The throng of visitors is largely responsible for the exhaustion of food supplies in Briceville to-night. All stores are bare of eatables and many went hungry to-night. However, hunger will not be a long added horror to relatives of the victims, as Knoxville and other cities are rushing food supplies. All will be provided for to-morrow.

Brought 175 Coffins.

Straining on the ropes that keep the throng back from the mine opening, are the relatives of the victims anxiously awaiting some word of life withing the yawning mouth of the death trap. The situation becomes, more tense as each car of debris is brought to the surface, for its driver might bring some word or with the debris might be a body of some loved one. The shrill whistle of the special train bringing coffins at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, brought another horror to the already dazed inhabitants of the little and they were piled near the mouth of the mine. Only eight of these boxes were opened to-day.

A terrible pail of silent sorrow existed about the mouth of the mine as thousands congregated.

The single disturbance of this scene of silence was during the more than two hours Sunday service, when the Rev. E. M. Richle, pastor of the M. E. Church, south, at Coal Creek, exhorted those within the hearing of his powerful voice to accept the disaster of Saturday as a warning and prepare to meet death.

Steps have been taken to establish the work of the American Red Cross Society.

The pastor pointed out that love had in passion a very close counterfeit. Young women were too prone to marry men whose character that he saw a great and noble work for the church. Love, he said, was blind, if it were not blind it would die of a broken heart.

What was needed was that young men and women should consult some of the older members of the church on all questions of counterful. Cause Unknown.

No official or semi-official opinion had been given out as to the cause of the disaster. President T. I. Stephenson of the Knoxville Iron Company, and others interested, had nothing to say in answer to this enquiry. It is generally believed, however, that the disaster was due to a "dust explosion." The mine had passed official inspections within the past few weeks, and was thought to be perfectly safe. Investigations are now being made with a view to definitely determining the cause of the accident, if such is possible.

NEED CHURCH'S GUIDANCE

Members Should Advise and Help Friends in Their Courtship Days, Says Pastor.

In his sermon last night in Queenstreet Methodist Church, Rev. C. O. decree as tyranical and injurious to society, but he saw one good feature in it. The decree assumed that the church was interested in the betrothal church was interested in the betrothal of its people. This should be so, but it was not the case. The marriage ceremony was only legalizing an agreement already made, and hence it was of minor importance to the courtship. The church was concerned in the marriages, but the pastor believed that it took no interest in the courtship of its members.

At no period did young man and members.

At no period did young men and women need so much guidance and sympathy as when they were making those friendships which might brighten or might mar their lives, yet the present age treated the matter as something frivolous and the church, too, failed to realize their responsibility, and failed to look soberly upon a question fraught with the greatest consequences.

MUDDY YORK ROADS.

Editor World: I wish to complain

thru your valuable columns of the almost impassable conditions of Yongestreet for five miles north of the city. The writer, in company with four others, drove yesterday from Orillia to Toronto, and as a citizen of this city was ashamed to see that the five miles of road approaching Toronto were by far the worst part of the 86 mile trip. Mud and water covers the road to a depth of six inches. Thru Eglinton the streets are like a river of thick mud. The car was a new 6-cylinder, but she was so coated with mud by the time we reached Toronto that you could not have told what she was. Passing thru York Mills and she was. Passing thru York Mills and Eglinton the motor threw out a spray of thick grey mud, and as she plowed her way thru, she looked more like a motor boat than a car. What has become of the $390,000 subscribed each by the city and County of York to build up the approaches to Toronto? A year ago we were told that the roads would be in good shape. Now it seems you have to use a motor car, and a pretty powerful one at that, to get over (or perhaps we should say thru) the roads that lead to this metropoli-

Filipino Guerillas Surrender. MANILA, Dec. 19.—(Can. Press)—The guerilla bands of Moros in the Jolo district, against which American detachments have been operating for the past few weeks, have capitulated. Three hundred rifles have been given up, and peace now seems assured for this district. All other districts in the islands are quiet.

GREASY RAIL

"Greasy rail" is a term used by street car men to describe a condition of the track at certain seasons of the year, caused by atmospheric changes in conjunction with refuse on the streets, the result being a scum on the surface of the rail. At other times, a dry scale is formed, which is even worse than the grease. At present there does not appear to be any remedy for a condition that very seriously affects the operation of the cars, although the general public may not be aware of it. Occasionally a few individuals may notice the driver of a wagon taking chances in crossing the tracks a short distance in front of a moving car, and the motorman doing his utmost to prevent a collision, which, owing to the slippery state of the rails, occurs, damaging, perhaps, both the wagon and the car.

When the rails are in this greasy state it is a difficult matter for motormen to operate their cars on schedule time, especially during the hours of heavy traffic, as the cars cannot be started as quickly as at other times; neither can they be stopped in the same space as under ordinary conditions. This necessarily causes the motormen to drive more slowly approaching streets where they are likely to stop for passengers. When a car becomes slightly delayed in this manner, it very naturally gets more than its proper share of passengers, and consequently has more stops to make, resulting in further loss of time, and, possibly, a bunching of the cars. The intending passengers who may be waiting along the route in the meantime may possibly be blaming the company for an irregular service, and not know the real cause of the delay.

Up to the present time traction companies have found no other remedy than the use of sand, and sometimes this is of very little service in remedying the trouble, as it is no sooner put on the rail than it is pulverized by the first car sliding over it, and the condition of the rail at that particular spot is frequently found to be worse than before the sand was applied. In cold and damp weather, therefore, the car service is peculiarly susceptible to delay.

When the traffic is heaviest, and the cars are running on close headway, motormen must necessarily exercise greater caution, as the risk of accident is increased by the additional traffic upon the streets.

A great sense of relief comes to those who have Christmas gift-buying off their minds. This is a strong reason why you should make your purchases now.

Those who intend giving Cigars to friends will find our stock very large and suggestive. We have Cigars at all prices by the box. Simply leave your list of names and addresses, together with your card, and we will see that the boxes are delivered at the proper hour. It is then off your mind, and you will have the feeling of satisfaction that comes from duty well done.
