

He Listened Lovingly

He listened to her girlish voice,
He looked into her eyes;
She drank in every word he said,
Then answered "All are lies."
"But, dearie, well I know I'm not
What I would wish to be,
But no man living would forego
Fresh fruit from off the tree.