THE PROPOSED SUBWAY SYSTEM.

The report received by Controller Hocken's special committee from Mr. J. W. Moyes, the engineer appointed to submit plans for a subway system of transportation for the city, opens up the question for public discussion. The committee was evidently pleased with the proposals, and agreed to send the report on to council with a recommendation to follow the course pursued in connection with the hydro-electric system. This is to submit it to a referendum vote of the people, when, if approved, the necessary legislation will be drafted and procured giving the city power to raise the money required for the enterprise, contingent on a further vote of approval by the ratepayers.

The total cost of the scheme, covering three miles of tube construction and two miles surface railway, and including 200 cars, is placed at $4,385,000. Controller Hocken estimated that $2,000,000 of this would be provided for out of the radial railway traffic which would utilize the subway system to gain the centre of the city. Besides the existing radials the Toronto and Hamilton, the Toronto and London, and the Toronto and Cobourg Railways are desirable, said Controller Hocken, of using the subway. The gain from the excavations in filling up the water lots inside the Windmill Line and in Ashbridge's Bay, the controller reckoned at $500,000, leaving only $1,000,000 a year to be provided out of the actual tube traffic.

In face of the unusual advantages of speed, convenience, accommodation and general efficiency in such a service as set forth by Controller Hocken, the plan appears to be one easy to finance, and citizens who have been long-suffering at the hands of the street railway, will hail this means of escape from the tyrannous restrictions placed upon suburban traffic, and the consequent congestion of central population and transportation.

TRENTON'S NEXT STEP.

It is not without satisfaction that The World contemplates the result of the vote on the power bylaw at Trenton. Before The World, at the request of a number of public spirited citizens, took the matter up, both of the local papers, all but one of the town council, and all the leading citizens interested in the company which hoped to obtain the valuable franchises involved, were united for this object, and the citizens in general were kept in the dark about the proposed agreement.

One of the local papers, The Courier, on looking into the situation, took the view presented by The World, and can thus lay claim to some share of the credit of defeating a measure which in the future could only be fraught with the most disastrous results for Trenton.

It is said that the town council thinks of resigning. If this be the result of a conviction of personal incapacity to face the emergency we can only sympathize with the gentlemen affected, for we believe that an earnest, faithful attempt on their part to carry out a policy of municipal control would be crowned with success.

If resignation be the suggestion of pique or huff, it would indicate that the council is out of touch with the will of the people on this point, and it would only remain to elect a new council about whose stability in the people's interests there could be no doubt.

Recent happenings at Hamilton and some other places indicate the influence of public service corporations in changing the views of councillors and aldermen, who have been elected on the profession of devotion to the public interest. It is scarcely probable that Trenton has so far succumbed to corporation influences as to be unable to initiate and fulfil a public measure such as the development of the local water-powers. A council capable of such a business responsibility aided, as it might be, by the professional skill at the disposal of the hydro-electric power commission, ought to be equally as successful as has been Guelph, or Orillia or Brantford, or in the case of a similar activity equally with such a near neighbor as Picton.

TIME FOR THE VIADUCT.

For years the desire for the construction of the Bloor-street viaduct, joining Danforth-avenue in a straight line east and west, has been gaining strength. Ten years ago it could have been constructed at a cost figured at from $50 to $60 per cent. of the amount now required. On one pretext or another, and chiefly because the east end is usually relegated to the back seat when several civic projects claim attention, this important matter has never had a chance to come squarely before the people.

There is no disagreement about the necessity for this important improvement. Objectors now only allege that the time is inopportune. That point is decidedly one for the ratepayers to settle, and if the council submits a by-law for this purpose, as they have practically agreed through the board of works and otherwise to do, the people will show that the situation has been correctly estimated.

THE REAL LAW-BREAKERS.

woeful picture of the country entering on a period of social and even anarchy as the result of the city supplying electric power to the citizens. He was speaking in court and his argument must therefore be supposed to reach a certain level of legal intelligence. The ordinary man will be able to gather very little from the presentation of such a plea, but the evidence of obstruction for obstruction's sake.

