

READABLE PARAGRAPHS.

Young man do not give up the ship. There is still hope. Dr. E. C. West's Nerve and Brain Treatment will cure you.

Another remedy. The latest style of lace front shirts, which are all that in the United States, all colors at White's shirt store, King street west.

Get the Best. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is the best, most prompt and safest cure for cholera morbus, dysentery, stick headache, cramps, colic and cholera infantum that has yet been discovered. Its popularity is undiminished by age. All medicine dealers sell it.

In the German army more and more attention is being paid to the science of aerostatics, and officers are being trained to make balloons ascensions.

A letter from P. A. Sharpless, druggist, Marion, Ohio, in writing of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, says: "One man was cured of sore throat of eight years standing with one bottle. We have a number of cases of rheumatism that have been cured when other remedies have failed. We consider it the best medicine sold."

The best remedy and preventative for sea sickness is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is also the best remedy for all kinds of summer complaints, whether on sea or land it will not fail you. All druggists sell it, 25 cents per bottle.

During services in the cathedral at Havana some days ago the officiating priest, a member of the Society of Jesus, was stabbed to death by a girl whom he had betrayed. She inflicted five wounds. The congregation poured amid wild excitement into the streets and the girl was taken into custody.

H. Gladson, West Bedford, P. Q., writes: "For a number of years I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Two years ago I was attacked very severely. I suffered a great deal of pain from which I was not free for a day until last spring, when I began to use Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, and I rejoice to say it has cured me, for which I am thankful."

The leaves shall be for the treating of the leaf of the Wild Strawberry has verified that scriptural quotation. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is the master of healing in all varieties of summer complaints, and dizziness, cholera morbus, cholera infantum and every form of bowel complaint of children or adults promptly yields to its power of healing.

The Earl of Aberdeen lately entertained his whole tenantry—4000 people, comprising 822 families. Great results are speedily accomplished by the leading alternative, Northrop and Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. Indigestion ceases, biliousness disappears, constipation gives place to regularity of the bowels, and the consequence of taking it. Ladies suffering from complaints peculiar to their sex experience long wished relief, and impurities in the circulation no longer trouble those who have sought its aid. Give it a trial and you will not regret it.

A Matchless Medicine. The cooling, cleansing, soothing and healing properties of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry render it the best remedy in the world for all forms of bowel complaints, sickness of the stomach, cholera morbus and dysentery. It is perfectly safe, and always reliable.

A woman went home on a steamer from her pleasure trip to Atlantic City, because, as a cure for mosquito bites, she had washed her legs with unperfumed carbolic acid.

Mr. R. A. Harrison, chemist and druggist, Danville, Ind., writes: "I can with confidence recommend Northrop and Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure for dyspepsia, indigestion, pimples on the face, biliousness and constipation—such cases having come under my personal observation."

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is an unfailing remedy for all kinds of bowel complaints.

In 1871 the lord mayor, at the instance of the privy council, took a careful census of London. The result showed 3,000,000 inhabitants. In 1876 what we know collectively as London contained 700,000 inhabitants. Sir William Estlin estimated that by 1870 London would contain 10,718,000 souls, but that it would reach its maximum in 1880, and then begin to decline; but what it has reached only half his estimate, it shows a sign of decline. The population of the city proper has declined 62,000 in twenty years, and is now 29,000 less than in the reign of James I.

Read what Mr. Joseph Scales, a well-known retired tobacco manufacturer of Toronto says: "A short time ago I was suffering from kidney complaint and dyspepsia, sore stomach and lame back, in fact I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrop and Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. I must confess I did not have faith in any patent medicine, but like a drowning man catching at straws I thought I would give it a trial. I used one bottle and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude, and I would advise all that are so afflicted to give it a trial."

Used to say, "Boys, if your blood is out of order try Burdock tea," and they had to dig the Burdock and kill it down in kettles, making a nasty smelling decoction; now you get all the curative properties put up in a palatable form in Burdock Blood Bitters. Price $1, trial size 10 cents.

Crazed by the misconduct of her two daughters, a woman chopped off one of her hands, at Fackville, Conn., striking not less than a dozen blows with a hatchet.

BEST AND COMFORT TO THE SUFFERING. Dr. Brown's Household Remedy is an equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago, and any kind of pain or ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heat, and induce a wonderful cure." "Brown's Household Remedy," being acknowledged as the great Pain Bearer, and "double the strength of any other either of Liniment in the world," should be in every family. It is the best remedy in the world for Cramps, in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

MOTHERS! MOTHERS! MOTHERS! Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child, or fretted by your own pain or ache? "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heat, and induce a wonderful cure." "Brown's Household Remedy," being acknowledged as the great Pain Bearer, and "double the strength of any other either of Liniment in the world," should be in every family. It is the best remedy in the world for Cramps, in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

FACT AND FANCY.

