

SUFFERED FOR YEARS.

THE EXPERIENCE OF MR. GRANT DAY, OF HARROWSMITH.

HE SUFFERED MUCH FROM RHEUMATISM, ESPECIALLY DURING SPRING AND AUTUMN—FOLLOWING A NEIGHBOR'S ADVICE BROUGHT ABOUT A CURE.

From the Kingston Whig.

One who has been released from years of suffering is always grateful to the person or the medicine that has been the medium of release. It is therefore safe to say that one of the most thankful men in the vicinity of Harrowsmith is Mr. Grant Day, who for years past has been a sufferer from rheumatism, but has now been released from its thralldom.

At the foot of the stairs the women were met by a company of firemen carrying hose up. Before the firemen could get to the top, however, the flames burst upon them and they were compelled to retreat. Meanwhile the men in the building had also descended safely, though several were cut off by the flames and were compelled to use the fire-escapes.

in the building, the Lucas-Finley Company about 30 men, and the Foy, Harmon & Chadwick Company about 175 women.

Everybody in the building was working, when an alarm of fire was given by some one in the fourth floor. Thick, yellow smoke was coming up the elevator shaft. Instantly there was a panic. All the women on the fifth and sixth floors began to scream and run for the stairs and fire-escapes on the State street front of the building.

At the foot of the stairs the women were met by a company of firemen carrying hose up. Before the firemen could get to the top, however, the flames burst upon them and they were compelled to retreat.

THE ARITHMETIC OF IT.

Some curious calculations have been made which seem to prove that Paris, notwithstanding the heavy expenditures for fireworks, decorations, and other things in connection with the entertainment of the Czar, was far from being out of pocket when the fetes were over. It is estimated that between 1,200,000 and 1,300,000 outsiders visited the city for the merry-making and remained there for nine days. The average daily expenditure of each of them, including railway travelling, food, and lodgings is estimated at 17 francs 50 centimes, or 157 francs 50 centimes for the nine days. This makes a total for 1,250,000 visitors of nearly 157,000,000, or in round numbers 200,000,000 francs.

AN ALLEGED BURIAL ALIVE.

Remarkable Story that Comes from an Alaska Mining Camp.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 31.—A tale of living inhumation comes from Juneau, Alaska, in a letter received by George P. Writz of this city. The alleged victim of the cruel death was Carlton F. Wells, who left Southern Oregon almost two years ago for the Arctic gold fields, where it is said he succeeded in accumulating $20,000, when he was, at all accounts, stricken with heart disease last May.

Just prior to Wells's apparent death he forwarded the bulk of his little fortune to his wife, now living in Trenton, N.J., whither he was bound when death overtook him. A little more than a month ago the undertaker who buried Wells received a letter from his widow asking that the remains be exhumed and shipped east for permanent interment. The instructions were in process of being complied with when a ghastly discovery put a stop to their execution. When the coffin containing Wells's almost decomposed body was opened inspection showed beyond any doubt that Wells had awakened from a deathlike trance after burial. This impression was accentuated by the fact that in the skeleton of his right hand was clutched a gutta percha plate bearing three false teeth, which in his agony, Wells must have torn from his mouth.

Near the place where his right jaw rested in the coffin was also found a plain gold ring, which the dead man had worn on his fourth finger of the right hand. In view of this terrible discovery the undertaker and the doctor who had attended Wells decided not to send the remains east.

A BROOKLYN FIRE.

Panic Among the Women, No Lives Lost.

The six-story brick factory building at the northwest corner of Boerum Place and State Street, Brooklyn, owned by Ronalds & Co., manufacturers of plumbers' supplies, was destroyed by fire last week, and only the four walls are left standing. Hundreds of employes in the building at the time were thrown into a panic.

The building was occupied by Ronalds & Co., the Foy, Harmon & Chadwick Company, manufacturers of corsets, and the Lucas-Finley Company, manufacturers of gas and electrical supplies. Ronalds & Co. occupied the first, second and third floors; Lucas-Finley Company occupied the fourth floor, and the Foy, Harmon & Chadwick Company occupied the fifth and sixth floors. Ronalds & Co. employed about 200 men

Love Lessons From the Lowly.

"Indeed we may smile," writes Lillian Bell of "Other Girls" in the November Ladies' Home Journal, "as we often do, at the primitive customs of the lowly, and at their homely phrase of 'keeping company.' It makes a delightful jest. But beneath it is a greater regard for the rights of a man or woman in love than one is apt to find higher in the social scale. With them to select one another 'to keep company' is like an offer of marriage. 'To keep steady company' is the formal announcement of an engagement, which is a potential marriage. It is the first step toward matrimony, and is almost as sacred and final. With their more fortunate and envied sisters in the smart set an engagement is the loosest kind of a bond, and neither man nor woman is safe from the wooing of other men and women until the marriage vows have been pronounced, and if your society is very fashionable, not even then. So that this society of which I speak would undeniably be called 'good'!"

A Scotchman went to the school where her son Jamie was learning singing, and asked the teacher how he was getting on. "Very poorly," said the teacher, "because he has no car." "Nae car, is it!" said she, "why my Jamie has got a lug like a saucer, mon!"

HOSPICE ANCIEN, Montreal, April 20, 1896. Messrs. H. R. IVES & CO., Montreal: Dear Sirs.—With reference to the "Buffalo" Hot Water Heaters of your manufacture now in the Hospice Ancien, I give you pleasure to state that after a most thorough test of the greater part of two winters, I have found them most satisfactory in every respect. Although last winter was an extremely severe one there was no complaint about them at any time from any cause what ever, and the quantity of coal used was very moderate, so that I can further recommend them as being economical as well as powerful heaters. Yours truly, M. AUCLAIR, Caret.
