IMPOSSIBLE, CLAIM

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Viscount Rothermere, former secretary of state for the dir forces, in an article today in the Sunday Pictorial, under the caption "The Foily of Big Battleships," submits a startling contention directly challenging the traditional policy of the British navy. The doctrine he propounds is that it is no longer possible for any nation to possess command of the sea. Lord Rothermere wholly condemns British participation in big battleship rivalry with the United States and Japan, because "they obviously are building computer seals."

T. Robinson at a meeting of the women of Walkerville held today in the Lincoln Road Methodist Church.

The speaker stated that over 50,000 young women in America are given over to a life of shame each year, these girls coming from some of the best homes in the country and who are innocently trapped into a life of degradation.

Mrs. Robinson warned the young girls not to pick up with strangers on the streets, and to value the purity of their soul and body above everything else.
