The statements made by Mr. Appleton are that sweatshops prevailed in this city, and garments were made in tenement houses and the Union label was put on indignantly. Mr. Landers has challenged Mr. Appleton to meet him on the market square of London this (Saturday) night and substantiate his statements. Message of Sympathy

The following resolution, which speaks for itself, has been received from the London Old Boys' Association of Detroit:

Whereas it has come to our knowledge that this worthy member of the city of London has suffered an irreparable loss by the death of his wife. It is therefore moved by G. W. Burrows, and seconded by Dr. F. T. Leys, That the sincere sympathy of the London Old Boys of Detroit be tendered to his widow, P. G. Rumball, mayor of London, Ont., in his sore affliction.

And whereas, during our last reunion in London in August, the said Mayor Rumball endeavored himself to all the "Old Boys" by his hospitality and goodfellowship, we hope that the like happy meeting of old friends which he contributed so much to foster on that occasion may be vouchsafed to himself and his departed one in the great beyond, where the old boys of Detroit trust to meet the old boys of London, in an everlasting reunion.

Signed on behalf of the Detroit Old Boys: Dr. F. T. Leys, president.

FELL TO HIS DEATH

Harry Jamieson's Neck Broken by a Fall at D. S. Perrin & Co.'s Last Night.

A young man named Harry Jamieson was almost instantly killed last night at D. S. Perrin & Co.'s factory, his neck being broken by a fall of about 11 feet. The young man had been employed by the firm for several months, and though working in the early department upstairs, had often assisted the engineer in his duties. He had stayed after working hours to assist Engineer Foden in repairing one of the boilers, a slight accident having happened during the day. He was standing alone on a box on top of one of the boilers, turning off a steam valve with a wrench. When preparing to descend Jamieson lost his balance and fell into the 36-inch space between the two boilers. Foden at once hurried to his assistance, but so tightly was the body wedged into the narrow space that he could not extricate Jamieson unaided.

The injured man groaned once or twice while wedged between the boilers, but when assistance was procured and he was removed from his position life was extinct. The remains were removed to Stephenson's undertaking establishment where they were viewed by Coroner Piper. After consulting with the crown attorney, the coroner decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Young Jamieson was in his 32nd year, and came from Huron county. His father, who lives about two miles from Centralia, was notified of his son's death last night, and came to the city this morning. He will take his son's body home for burial. The young man was quite popular with his fellow-employees and acquaintances.

JOHN GRIFFITH'S ANNUAL VISIT.

The production of the great Forrest and McCullough version of "Spartacus, the Gladiator," which Mr. John Griffith will make at the London Opera House on Tuesday, Oct. 2, will be the most elaborate ever attempted of the play. It is historically correct, the arena, the

"DAINTY FOOD"

Turns Pale Checks to Pink. Our best physicians of the present day seek to cure patients by the use of food, rather than heavy drugs, and this is the true method, for all physicians agree that only from food can the body be rebuilt.

Many people fail to give their physicians credit, for after living on poorly selected or badly cooked food for a long time, perhaps, and when their ailments become chronic, they expect the doctor, with some magic potency, to instantly rebuild them.

This is not possible. The only true method is to turn as quickly as can be, from poor food to good. A young lady, Miss Alice Handicks, employed at the corner of Fourth and Race streets, Cincinnati, O., says: "I was variously treated for my nerves, muscles, lungs, etc., but none of the treatment gave me relief from the pains."

"About a year ago my appetite failed completely and I began to have sinking spells similar to fainting, then I took all manner of tonics and stimulants, but they were of no effect. I had been brought to quit drinking coffee and taking Peppermint Food Coffee in its place, and gradually began to get a little better."

"Someone suggested that if I found Peppermint Food Coffee so beneficial I had better use Grape-Nuts Food, as they were both the children of one brain. I commenced on Grape-Nuts Food for breakfast, having Peppermint Food Coffee with it. I found the food so dainty, delicious, and appetizing that I always looked forward to breakfast with pleasure."

"Shortly after commencing this diet, my wretched pain in the side was greatly improved, and now, a year later, it has gone entirely, also the sinking spells; in fact, my pale cheeks have changed to pink. I have gained back more than the twenty pounds I lost, and am thoroughly well in every way."

FINANCE COMMITTEE

Sewer Accounts Discussed—26th Regiment Headquarters Ask for Tax Exemption—Other Business.

A three-quarter-hour session of No. 1 committee was held last night. The members present being Ald. Jolly (chairman), Stevenson, Winder, Dreahey, Burned and Secretary Pope.

A letter was received from Engineer Graydon, drawing attention to certain features of recent sewer construction and repairs. After discussion it was decided to recommend that the sum of $200, which had been charged to sewers and culvert accounts, be charged to sewer debentures. This is the extra cost of substituting a larger pipe from former terminus of sewer to city limits, in the sewer laid to the works of the Canadian Packing Company. The replacing of brick gutters to old sewers will be charged to sewers and culverts repair account.

Lieut.-Col. McIlwain wrote, pointing out that the new headquarters of the 26th Regiment, at 29 Factory street, are exempt from taxation under the act. The chairman and the assessment commissioner will report.

An application for remission of taxes was received. On motion the taxes will be allowed to stand against the property.

A number of accounts were passed.
