

is at present in this country.

He is perhaps a little older than is looked for but he is a very able English scholar - he is just bringing out a volume of essays - & has had great administrative experience.

He is an Abernethian, the son of a distinguished educationist, was his assistant for some years & would be of any value.