

to take them up again. The messenger left the present in the cabin of the Neophyte, but, seeing that the physician did not come, the sick person sent him back for it, and left this good man in peace. I pray our Lord to give him perseverance.