TERMS—Per Year, 75c. Single Numbers, 4c.

Matter for publication should be addressed to Edgar M. Zavitz, Coldstream, Ont. Business letters to the Treasurer, Coldstream, Ont. The name of an author must accompany the article sent for publication, as a guarantee of good faith.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed in communications over the name, initials or other characters representing the contributor.

We prefer that remittances be made by post-office order or express order, drawn payable at London, Ont. If bank drafts are sent from the United States they should be made payable at New York or Chicago. Postage stamps (American or Canadian) are accepted for change. Money sent by mail will be at risk of sender, unless registered.

Pelham Half-Year's Meeting comes the 17th of 2nd mo., 1894, in Pelham, Ont. Select Meeting the 16th, at 11 o'clock a.m.

The article, "The Quaker Mind," published in last number of the REVIEW, should have been credited to The British Friend, from which it was taken.

We ask our readers everywhere to co-operate with us at this time in increasing very largely the circulation of the REVIEW. There should be no difficulty for very many of our readers to send us at least four names for $3.

For each club of eight yearly subscribers we shall send a free copy to the sender of club. We believe our former club-raisers will this year pursue the work with renewed energy and success. You have done much to make the REVIEW successful, but your continued efforts are doubly needed now. Remember, as soon as we reach 2,000 regular yearly subscribers, we have promised to send out a twenty-page paper each time, at 75c. a year. It is not yet too late to work. We are sending out hundreds of sample copies, which will make the work easier. In remitting, follow instructions at head of editorial page. Money sent by mail is seldom lost, but unless registered will be at risk of sender. Post-office or express orders, made payable at London, Ont., are perfectly safe, and are preferred by us.

OBSERVATION.*

Nothing contributes more largely to the acquisition of practical knowledge or a useful education than intelligent and well-directed observation. By observation, I would not have you understand me as meaning simply the faculty of sight, the mere reflection of an object upon the retina of the eye. It has a broader and deeper significance than this. It is that which fixes impressions of things seen upon the mind for thoughtful attention, and enables the memory to retain them. For instance, although born endowed with sight, it is some time before we find infants noticing familiar faces and scenes around them. So, also, in the case of the simple-minded; the act of seeing conveys no sentiment of interest to their benighted brains. On the other hand, it is a certain fact that the keenest observers are the blind. The slightest touch, sound or circumstance is carefully noted and remembered as
