. We did not obtain that, and of course it is too late for us to discuss with advantage what might have been. The practical question now for us, is what can be. The Hon. Minister of Finance is very ready to fling across the floor of the House the question whether or not we are prepared to repudiate the policy of British preference. Well, it is very difficult, sometimes, and might be regarded very offensive sometimes, to ask or to take back that which has been given away.

The Liberal-Conservative party have never said that they pressed to repeal that preference, but they have said that they would never rest satisfied until, in addition to that, and as compensation for that, we had attained a preference in the British markets. (Cheers.)

A Coming Difficulty. Suppose, as some business men throughout the country think, that the case that the additional preference which he last year gave to the British goods should result in destroying some of our industries, in closing up some of our factories, in paralyzing a portion of the life of the country, the only thing that we can say is that we shall have to deal with those difficulties as best we may, but deal with them in such a way as not to offend or to lessen the sentiment of unity of the Empire, which is so strongly impressed, not only upon the people of the country, but throughout the entire British possessions. Now, I do not want any misunderstanding. So far as the Opposition, or the party I have the honor to lead in this House, is concerned, I am prepared to stand for the unity of the Empire, as strongly as any member of this House. I am prepared, for the purpose, to advocate and support the claims of any Government that will spend its last dollar and send its last man in support of the integrity of the Empire against any foe that may threaten disruption. (Cheers.)

No Sentiment in Trade. "But, sir, I do not attach so much importance to some things which have been said in this House with respect to the effect of sentiment in the Mother Country on matters of that kind, as has been expressed by some hon. gentlemen opposite. Why, they would have one believe that the British workman forgets his pipe and his beer every evening in order that he may get out on the streets to find some goods of Canadian produce or manufacture that he can buy.

Mr. Wallace Followed.

Mr. N. Clarke Wallace followed. He said the present tariff and export bounty on pig iron and steel was a transparent fraud, and that his own declaration was tantamount to saying that there would be no tariff revision until this Liberal Government was ready to move towards free trade.

Dr. Russell (Hants) moved the adjournment of the debate. The House adjourned at 10.30.

HALIFAX GARRISON.

Only About Half of the Men Sign on For Another Year.

Ottawa, March 19.—Only about one-half of the Halifax provisional battalion have rejoined for another twelve months. The remainder have been given their discharge. Of the company of 95 men which has been stationed in British Columbia only 12 men re-enlisted; the rest were given their discharge. The 12 under the command of Lieut.-Col. McKay and Captain Clarke will return to headquarters at Halifax forthwith.

It is not yet known when the recruits for the South African constabulary will leave the country. They may not start until Thursday or Friday, or perhaps Saturday. Dr. Gorrell of this city, who has been acting medical officer to the force, will accompany it to Halifax. There he will be relieved by Dr. Vaux, who will remain in the country, and vacating the post of the 925 men enrolled here only four have been found unfit for duty, and this was on account of ailments which developed after enlistment. Each man has been served with a suit of blue overalls, overcoat and tunic, which will last him until he reaches South Africa.

St. Cyr Will Not Be Hanged.

Ottawa, March 19.—Lord Minto approved of an Order-in-Council yesterday commuting death sentence passed upon George St. Cyr, Dawson City, Yukon Territory, to imprisonment for life. St. Cyr and James Davis were both wood choppers. They had a dispute, and Davis was killed from the shot of a gun, which was in the hands of St. Cyr. St. Cyr afterwards gave himself up, stating that he had not intended to shoot Davis, and that the gun went off by mistake. St. Cyr, however, was tried for murder and found guilty. The jury gave a recommendation of mercy, and the trial judge sent to Ottawa a report favorable to commutation, there being in the case a doubt as to whether the shooting was intentional or otherwise.

This ointment is a positive cure for constipation of the bowels. Hundreds of remedies are offered as a cure for constiveness, yet there are more people both men and women, to-day suffering from constipation than ever before (owing largely to our mode of living.) All the pills and other preparations sold as cures for constipation of the bowels contain bitter salts or other strong cathartics, the reaction from their use, increasing the trouble instead of curing it. The wonderful effect of Lincoln's Ointment is that it will cause an almost immediate union of the bowels and so relieve any person of its own power. This Ointment is truly worth double its weight in gold to any sufferer from piles or constipation. Women will find this ointment invaluable for all fishings and skin diseases, also for children. It will move the child's bowels without drugs or injection. It is also a first-class remedy for sunburn, removing all itching pain from bottom of the feet.
