SONG OF THE SEASON.

Gaunt Winter flinging flakes of snow, Deep burdening field and wood and hill; Dim days, dark nights, slow traffing fogs, And bleakened all severe and chill: And swift the seasons circling run-And still they change till all is done.

Young Spring with promise in her eyes, And fragrant breath from dewy mouth. And magic touches for the nooks And swift the seasons eircling run-And so they change till all is done.

With early subrise for the town, Thick foliaged woods and glittering seas And loud bird chirpings in the dawn. And so they change till all is done.

Brown Autumn, quiet with ripe fruits, And haggards stacked with harvest gold, And fiery flushes for the leaves, And silent cloud-skles soft outrolled. And still they change till all is done,

Swift speeds our Life from less to more. The sobering mind, the ripening soul, Till vonder all is bright and blest, For so the seasons circling run-And swift they change till all is done.

Yes vonder-if indeed the orb Of life revolves round central Light, For ever true to central force And steadfast, come the balm or blight. And so indeed the seasons run-And last is best when all is done.
