

in the failure to leave seed trees in favorable localities, and in lack of protection of young growth in logging operations.

(4) The conservative management of farm wood lots is practicable and greatly to be desired.

(5) Forest planting upon denuded lands unsuited for agriculture promises good returns.

(6) There should be a chief fire warden, who should also be State forester, who should maintain a State forest nursery, for the distribution at cost of forest seeds and seedlings, and should bring about by lectures and instruction on the ground a better management of forest lands within the State.

(7) Since an excellent opening exists for the creation of a forest revenue by the purchase of cut-over lands in the mountains, the adoption of a policy looking to this end is recommended. Such lands are for sale at from $1 to $3 per acre.

*Future Forest Trees: A. Harold Unwin, D. Oec. Publ. (Munich).
T. Fisher Unwin, Publisher. Pp. 108.*

This volume by Dr. Unwin, formerly of the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior, is issued with the object of presenting in a concise manner the results of numerous experiments, made chiefly in Germany, with some American trees in order to show their forestal value in Europe. The papers of which this book are composed, appeared first in German, but it was considered advisable to make the information available for English readers. Tables are given of the imports of timber into Germany from the United States and Canada, and are followed by a list of the different species of American trees which have been tried in Germany, with a statement of the results of the experiments in each case.

The Selkirk Range; A. O. Wheeler, F.R.G.S. Government Printing Bureau. Pp. 459.

This is a description of the Selkirk Mountains of British Columbia, which are becoming a favorite resort for the traveller who desires also to be a mountaineer. It is narrative in form so as to be easily readable, but gives a mass of valuable and reliable information in regard to the history, topography and natural features of the district. The illustrations include views of the beautiful mountain scenery and of the game and other products of the country, which add much to its handsome appearance.