Miss Nightingale's training school has sent 24 nurses to Egypt.

An insurance company to indemnify public clergymen against the loss of their voices is proposed in Paris.

The average annual rainfall on Dartmoor, Devonshire, England, where the great convict prison stands, is 80 inches.

Archibald Forbes is coming back to America. So are several other people who have found the curiosity of the American people profitable to him.

Urbaham Tacha, the youngest brother of the khedive, who passed an artillery examination in England two or three years ago, is again visiting the country.

Herbert Spencer has unkindly referred to Oscar Wilde as an "outlandish person, who attempted to recast idiocy with art and machinery in the shape of a novel."

Mr. Scott-Siddons has abandoned the stage, and will henceforth confine his work to dramatic readings. Her recent theatrical engagements in London was a dismal failure.

The Texas and Pacific railroad will establish experimental farms along its lines next season. The purpose of these farms will be to test the availability of lands for different farming purposes.

Twenty papers were recently indicted in England for selling coffee adulterated with arsenic. The authorities failed to show that the adulteration was injurious and the prosecution fell through.

Does the weather change with the moon? Sir William Thompson tells the British Science Association that there is no connection between the two things, as far as he has discovered, and he has studied them.

Speaking recently at Norwich, Cardinal Manning said that last year he had the pleasure of sitting next Gen. Sir G. Wolley at a public dinner in London, and observed that the general was a strict total abstemious.

Mr. Haines of Salisbury, Tyrol, finds that Potatoes are often maggoty by reason of the bees which their ingredients are exposed to in being. This discovery has value as regards the construction of observatories and in surveying operations.

Investigation into the death-rate of English water-borne diseases gives a very satisfactory result. Forty-two years' records, containing 1,000,000 inhabitants, gave an average rate of only 1.72 per 1000.

Dr. H. G. Altman, writing in an English medical paper, says that neuralgia is a disease arising from debility that it is increased by disease mental or bodily, but is relieved by food, and sometimes by stimulants. Purely night and day, and perfect cures are advised.

Even the sacred anemone of the aesthete, the bell-shaped anemone, has been dragged from the high altar of art to take its place in the world as a drug. It is found to have anti-malarial properties, and the inner broodhood will soon be using their favorite emblem in the form of a tincture.

The Rev. Mr. Lansell, an English clergyman, who started several weeks ago from St. Petersburg on a missionary tour in Siberia, was arrested and brought back, the police having taken the Bible he distributed for a libelous literature. After some confinement he was allowed to leave the reverend gentleman freed himself.

The Metropolitan park of works in London includes an area of 122 square miles, covered by a population of nearly 4,000,000. The royal parks cover 1,742 acres, and other open spaces 1,676 acres.

The largest of the "lungs of London" is formed by Hyde park and Kensington gardens, which together cover 648 acres, or a little more than one square mile.

The Paris Figaro says that the ex-Khedive's abode in Paris is that very Chateau de la Terrasse described by Alphonse Daudet in his "King of Hearts." It is not tall, but stout. He wears his beard, and has a way of observing everything while apparently looking at nothing. He knows French well, having been partly educated in Paris.

At this season of the year one sees at Paris railroad stations groups of boys who have returned from excursions. They belong to technical and other schools, and in the summer are sent under the care of teachers, to study industrial arts at their chief points. The city of Paris pays their expenses, but to make these as light as possible, the minister of public instruction extends hospitality to the boys at any government schools or colleges on their route.

Provincial Appointments. J. G. Alguire, of Cornwall, barrister-at-law, to be a notary public for Ontario. Joseph Cawan, of the township of Howick, to be clerk of the ninth division court of Harou.

A Tobacco we can Recommend. Smoking is a pleasure when one uses good tobacco. To thoroughly appreciate a good smoke one should procure a plug of any of the different brands manufactured by Lemaire & Sons, of Quebec. Messrs. Robt. Shields & Co. are the agents for this province.

The Dominion of Canada stands in the front rank as far as medical science is concerned. Several physicians and surgeons from the leading hospitals of France and England have associated themselves with Dr. M. Souville, ex-Aide-Surgeon of the French army, founder of the International Throat and Lung Institute, and inventor of the sphygmograph, recognized in the leading hospitals of Europe as the only means of curing catarrh, asthmal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and throat and lung diseases. Parties unable to visit the institute can be successfully treated by letter addressed Dr. M. Souville, ex-Aide-Surgeon of French army, International Throat and Lung Institute, 12 Phillips Square, Montreal, and 75 Yonge St. Toronto, offices for Canada, where French and English specialists are always in charge. Full particulars free.

