Army soldier in this city, was arrested today on a charge of the larceny of a pair of boots, committed in Ingersoll some time ago. He was released on bail.

If the business at the Assize Court is not completed to-morrow in time for Chief Justice Willes to proceed to London, it is likely Judge Elliot, of that city, will conduct the business there until the arrival of His Lordship.

The case, Bell vs. Henderson, an action for seduction, which was to have been tried at the assizes here, has been settled out of court, defendant paying plaintiff $200. The case of Elliott vs. Martin and Crawford vs. Foster, have also been settled out of court.

A number of Knights Templar from London and Windsor visited the city this

Attempt to Wreck a Train With

Gen. Logan on Board.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 22.—An attempt to wreck a train in honor of General Logan, the Republican candidate for the Vice-Presidency, was held to-day. At a point a mile west of Knoxville an attempt was made to wreck the train conveying the party. The train was running at the rate of forty miles an hour, and upon reaching the obstruction the engineer noticed an obstruction on the track. He put on the brakes immediately, but did not succeed in bringing the train to a standstill until the engine had run over two of the four ties which had been laid across the rails. The train reached the city safely.

MILL DAMS AND PUBLIC HEALTH.

How the Removal of a Dam Poisoned a Neighborhood.

To the Editor of the Free Press.

Sir.—It would probably not be out of place at the present time, considering the agitation for the removal of Saunby's dam, to relate an event which occurred in my medical experience in an eastern town. The town to which I refer, with a population of several thousands, is surrounded with water in a somewhat similar manner to London; at one point of this stream, in close proximity to the town, was a large dam, a receptacle for filth of all kinds excepting sewage.

The health in the neighborhood of the stream and dam had been comparatively good, until a storm caused the removal of the dam, when, strange to relate, it was followed by an outbreak of malaria of the most virulent type, resulting in the death of a large number of inhabitants, and leaving a great many a legacy of disease long to be remembered.

The worst feature of this attack was that it did not abate in a few months, but it continued its ravages for several years.

Now, as the case referred to and the one under consideration in the city before me strongly resemble, I would beg with all due deference to the talents of those gentlemen who are so solicitous about the removal of the Saunby dam, if the state of the public health be their object, to make the following suggestions for their consideration:—

First.—What would be the result upon the general health, on its removal, due to the germs arising from the exposure of the filth to the air and rays of the sun?

Second.—Whether the death rate in the vicinity would not be more than doubled for several years subsequently; and last

Whether there are not other evils more injurious to the health of the London suburbs than the above dam.

Kindly thing you for the above space, I remain, etc. A PHYSICIAN.

PUGILISTS IN THE PARK.

A Spirited Mill Fought in Victoria

Park Between an Athletic Moulder and a Pugilistic Tanager.

The admirers of the so-called "manly art" in the Forest City would have been delighted most probably if they had been advised the opportunity of witnessing a mill, which was fought in Victoria Park on Tuesday evening. The affair originated out of an old grudge existing between a moulder named Jim and a tanager whose cognomen is Jack, and it seems that after some exchange of words on a previous opportunity the two men decided to settle the dispute and ascertain who was best man by fighting it out in the Park. Accordingly they met between 9 and 10 o'clock on Tuesday evening and repaired to the Park, accompanied by their seconds and referee, and upon arriving there they stripped to the waist and indulged in a fight to the finish with bare knuckles, under the rules of the London prize ring, which they stripped to the
