THE ST. LAWRENCE CHANNEL.

The Hamilton Spectator must feel that in offering an unceasing opposition to one of our most important national public works, the improvement of the channel of the St. Lawrence, he has no argument of weight to bring forward. If he had, he would hardly have adduced the charges of a barge company, as a reason for abandoning a great public work, commenced over forty years ago with the almost unanimous approval of the representatives of the Canadian people. This barge question may be easily disposed of. As we have already pointed out, there is no monopoly, and if the company is getting "three or four times as much as the service is worth," it would naturally be inferred that there would be an active competition in such a profitable trade. Our enquiries lead us to think that the stock in the barge company is not deemed a particularly desirable investment. But, be that as it may, it is simply trifling with an important subject to adduce arguments of such a character.

We are asked why we do not desire the completion of the St. Lawrence canals? We presume that this refers to our having pointed out the absurdity of a demand made by the Spectator, that the canals
