The passenger train from the east was delayed a few miles east of Regina last Saturday forenoon owing to the engine breaking down.

D. S. MacKenzie deputy minister of education for Alberta, was in the city during the past week and was present at the sittings of the royal commission.

T. L. Johnston, of Broadview, has rented the store on the corner of Rose and South Railway streets, recently occupied by the customs department and will open a dry goods store.

Hon. Walter Scott, the Merlin of Saskatchewan, has retired for a season to the seclusion of Jamaica. It is a rum sort of procedure to delay the hour of his resignation.—Nokomis Times.

The death occurred at the city hospital on Friday evening of Walter Tyrell, a familiar figure about the city, and known as the "Major." The funeral was held on Monday to Regina cemetery.

John A. Cooper, editor of the Canadian Courier, delivered an interesting address before the Canadian Club at a luncheon last Thursday noon. In the absence of Col. Perry, Hon. F. W. G. Haultain, presided.

Some of the cars of the C.N.R. passenger train from Prince Albert ran off the track about a mile north of the city on Monday evening, and tore up the roadbed. Fortunately, none of the cars were turned over, and no one was hurt.

Word has come from Ottawa that the efforts of the Regina Board of Trade, backed up by the local members, have at last been successful, and Regina is to have a street delivery. Just when the postmen will be put on, has not yet been settled.

The death occurred last Saturday of a well known old timer in Regina in the person of Sam Paul. Deceased had been suffering from liver and heart trouble for the past month. The late Mr. Paul was 43 years of age. The funeral was held on Monday.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wellington and the community at large will be sorry to hear of the death of their infant daughter, Dorothy Margaret, who succumbed to a severe attack of pneumonia yesterday morning. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon.—Moose Jaw News, of Saturday.

There were no bids offered at the auction sale of the old town hall site on Monday. A large crowd gathered in the new city hall at two o'clock when city clerk Hunter put the property up for sale. After the terms and conditions were read, he asked for bids, but none being made he declared the sale adjourned.

The death took place on Sunday morning of James Archibald of Condie, in his sixty-sixth year. Mr. Archibald had recently contracted a severe cold which developed into pneumonia. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon to St. James' cemetery and was very largely attended, thus showing the esteem with which deceased was held in the community.

There are many enquiries among Regina residents as to how Lumsden is faring without a hotel since the Maple Leaf was destroyed by fire. It is almost impossible to escape from the arriving and departing trains without some comment as to where the traveller is going with a valise or hand baggage. Tommy Watt says he is doing a big business filling grips the past few weeks. George Peterson tells the same story only in a different way.—Lumsden News-Record.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Seed, on Wednesday, March 10th, by Rev. Mr. Arnett of Lumsden, when H. Wood and Miss Beader, both recently of Lincoln, England, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Miss Alice Denzin was bridesmaid and George W. Brown was best man. Mr. Wood has been in Tergarva district for two years and the bride arrived a short time ago. They go shortly to Swift Current where Mr. Wood has a home-stand and the best wishes of the community go with them to their other home.

When reinforced concrete first became an important factor in building construction its application was direct, or, in other words, it was cast in the position it was to occupy in the structure. But gradually the idea of constructing reinforced concrete buildings by erecting separately cast members, such as columns, roof girders, longitudinal struts, roof slabs, and other parts, all cast on the ground, has been adopted, until whole walls have been thus molded and tilted into position. A number of illustrations in the April Popular Mechanics show how the different parts of a reinforced concrete building erected at New Village, N.J., were cast separately. Massive columns and heavy roof slabs were constructed in this way.

The visitor to Regina, the capital of Saskatchewan, is immediately struck with the fact that its builders evidently looked into the future by the laying out of streets, being wide, which gives the city a neat and business like appearance. Tree planting throughout the city is as yet in its infancy, but the station grounds present a park like appearance. To the mind of the individual there is one feature which if eliminated would add to the beauty of the city, and that is the monstrous mill boards which lend no charm of a pleasing nature, but on the contrary, an eyesore. The class of buildings recently erected are of a neat and substantial nature, and modern in design, and would do credit to a city of twice its age.—Melita Enterprise.