Chased by a Bear. From the Western Echo. A young son of Mr. John Lobben, of Lake Charles, crossed the lake on a yacht to a neighbor on Sunday, 3rd September, and on returning after dusk, when near the lake, a bear jumped off a log and started after him. The boy ran into the lake as far as he could and called vigorously for help.

In the meantime, while four or five of the neighbors were running to the rescue, the boy tried to get away by wading round the lake in the water, but the bear followed on land, and he was only relieved from his perilous position when his rescuers arrived. After a run for half a mile over brush and logs, they found the boy badly frightened and very wet, but otherwise unharmed. On the arrival of the party the bear scampered away into the bush.

BACK FROM LENA RIVER.

THE RETURN OF MELVILLE, BERRY, NIDERMAN AND NOBOS.

An Enthusiastic Reception Given to the Melville and Mrs. De Long's Party—Niderman and his Sweetheart—What Melville Says in Reply to Denmark.

From the New York Sun of Friday. Engineer George W. Melville of the Arctic exploring steamer Jeannette returned to New York yesterday afternoon. He was accompanied by his comrades in suffering, adventure and rejoicing, Louis Philip Nobos and William Niderman, and by Lieut. Robt. Berry of the steamer Rodgers, which was burned in the Arctic sea of ice while searching for the Jeannette. The reception down the bay was remarkable for the cordiality and enthusiasm with which the men were greeted by their friends on board the navy yard tug Catalpa, and for the demonstrations of goodwill which attended the leave-taking of Melville and Berry on board the steamship Parthia.

The navy yard tug Catalpa, Capt. Berry, returned yesterday afternoon. The afternoon with a party of the men expected on the Parthia and a committee of naval officers, under command of Lieut. W. H. Jacques, who bore a sealed communication from Commodore Uphur of the navy yard to Engineer Melville. On board the Catalpa were Melville's brother, Alexander Melville, his sister, Mrs. Demorest, and his two nieces; Miss Anna Neumann, Niderman's wife, and her mother and brother; Gustavus Ludvig, a boatman in the United States Navy, who sailed with Niderman on the Polaris; Capt. J. C. Morrison, who fitted out the Jeannette in San Francisco and shipped her crew, and Capt. J. W. Wotten, father-in-law of the late Lieut. De Long. Besides these there were on board the Catalpa, as representatives from the navy yard, with Lieut. Jacques, Commander Theodore T. Kane, Pay Inspector Thomas T. Caswell, Chief Engineer W. H. Magee, Paymaster H. T. Skelting, Lieut. T. J. Drake and Dr. A. C. Russell of the Naval Hospital, Gen. C. K. Graham, surveyor of the port, was also present. The ladies in the party were Mrs. Demorest, Mrs. Neumann, and the Catalpa lay at the Quarantine dock all night. At 6 o'clock yesterday morning she was in readiness to start down the bay, but the Parthia had not been reported off Fire Island. There was a delay of several hours, and the ladies went ashore and strolled through the grounds at Quarantine station. Miss Neumann, who was waiting for Niderman, were upon the bosom of her black dress a large bouquet of flowers, and she was looking upon her face was a look of joyousness that made the flowers seem pale.

The Parthia came up the lower bay, white handkerchiefs were seen fluttering over the heads of the people who crowded the decks. The Ocean Gem ran alongside, blew her corset whistle, and circled round the Catalpa. The Catalpa answered the Parthia, and the latter started down the bay toward Staten Island. The Catalpa answered the Parthia, and the latter started down the bay toward Staten Island. The Catalpa answered the Parthia, and the latter started down the bay toward Staten Island.

Another Bear Story. From the Montreal Record. On Friday last Mr. George Robertson, of Eims, brought a large black bear into town that he had shot the night before. The brute had been killing sheep, pigs and calves in the neighborhood in which it was taken in the ice, of their loss, strength and of the death of their companions, and again returning to the recollections of the days that he had spent in the Jeannette. He hardly mentioned Denmark, but when his attention was called to a banner on Staten Island displaying the world's motto, he said: "Yes, I can see it; there's nothing the matter with my eyes."

Melville took luncheon in the cabin of the yacht. Whenever a pilot boat or a tug came by, he would stand on the deck and salute. The word of his arrival, seemed to have great effect on the bay. When there was a lull in the greetings on the yacht, Alderman McClave presented Melville with the resolutions passed by the board of selectmen in searching for the bodies of his dead comrades. Melville lit his pipe and showed in his face the effort he was making to conceal his emotions. He said in reply: "I'm a New York boy, a boy of the public schools, and in behalf of my companions as officers and men. All I have to say now is, my blood never froze and my heart was never chilled in all America which is understood that it includes my men here, who did as well as I did. I can only say that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Mrs. De Long. They had never met before, but they embraced, each with tears in his eyes, and both were visibly affected. Capt. Wotten drew Melville to him, and in a whisper asked of De Long. Melville's reply was in a broken voice. He put his arms about Capt. Wotten's shoulders as he said: "I have lost a friend. The people may think me as they please, but I tell you De Long was my friend."

