We know of some additional expense however; there is the Speaker's salary £200, Mr. Nugent's as Chairman of a Committee £50 besides the usual £40 to each of the Members; and then the enormous multiplication of documents printed at the "PATRI-OT" office, including Mr. MOR-RIS's long-winded pamphlet principally composed of extracts from "Select Cases," and "Brief Remarks &c. 1828," "Observations
&c. 1823," "Remarks &c.
1827," and other pamphlets supposed to be written by DAVE and others, and referring to a by-gone state of this country; having little or no reference to its present state.
Then there will be the "legal claims" of the old Officers of the House, and the claim of the new ones, and a "Reporter," such as the former House had not.
Those persons that sent the Members into the present House, will have reason to expect some benefits that may compensate them for the expence incurred by their Members, but, how will it be with the persons that did not send the Members there; those persons who did not participate in the franchise; but who pay their share of the reckoning, notwithstanding; those that "did not come to the scratch," as they called it in the "PATRIOT."

FOR THE STAR
TO ELIZA.

The Northern light is gaily streaming;
And Luna's face is softly beaming;
The taper from thy chamber gleaming;
Tells thou art there:
Perhaps, o'er thy lover's last lines poring;
And pond'ring on his heart's adoring;
Or in thy bosom fondly storing;
Thou hast dear maid been long deciding;
Is not thy heart its coldness hiding;
For his, with thee, is still abiding;
Seeking thy love:
And time is like a vapour, flying;
And youth is like the summer, dying;
The fates are their vocation plying;
And he may rove!
Then strike the chord, while 'tis vibrat-
ing;
And do not keep him longer waiting;
Decide his fate by simply stating;
Your hate; or love.
