GERMAN OFFICER'S PLEA WAS FUTILE

Author of Zabern Disturbance Sentenced to Short Prison Term.

LOSES HIS COMMISSION

Lieutenant Said He Acted Under Instruction to Resent Indignity.

STRAUSSBURG, Germany, Dec. 19. -(Can. Press.)-A sentence of 43 days' imprisonment was pronounced by a court martial today on Lieut. Baron Von Forstner, of the 99th Infantry, who was found guilty of a charge of cutting down with his sabre spend January and February abroad, a lame shoemaker of Zabern, Alsace, on Dec. 2. The charge against him was wilful assault and causing great bodily harm by the illegal use of his weapon.

The sentence of imprisonment in a penitentiary involves the loss of his commission as an officer by Lieut. Baren Von Forstner.

Lieut. Von Forstner was the officer who brought about the recent trouble between the military and civilian between the military and civilian population of Zabern by making in sulting remarks in regard to the Alastian citizens when he addressed the recruits of his company.

Under Semi-Compulsion.

In his testimony Lieut. Baron von Forstner said that he had acted in the way he did under a sort of semi-com-pulsion. He had been threatened with impeachment before a court of honor if he showed the slightest reluctance if he showed the slightest reluctance against using his weapon. He testified that the officers had received repeated orders from the German army head-quarters and from the regimental commander to adopt an aggressive attitude, to stand no nonsense from civilians and to permit no insults or abuse.

Lieut, von Forstner said he acted under the prevailing German assumption that an officer was irretrievably dishonored if he permitted himself to receive a blow. He said that the lame shoemaker might have got loose from the men and might have struck him before the soldiers could overpower him again, and then Lieut, von Forstner would have been disgraced.

Backed by Colonel.

Col. von Reuter, the commander of the 99th Regiment, said he had instructed his officers to act as aggressively as possible. A Prussian officer, he continued, must not permit disrespect to be shown to him. He had threatened, he said, to bring them before a court of honor if they did not follow his instructions, and he had ad-threatened, he said, to bring them before a court of honor if they did not follow his instructions, and he had advised Lieut. von Forstner, whom in another report the colonel had characterized as inexperienced and hasty, to use both the sabre and his revolver if necessary.

The colonel also admitted that he

necessary.
The colonel also admitted that he nad ordered the non-commissioned officers and privates of his regiment if attacked to use their weapons energetically and to bring down their assailants.

The evidence given indicated that it was highly doubtful whether the shoemaker was at all culpable. Only one cadet asserted he had heard the lame man say: "Wait, young man, you'll be done up yet." The court evidently dis-believed him.

There is still time to act, but if you miss today it will be too late, for the lists close on Monday. We hope they won't close until every name has been cared for, but unless several hundred more Good Fellows come to the rescue there will be some disappointed hearts on Christmas Day. Every name we have on our lists has been thoroly investigated, and all you have to do is to see what you think you are best able to give to make Christmas as bright as possible. Come to the rescue before it is too late, and you will never regret the time spent in being a Good Fellow to some person not quite as fortunate as yourself.

Mail your request at once, or phone Main 5308 to save time, and The World Good Fellow will see that you have a needy case to care for.