It was an affecting scene, for Melville, in the few words he spoke to the bereaved Capt. Wotten, made his answer to the in-queries and charges brought against him the failure in duty and devotion to his commander, now dead. Capt. Wotten and Melville sat down together and talked earnestly, and the eyes of both were red with weeping when they arose. Capt. Wotten thanked Melville then for his assurances regarding De Long's fate that everything had been done which man could do to reach him and his unfortunate companions.

Niderman, a bronzed seaman with a Norwegian accent, was meantime seated in the cabin with Miss Neumann, whose face wore an expression of great happiness. Niderman's great hand lay comfortably in her glove, and he was looking at her with the successions of the crowds about them who were enjoying the very near view of their happiness.

"May we offer you congratulations?" a gentleman on the boat asked Niderman. He laughed a trifle bashful, and said: "I didn't suppose anyone knew about that."

Before the Ocean Gem had overtaken the tug, as both steamed on up toward the Narrows, Lieut. Jacques, wings in hand, extended to Melville and his companions the greetings of the secretary of the navy, of Commodore Uphur and of the naval officers at New York.

"I thank you, boys, and I thank the navy," was Melville's reply. Some one remarked: "The navy's proud of you."

As the Ocean Gem lowered a boat to transfer Melville from the tug, pilot boat 21 dashed by with Miss Neumann and fired a salute. Past assistant engineer Kelly took Melville first on board the yacht and then Berry, Niderman and Nobos and their friends were transferred. The Parthia, meantime, had gone on her way to the city, and the cheers from the passengers who crowded her deck took on the breeze.

Melville took luncheon in the cabin of the yacht. Whenever a pilot boat or a tug came by, he would stand on the deck and salute. The word of his arrival, seemed to have great effect on the bay. When there was a lull in the greetings on the yacht, Alderman McClave presented Melville with the resolutions passed by the board of selectmen in searching for the bodies of his dead comrades. Melville lit his pipe and showed in his face the effort he was making to conceal his emotions. He said in reply: "I'm a New York boy, a boy of the public schools, and in behalf of my companions as officers and men. All I have to say now is, my blood never froze and my heart was never chilled in all America which is understood that it includes my men here, who did as well as I did. I can only say that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

Melville was asked what he was willing to say publicly in regard to the condition of the Jeannette. He said in reply: "I have no word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them. I have not a word to say to the board of selectmen, but I have to say to you, that I am proud to have been with them."

CLOTHING. CAMBRIDGESHIRE CLOTHING HOUSE, 86 YONGE STREET, NEAR KING.

Our Ready-made Department is now replete with all the NEWEST GOODS made up in the LATEST STYLES at the lowest possible prices. Complete suits all Wool Tweed from $5.50 up. Overcoats in all styles and sizes from $4.50 upwards.

SUITS MADE TO ORDER AT $10.00, $12.00, $13.00, $14.00 and upwards.

A PERFECT FIT EVERY TIME OR NO SALE. A Complete Stock of Gents Furnishings in all the LATEST NEW YORK AGONIES.

GIVE US A CALL, NO TROUBLE TO SHOW YOU THROUGH.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE CLOTHING HOUSE, 86 YONGE STREET, NEAR KING, TORONTO.

INSURANCE. IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT. WE HAVE DECIDED TO RE-ENTER THE DOMINION.

The United States Life Insurance Company, INTER-CITY OF NEW YORK, (ORGANIZED IN 1850) 261, 262 & 263 BROADWAY NEW YORK

T. H. BROSNAN, President. C. P. FRALEIGH, Secretary, A. WHEELWRIGHT, Assistant Secretary, GEO. H. BURFORD Actuary.

By a recent Act of the Legislature of New York State this Company's charter was so amended that hereafter all the profits shall belong to the Policy-holders exclusively. All Policies heretofore issued are incontestable for any cause after three years. Death Claims paid at once as soon as satisfactory proofs are received at the Home Office. Absolute security, combined with the largest liberality, assures the popularity and success of this Company. All forms of Tontine Policies issued.

GOOD AGENTS, desiring to represent the Company, are invited to address M. W. MILLS, Superintendent of Agencies for British North American Provinces, 50 King Street East, Toronto, Ont.

FEATHER RENOVATING. TO HOUSEKEEPERS N. P. CHANEY & COMPANY

Renovate all kinds of feathers and Mattresses, and guaranteed satisfaction. All orders by mail or otherwise promptly attended to. We manufacture the only cheap mattress in the city that won't have