

Washington, St. dear brother, with the dearest affection and most devoted love, your affectionate, but unfeeling brother.

Give my love to my father, mother, and all my dear friends, and all my dear friends.

Upon the receipt of this, Geoffrey sent a great deal of money to my father, and a great deal of money to my mother, and a great deal of money to my dear friends.

Indeed, during the whole time the emigrants were at Portsmouth, he visited every one of them, and he visited every one of them, and he visited every one of them.

In July 1841, Randolph received a letter from the impostor, filled with the most adroit expressions of attachment and commiseration, the pleasing intelligence that the impostor was in the city of London, and was about to return to his native land.

The impostor had made his escape from prison, having first knifed down and robbed his jailer, and then fled to the coast of France, where he was hidden by a fisherman.

It would be necessary to relate the accident by which the impostor was discovered, and the manner in which he was brought to justice, and the manner in which he was punished.

DEATH OF ADMIRAL SIR J. P. BARRINGTON, Bart., K. C. B. AND G. C. H.—This distinguished gallant officer expired on Wednesday week at the Hall, Bedale, Yorkshire, after a protracted illness.

The deceased, Admiral Sir J. P. Barrington, Bart., was born in 1763, and was the illegitimate son of George, first Marquis of Blandford, and brother of Viscount Barrington.

Every one will be struck with the well-arranged and explained account of the capture of the Albatross, while commanding the Lynx sloop.

It is remarkable that England has at the present time arrived at a condition of European affairs bearing no slight resemblance to that of the period between 1783 and 1789.

It is true that there will be no second French Revolution; one catastrophe of that terrible extent is enough for the world. But there are strong symptoms of those hostilities which the Bourbons were endeavouring to kindle against this country, for at least a dozen years before the Revolution.

The late visit of the Emperor of Russia to this country, which so much perplexed the political circles both of France and England, now profly admits elucidation.

The Flamer, steam ship, Commander Pestle, put out to sea, on Wednesday, as we stated, and encountered very boisterous weather that evening off the Heads.

THE CHRONICLE.

SATURDAY, NOV. 22, 1844.

We fully expected to have had before our readers a list of the members of the Assembly elected at the late election, but up to Tuesday morning the 16th instant had not arrived at Halifax, being then nearly four days out.

The Whigs of the United States have lost the election, and the Democrats have gained a very large majority.

COCKER.—Last evening the Concert of the St. John's Musical Society was held in the Hall of the Institute, and was attended by a large number of persons.

THE SALT AND SODA MATCH.—Messrs Hart and Son, of Cornwall, London, have just received a consignment of salt and soda from the Cape of Good Hope.

THE DEPARTURES AND LETTERS OF LORD NELSON.—The publication by Colburn of Melton's letters and other correspondence, which is to appear in three volumes, uniform with the Despatches of the Duke of Wellington.

TEMPERATURE.—Notwithstanding the temperature of the first five days in November of 1844 was locally for several days past, but on the 10th and 11th, it fell to the zero of the thermometer.
