The quality of fat cattle was fairly good, considering the number offered. Trade was generally good all round when the large deliveries are considered.

Prices for exporters were not quite so good as on Friday last, but butchers' cattle were, if anything, a little firmer.

The demand for sheep and hogs has not abated in the least, and prices were, if anything, firmer.

Only about eight milk cows and springers of medium to common quality were offered.

Yield calves were more plentiful, but all offered found ready market at good prices.

Deliveries of sheep and lambs were large, and all offerings were sold at a little straggled price.

The rate of hogs was not large, but prices were easier, at $7.12 1/2 for select and $7 for light and fat.

WORK COUNTRY AND SUBURBS

Complex Division Court Case in Which a Land Roller, a Cow and a Road Cart Figured.

OFFICERS OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH W.A.

Provision Made for Pupils of No. 13 York Township in Junction Public Schools.

Toronto Junction, Sept. 9.—There were three contested cases at the Division Court, held before Judge Morgan at Weston on Monday. The case of Richard Wade v. Cousins and Shaw was a somewhat complicated one, but rather interesting. Cousins is a vendor of agricultural implements. He had a land roller that he knew Mr. Shaw wanted. Mr. Shaw had a cow, and Mr. Cousins knew that Mr. Wade wanted a cow. A trade was arranged by which if the cow proved satisfactory Wade was to get the roller for the cow, and Cousins was to get the cow from Wade, in payment for his roller. All went well until one day, when the cow took a fit. It appears the cow was subject to a rush of blood to the head, which caused it to fall down, and it took a spell of this kind when Wade came into possession of it. Cousins, in the meantime, had sold the cart, so Mr. Cousins and Shaw conspired to get the cart back from Cousins and to get the cow from Wade, in payment for his roller. All went well until one day, when the cow took a fit. It appears the cow was subject to a rush of blood to the head, which caused it to fall down, and it took a spell of this kind when Wade came into possession of it. Cousins, in the meantime, had sold the cart, so Mr. Cousins and Shaw conspired to get the cart back from Cousins and to get the cow from Wade, in payment for his roller.
