ANOTHER AWFUL ENGLISH TRAIN SEA DISASTER WRECKED; DRIVER IS KILLED, OTHERS INJURED

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 31.—The identity of the steamer which went down early yesterday, probably with all hands, off Diamond Shoals, fourteen miles from Cape Hatteras, N. C., yet remains unknown.
The day furnished no way of corroborating the testimony of those aboard the Diamond Shoals lightship, who helplessly saw this latest tragedy of the well-named "graveyard of the Atlantic." When darkness fell to night not a single piece of wreckage had been detected either on shore or on the ocean, and it may be several days before anything is discovered. Neither the government weather station nor the local commercial wireless station received any additional news relative to the ill-fated vessel today. No definite news has come to the Norfolk navy yard from the revenue cutter Onondaga which is at the scene of the reported wreck.
Brought No News
The Savannah ship steamer City of Savannah which reached Savannah today from New York brought no news that might aid in clearing up the mystery although her wireless operator caught the message from the lightship and was positive that the ship was described as a single funnelled vessel. A message tonight to the Associated Press from Keeper Byron of the Durant life saving station at Hatteras read as follows:
"No details received in this locality of steamer reported foundered near Diamond Shoals lightship. No wreckage has drifted up here and none seen from the shore."
The government weather officials at the Norfolk and the Cape Henry stations, who are in direct telegraphic and telephone communication with practically every point along the Virginia coast, have had no word from any station that indicates of a shipwreck have been discovered and, notwithstanding the fact that the lightship report that they saw the steamer sink, they are inclined to doubt that a self-propelled vessel with human lives aboard really foundered.
Local shipping authorities declare that the steamer probably was an abandoned derelict.
The wind, which blew off shore at a velocity of forty-five miles an hour, moderated to some extent today. Tonight a moderate northwest wind is blowing off Hatteras. As long as the wind remains in that quarter any wreckage or floatam from the ship will probably be driven far out to sea. The reporting of the Carolina S. S. Co.'s steamer Theodore Weema, which passed in at Cape Henry, bound from Georgetown, on the morning of the disaster today, removes that vessel from consideration as being the ill-fated freighter.

STRONG GAUMONT FEATURE AT THE "STAR."

The new Star Theatre, in Union Hall, North End, has a particularly strong picture-feature for tonight and tomorrow, in Gaumont's new drama, "Married the Second Time," a social play with a unique plot. The film of Gaumont, Paris, is the kindest rival of Fathé Freres, and is the leading fact in the independent film makers now merged with the motion picture trust. The picture is beautifully photographed and cleverly acted. The other pictures are: The Bewildered Professor and "The Yuletide Wife." Miss Von Branders has a new song and the same bright sparkling music will rule.

ITALIAN EARTHQUAKE AT NICKEL.

The first reel of film depicting the terrible consequences of the earthquake and tidal disturbances in Sicily a few weeks ago arrived in America last Thursday by the steamer Baltic. Today this wonderfully interesting picture will be shown at the Nickel with explanations and additional motion pictures of Messina before it fell a prey to the catastrophe. The Nickel management respectfully requests patrons to send their children in the afternoon and to be early themselves in securing seats in the evening as the run will be unusually great. The Nickel's earthquake pictures will include: Baglioni in Ruins with its population under the debris; Reggio Emilia Wiped Out with a long series of scenes throughout the tumbled city; Panorama of Messina before and after the quake; then a tour of the city in its present state. Scenes in Demolished Stables. What the Great Tidal Wave Did in Reggio and Messina. The Rescue Work of Soldiers and Men-o-Warships, Relief Camps, The Gruessone Cemetery. In all the pictures the Nickel will show the additional pictures in Messina prior to the earthquake the tour will be nearly 1,200 feet in length, or a matter of twenty minutes.

VAUDEVILLE AT THE PRINCESS.

The management announce a special vaudeville feature for this week in Laueva, trick violin, player of note. This is the first time that this act of Mr. Laueva has ever been seen in St. John, in fact in any of the provinces. There are only three others doing this act in America. Mr. Laueva will be shown at the 4 o'clock show in the afternoon and at 7.30, 8.30 and 9.30 at night. There are also four brand new pictures and an illustrated song, making the longest and best show in the city for 6 cents.

THE GREAT EARTHQUAKE PICTURES AT THE UNIQUE.

Without question the picture of the greatest live interest ever shown in St. John is that which will be seen on the Unique canvas today. A few weeks ago, when the civilized world was shocked at the terrible catastrophe in Italy which caused the death of hundreds of thousands of human lives and the loss of untold millions. The enterprising Vitaphone Co., which has a studio in Paris, hurriedly sent off two photographers immediately, and three days later they were photographing the terrible scenes, the description of which was but filling more space in the daily papers than any event of recent years. The result of the American enterprise of the Vitaphone Co. will be shown at the Unique today, when for the small sum of five cents every one may have the opportunity of seeing the ruins of Messina immediately after the earthquake. Incidentally it might be mentioned that this picture was shown in New York for the first time Thursday, having arrived on the Baltic the morning of the day. This is an evidence of how closely the Unique follows the very first appearance of the best products in motion photography.

CAESARIAN OPERATION ON LILLIPUT'S QUEEN

Philadelphia Mother, 46 Inches Tall, and Her Tiny Baby Alive, Well and Progressing.
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—Surgical experts are marvelling over the wonderful outcome of a Caesarian operation performed three weeks ago on Mrs. Lawrence A. Ramsey, who today, received her friends, and showed them the tiny baby.
Seldom do both mother and child survive this critical operation when the former is of normal stature, and Mrs. Ramsey, who is twenty-five years old, weighs only 87 lbs., and is only 46 inches tall. Little Miss Ramsey weighed four pounds at birth. Her parents are the midgest team in vaudeville, known as Wells and Ramsey, the mother as "Queen of the Lilliputians," being well known all over the country. She was married to Ramsey about a year ago. Mrs. Ramsey told her friends of the operation and said:
"I sat up in bed for two days afterwards. On the fifth day I walked, and a few days later I left the hospital. The care they gave me was lovely, and I was such an unusual case that ever so many doctors and surgeons came to see me, and they were all very kind and considerate, and said it was so strange they would not have believed it if they had not seen for themselves."
