An acre that will produce $30 worth of corn in a season will with the right kind of care produce from $75 to $100 worth of alfalfa and the ground will be worth more after the hay crop is cut than it will after the corn is harvested.—Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

CHANGE TO NEW CORN.

Regular Feeders of Steers Approve of Starting Cattle in This Way.

The practice of using new corn for starting cattle in the fall finds favor among regular feeders of steers. But the change from the old, dry, highly nutritious feed, to which the steer has been accustomed, to an entirely different ration—a feed high in moisture content, low in fat and carbohydrates and specially palatable—calls for keen feeding ability, good judgment and skill on the part of the feeder. The individual steer must be dealt with, and the bunch as a whole must be given close attention, as individual feeding pays best.

The steer that has been used to a heating food for some time naturally craves a change to something cooling and succulent. However, at this stage it is not always what a steer likes that causes him to fatten most satisfactorily. Good feeders and herdsmen are often quoted as saying that steers and other animals should be fed what they relish the most, but in changing the food ration from old to new corn many cases would prove very unsuccessful. Succulent feeds are seldom eaten in sufficiently large amounts to make rapid growth possible.

Situations often arise when the old corn supply has run low, the cattle market is on the slump, and the prospects of obtaining a fair price on the market are poor. Such circumstances would possibly put a different face on the food problem, and the feeder might find it to his advantage to accept a little shrinkage and less finish in his stock in preference to selling it for the current prices. These conditions will always come as a result of changing to new corn, but heavy shrinkage may be obviated by close attention to details.—Country Gentleman.

Farming still conforms to the definition of Xenophon, written about 400 years before Christ: "Agriculture is an art that renders those who understand it rich, but leaves those who do not understand it, however much they may labor in it, to live in poverty."

PERCHERONS IN THE LEAD.

Far Outnumber All Other Pure Bred Draft Horses in United States.

Figures recently compiled by Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Percheron Society of America, show a material increase in the breeding of the Percheron in the United States in the last two years. In the past the breeding of Percherons of the best possible type has been retarded because of the limited number of breeding animals from which the selections could be made possible, and the most rapid progress came after the breeds were well distributed and pure bred animals had become fairly easy to locate in the chief breeding districts.

Illinois and Iowa lead the country as breeding districts. These two states contributed 50 per cent of the Percherons recorded. Ohio, Kansas, Nebraska and Indiana are the states next in line and together breed 22.8 per cent of the animals recorded in the time mentioned. Minnesota and Wisconsin follow closely, and Missouri takes an unexpectedly high rank, standing ninth.

Percherons are today the most popular breed of draft horses in the world and far outnumber all the other pure bred draft horses in the United States.