All this objection to the hydro-electric power policy comes from the corporations which are unwilling to submit to legitimate competition, and combine with each other, wherever possible, and in the face of the law, as in the case of the Toronto Electric Light Co., and the Toronto Incorporated Light Co., to eliminate competition.

Mr. Johnston knows, or ought to know, that the dyed-in-the-wool socialists are as much opposed to amelioration schemes like the hydro-electric policy, as the corporations themselves, and outside the law-breaking corporations there are no anarchists of any weight in Canada. There can be no greater act of anarchy than the use of the letter of the law to defeat the spirit of the law, which is the method and purpose of the electric corporations in their attitude towards the hydro-electric policy. And they also are the only opponents of measures calculated to bring the letter of the law into conformity with its spirit.

Goldman v. Cerniack-Smith (Day & Co.), for plaintiff, moved for judgment for order dismissing action without costs. Order made.

Standish v. P. Co. v. Dignam-McLarty (Heyd & Co.), for defendant, moved on consent after trial of issue for an order discharging attaching order, and that costs of defendant be credited to the judgment debtor after taxation thereof. Order made.

Standish v. P. Co. v. Dignam-McLarty (Heyd & Co.), for plaintiff, moved for an order for delivery out of exhibits. C. B. Nesmith, for defendants. Order made. No costs.

Re Martin and A. O. U. W.—A. G. Lawrence, for the society, moved for an order for payment of $500 into court, due under a certificate of the society. Order made for payment in less costs fixed at $12. Notice to be given to the widow.

Giles v. Hagerman—A. G. F. Lawrence, for assignee of the judgment, moved for an order of review and for execution against one of the defendants. Order made.

George v. Strong—J. H. Spence, for defendant Duncan, moved to set aside default judgment, no statement of defence having by mistake been delivered and to be allowed in to defend. G. H. Kilmer, K.C., for plaintiff, contra. Reserved.

Ruston v. Galley—C. E. Macdonald, for plaintiff, on motion, to add wife of defendant, as a defendant as the defendant stated on his examination for discovery that he had defrauded property in question to her many years ago. F. J. Dunbar, for defendant, contra. Judgment: Mr. Dunbar made an offer which was not unreasonable and which I would have been glad if plaintiff had accepted. This, however, he did not do, and I cannot oblige him to accept it if he thinks it disadvantageous. I must therefore give him his money. Judgment for the plaintiff for the amount of $10,000, with interest, and for the costs of the action.

Judge's Chambers.
Before Falconbridge, C.J.
McCully v. McCully—J. A. Macintosh, for defendant, on appeal, from order of master in chambers granting alimony. W. Laidlaw, K.C., for plaintiff, contra. Judgment (V.V.): This was an appeal from the master in chambers allowing $16 a month for alimony. The marriage being admitted and the evidence of support to some extent at least being proved, the wife is prima facie entitled to interim alimony. The amount of such alimony is in the discretion of the court. Defendant is shown to be in possession of some portion of a fund and the master in his discretion has made the allowance as against the income of that fund. The master is wrong or interfere with his discretion. Appeal dismissed. Costs to plaintiff in any event.

Before Riddell, J.
King v. Samuel Spinnell—A. R. Hassard, for the prisoner, J. R. Cartwright, K.C., for the crown. Judgment: An application for a reserved case. Samuel Spinnell, an Italian, was tried at North Bay and convicted of murder on Oct. 12, 1909. He was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. The grounds set out by the judge in his judgment were that the prisoner was a dangerous person and that the public interest required that he should be kept in custody. The prisoner's counsel argued that the evidence was insufficient to support the verdict. The judge refused to set aside the verdict.

Single Court.
Before Falconbridge, C.J.
Trust and Guarantee Co. v. Imperial Gold Mines, Limited—P. B. Mackenzie, for plaintiff, moved for judgment. J. Montgomery, for defendant. Judgment: The charge by the plaintiff against the defendant is to be enforced by sale, and for that purpose the matter is referred to George Kapriel, K.C., official referee. H. Vignoe, K.C., official referee, is to be co-operate with liquidator and to have power to borrow to protect interests of bondholders. Costs to plaintiff. The costs of the company to be paid by the receiver.

