

Liberal Naval Policy Adopted

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Ottawa, May 22.—The government's naval policy, providing for one destroyer and two small vessels on each coast, with the consequent laying up of the Aurora and the two submarines, carried without division in the commons tonight. The debate came after three days of debate on the proposals put forward by Hon. George P. Graham, minister of defence. Today's debate was featured by two outstanding departures from party policy, by a reshuffle of the circumstances surrounding the sale of the cruiser Niobe and by a strong defence of the government's naval policy by Mr. Graham.

Hon. A. K. Maclean.

The party broke camp when Hon. A. K. Maclean (Liberal, Halifax), while saying that he had not heard suggestions improving the government's policy, personally placed himself on record as believing that it was not practical and that it would not succeed. Therefore, he requested the government to take a five-year naval holiday. The second departure came when John Evans (Progressive, Saskatoon), urged that if Canada claimed the status of a nation she should be prepared to accept the responsibilities and take her place in the sisterhood of nations. This was in direct contrast to the stand taken by Hon. T. A. Cregar, who stressed the opinion that Canada should take a five-year naval holiday. The budget should contain proposals for increasing taxation so that Canada could pay her debts, he said.

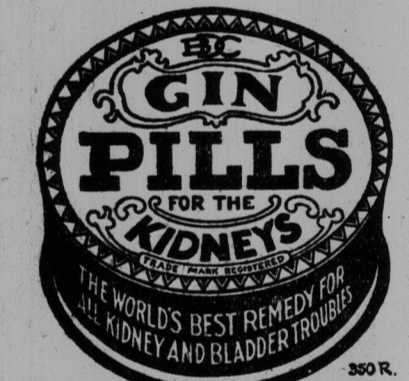

Hon. George P. Graham.

Hon. George P. Graham, minister of militia, in defending the naval reduction, declared that the government's policy was merely a continuation of the Liberal policy enunciated in 1910. The government was starting at the bottom and working up instead of commencing at the top. He was convinced that the government's policy would succeed. The debate took on a decidedly maritime tinge just prior to the dinner hour. When E. M. Macdonald (Liberal, Pictou), charged the late government with being responsible for Canada's lack of naval vessels during the war. They had not followed out the policies laid down in 1910 and 1911 and had scrapped the naval facilities created by the Liberals. During the war the people of the maritime provinces were dependent on United States destroyers for protection. There was a working arrangement between the British and United States governments.

T. W. Caldwell (Progressive, Carleton-Place), reverted to the matter of the sale of the Niobe, and asked why the New Brunswick Rolling Mills were permitted to drop their contract to buy the boat at a fairly high figure. If the company was not financially sound, he said, it should not have received the contract in the first place. Mr. Graham explained that through the department of justice the government had taken the Niobe back and $50,000 in addition. This was besides the original payment of $20,000. The Niobe was eventually sold for $40,000, her scrap value. This, the minister considered, was a good price in the circumstances.

Mr. Caldwell thought the government should have called for further tenders in order to secure a better price. William Duff (Liberal, Lunenburg) disputed the statement that the Aurora was a good training ship. She was eight years old and pretty well worn out. Mr. Duff expressed heavy approval of the reduction of the estimates and remarked that the cruiser and the submarines might be used as breakwaters.

Dr. Murray Maclean (Conservative, St. John-Albert) regarded as "unwise and unjustifiable" the proposed reduction.

Miss Mary E. Flanagan, R. R. No. 3, Stella, Ont., writes: "I suffered for about two years with pimples and blotches breaking out on my face. The doctor said it was due to impure blood, and he advised me to get a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and try it. I just took three bottles, and there was not a blotch or pimple of any kind left. Some of my friends asked me what I had used and I said, 'Burdock Blood Bitters' and they were cured."

enormous policies and its record was warmly reviewed. In a brief address, Dr. Curran lauded the premier's efforts for the welfare of the province and made a strong appeal to strengthen Premier Foster's hands by electing a Liberal government.

Lowell acted as chairman of the meeting and, in introducing Premier Foster, paid tribute to the splendid work accomplished by the government during its tenure of office.

Concluding his address, Premier Foster, who was for organization purposes, a short session was held at which the names of the electors were called. Chairman, Mrs. James Lowell; vice-chairman, Miss M. E. O'Brien; secretary, Mrs. A. A. O'Brien. The committee will be selected on Friday.

The Beauséjour organization has commenced canvassing already. The officers are: Chairman, Miss L. O'Reilly; secretary, Miss J. O'Reilly; Mrs. Corner, and Miss K. Cain.

In opening, Dr. Curran said that he knew his hearers expected no lengthy address. He desired to express his gratitude for the splendid work done by the women electors in the last provincial election. He said he was confident that the government's record touching legislation affecting women's sphere during its term of office could be said about the Premier government that it had an "open book."

Its record was straight and clean. There was a good cause to work for and a good government to sustain. During its six-year term, not one serious charge of graft or misappropriation of the public money had been brought to the door of the government. "This is most important," said Dr. Curran. "The Liberal government was progressive. It looked after the interests of the people."

Concluding his address, Premier Foster paid a warm tribute to Premier Foster. At a great financial and personal sacrifice, Dr. Curran said, the premier was still carrying on because he believed it his duty.

If the people of St. John county appreciated the services of Premier Foster and his government, they could not help but elect for him an additional supporter in the legislature.

Premier Foster confined himself to an explanation of the government's policies in regard to legislation touching matters of interest to the women electors. He was loudly applauded at the conclusion. He declared he was pleased to come to Fairville and discuss organization plans with them and tender what advice he could. When addressing the ladies of the 1922 graduating class at U. N. B. recently, he was expected to offer some advice, he said. To the men, this task was not so difficult, but as there were several ladies in the class, he said the best advice he could give them was to "get married." Though the ladies seldom followed his advice, he was quite sure that many of the lady graduates would follow that piece of advice. (Laughter.)

It was generally accepted, he said, that the federal member of parliament occupied a more honored position in public life than the provincial member. In his opinion, the reverse was true, because the provincial member came into closer contact with the people in dealing with matters over which the provincial legislature had control. There was the tariff and other financial affairs dealt with by the federal government. But these matters so important to the citizen, he asked, as the roads, or education, or health? These last named came within the jurisdiction of the provincial legislature. For this reason, he deemed it important that the people select the right man to represent them at Fredericton. He believed that his government was worthy of support.

Premier Foster went on to deal with matters concerning ladies particularly. He first took up the granting of the franchise to the women. The first time this right had been elected by women was in the Dominion election of 1917. In 1919, a provincial act was passed giving
