Farmers Are Not Responding.

James Gilchrist of the provincial immigration office, in an interview with The Standard yesterday stated that the farmers were not as desirous of getting help as the young men and women were of giving help. He said that more applications were coming into his office from people asking for work on the farm than he could find positions for. During the harvest time in July in thought the farmers would need extra helpers to take in the crops.

H. H. Blanchet Enthusiastic Over Possibilities for Shipbuilding in New Brunswick
—Suggests Provincial Guarantee.

"New Brunswick has great opportunities for ship building. With ships so essential in the life of the Empire, this province should be busily engaged in concentrating its energies to build the largest possible number of ocean-going ships," said H. H. Blanchet of Toronto, who has been associated with the advancement of ship building in Canada for several years.

"I think that the New Brunswick government would do well to follow the lead of British Columbia and guarantee 55 per cent. of the cost of the ships. This would afford an incentive to builders to build with such work. The fact that the government was behind the business would make it much easier to interest capital. "The Empire is at present involved in a life and death struggle for its existence. There has been such a great shipping loss that we must of necessity, take steps to build all the vessels possible."

Wooden ships are feasible in New Brunswick. Peter McIntyre who is going ahead with their building without any government assistance, is deserving of genuine congratulations. He is the ideal citizen in the present crisis.

Mr. Blanchet has made a study of the possibilities in Canada for ship building. He believes New Brunswick has opportunities second to none. He would like to see men with money give freely of their wealth for the prosecution of this industry. He feels assured of the fact that the venture would be a successful one.

Mr. Blanchet has just returned from Pittsburgh where he went in connection with securing steel for the International Steel Ship Building Corporation of Montreal. He reports that steel ship building is impracticable at present owing to the absolute impossibility of securing steel.

Modern high-heeled footwear buckles the toes and produces corns, and many of the thousands of hospital cases of infection and lockjaw are the result of woman's suicidal habit of trying to cut away these painful pests. For little cost there can be obtained a plaster called freestone, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus without the slightest danger or inconvenience.

A few drops applied directly upon the tender, aching corn stops the soreness and shortly the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out. It is a sticky substance which dries the moment it is applied, and thousands of men and women use it with perfect shrivels up and comes out without inflammation or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. Cut this out and try it if your corns bother you.

Military Hospitals Commission
Not Only Caring for Invalided Men but Looking to Future.

Ottawa, May 23.—The report of the Military Hospitals Commission was presented to the senate today by the president of the commission, Sir James Loughheed. The report says: The Military Hospitals Commission was formed by order in council on June 30, 1915, to provide convalescent homes for soldiers returning invalided from the front. The work has been carried on in close co-operation with the department of Militia and Defence.

The commission is composed of well known public men throughout the Dominion who receive no pay except an allowance for travelling expenses.

Six Forty Institutions.

The commission now has forty institutions under its direct control and uses or has available thirty-two others. There is a mental hospital, and also a limb factory. The other institutions are convalescent hospitals and sanatoria for tubercular men. Accommodation is being steadily increased for all classes, but active treatment hospital accommodation is now as great as it will probably ever need to be.

"Where active treatment is required civilian hospitals are generally utilized. But electrical apparatus has been installed in a number of convalescent homes."

Further convalescent accommodation is under way. Fredericton, Montreal, Guelph, Edmonton and Vancouver.

The M. H. C. Command is divided into ten units, corresponding roughly to the Military Districts. There are also three discharge depots at Quebec, Halifax and St. John, which serve as clearing hospitals. Quebec has over 800 beds, Halifax 550, and St. John 500. Portion of these institutions are equipped for active treatment cases of all kinds, insane, tubercular, contagious diseases, etc. The command has entire charge of the soldiers from their landing in Canada until their discharge to civilian life, except for the medical treatment which by recent arrangement with the Militia Department is in the hands of the Army Medical Corps.

The number of invalids on the M. H. C. at March 31, 1917, was 4,976.

Permanent Homes.

The commission has under consideration the question of the establishment of one or more permanent homes for men who are totally disabled. If they are established, three classes of patients will have to be cared for: (1) Incurable Tuberculosis; (2) Paralytics and others unable to wait on themselves; (3) Mental cases.

To date only twenty Canadian soldiers have been blinded, a majority of whom have been treated at the National Institute for the Blind, London. Nine blinded soldiers have returned to Canada.

Employment for Many.

"A few of the directions in which steps may be taken to prepare for peace can be summed up by a reference to the following:

1. Employment will have to be found for many thousands of men.
2. It will be necessary to engage in public works such as the building of a transcontinental highway.
3. A policy of assisted land settlement should be put into operation, both Federal and Provincial.
4. It will be necessary to create and subsidize new industries.
5. The possible immigration of British and other ex-soldiers and sailors as soon as transportation facilities are available, should be considered.
6. The creation of a healthy public sentiment relative to the employment of returned soldiers and to the after-war conditions is desirable.
7. As the soldiers themselves are forming a Dominion-wide organization for purposes of self protection, something should be done to advise and help the men especially interested, so that they may direct this movement along right lines.
8. Co-operation between Federal and Provincial governments is absolutely essential.

"It must be borne in mind that about one hundred thousand men were out of employment at the outbreak of the war, and that demobilization will mean throwing out of employment thousands of men and women who are at present employed in various activities in Canada."

Public Utilities Commission.

The regular meeting of the public utilities commission was held yesterday. No new matters were brought to the attention of the commission, and after transacting some routine business the commission adjourned.
