Our Office and Ice Cream Parlors is at

37 CHARLOTTE STREET

Our reason for warning our customers and prospective customers is this: A leading citizen a few days ago asked telephone information for the name of the new company who had taken over the Primecrest business and was connected with a competitor who affirmed that he was the new prorietor and an order was placed for milk.

The customer in question called at our office the same day to settle for the milk and to arrange for a future supply; but as no milk had been delivered to her home by us, the above information was given us.

Saturday's Closing.

Sackville, N. B., May 20—(Special)—
A successful recital of junior students of the Conservatory of Music in Charles Fawcett Memorial Hall, Saturday afternoon, was the biggest event of many years. At the closing last night the Greek drama Pygmalion and Galatea was presented by the students' oratory department, in three acts, under the direction of Miss Laura Curtis, head of the department. The college 'orchestra ren-Brigadier-General Odlum, 11th Canadian partment, in three acts, under the direction of Miss Laura Curtis, head of the department. The college orchestra rendered several numbers, followed by pastoral music by Professor Fritz Read, head of the Conservatory of Music.

The baccalaureate sermon was preached tonight by Rev. E. B. Moore, of Halifax, in the Fawcett Memorial Hall. The students marched from the college, headed by General Black and other Mt. Allison officers in town, and the Mount Allison men in uniform. The choral class and orchestra provided beautiful music. Rev. Mr. Moore delivered an eloquent address, calling the students to enlist in the Christian army. A song service in Beethoven Hall followed the baccalaureate service.