Re Jones Trust—Eric Armour, for executors and beneficiaries other than K. A. Jones, moved for appointment of new trustee. N. F. Davidson, K.C., for K. A. Jones. F. W. Harcourt, K.C., for infants, asked enlargement. Enlarged until 18th inst., to confer with T. G. T. Corporation, as to terms of sale. The jury assessed plaintiff's damages at $6,000, and judgment was entered by the court in favor of the plaintiff for that amount and costs, and the verdict was apportioned $4,250 to Agnes C. W. Fraser, and $1,750 to Ann Fraser, from this judgment defendant now appeal by leave direct to this court. Argued and judgment reserved.

Hees Son & Co. v. Ontario Wind Engine and Pump Co. v. Ontario Wind Engine and Pump Co., for defendant, K.C., and A. Ogden, for defendants, appellants. W. E. Middleton, K.C., and G. W. Mason, for plaintiffs, respondents, contra. Plaintiff, manufacturer of Toronto, claim that it entered into contract with defendant for the erection and construction of a 40,000 gallon sprinkler tank, and structures connected therewith, to be used by plaintiff in connection with its factory. Defendant, as it is alleged erected a sprinkler tank upon the said premises, and when defendant claimed that it had been completed, caused it to be partially filled with water. When 37,000 gallons of water were placed therein, the structure erected by defendant, under said contract, and which supported the said tank, suddenly gave way, and the tank and structure fell against plaintiff's tank injured and destroyed a large portion of the said factory and the plaintiff's goods therein, and plaintiff therefor demanded damages by reason thereof. Defendant denied the contract, set up the statute of fraud, and charged that the damage was caused by the wrongful and improper interference of plaintiff in filling the tank before it should have been filled. At the trial before Latchford, J., on 12th February, 1910, judgment was given for the plaintiff for the damages sustained, and costs, and referring it to an official referee to enquire and report the amount of such damages. Defendant appealed from said judgment is by consent brought direct to this court. Not concluded.

A. J. R. Snow, K.C., for plaintiff. V. Mulock, for defendant. Judgment: The plaintiffs are all the children of the late May Dicks, who died on March 2, 1894. The said May Dicks insured her life by two several policies issued by defendant company, both payable on her death to her children surviving at her death, share and share alike. May Dicks made her will on Dec. 10, 1894, and it was proved on March 12, 1895, and in it she devised and bequeathed to her husband, Arthur Alfred Dicks, her executor and administrator, all her estate, real and personal, of whatsoever nature and kind, and wheresoever situate, upon trusts set out in said will and appointed him to receive the moneys payable under the policies aforesaid, and others which she declared to be for the benefit of her children. On Dec. 18, 1895, defendants paid to the executor named above, the moneys payable under the policies of Campbell, Dunn, et al., $20,000, and having reached the conclusion that the moneys on the policies were validly paid to the executor named above, the plaintiffs moved for judgment for the amount of $10,000, with interest, and for the costs of the action. The court found that the policies were validly paid to the executor named above, and judgment was given for the plaintiffs for the amount of $10,000, with interest, and for the costs of the action.

Borrett v. Guesneau—E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., for plaintiff, appealed from the judgment of Meredith, C.J., dated 29th September, 1909. P. Crear, K.C., for the defendant, contra.

The action was to set aside a sale and conveyance to plaintiff on the alleged grounds of misrepresentation and fraud to the defendant. Plaintiff claimed that the defendant had induced him to purchase a certain piece of land, and that the defendant had misrepresented the value of the land, and that the defendant had fraudulently induced him to purchase the land. The defendant denied the allegations. The court found that the defendant had misrepresented the value of the land, and that the defendant had fraudulently induced him to purchase the land. The court set aside the sale and conveyance, and judgment was given for the plaintiff for the amount of the purchase price, with interest, and for the costs of the action.

RATES NOT EQUITABLE
City May Alter Basis of Charges for Lighting Residences.

That the city's proposed plan of charging so much per room and so much per kilowatt hour for lighting residences is not equitable, was the opinion expressed at yesterday's meeting of the engineers of the Niagara Power Union of Municipalities.

The argument used was that a large house might have fewer rooms than a small house, giving the rich man an advantage over the poor man. As the municipalities are considering adopting a uniform system, the city may change its basis of rates.
