FOR SAFE RIVER ROUTE

Minister Prefontaine Will Do His Duty by St. Lawrence.

Will Sail Over Bavarian Course and Then Inaugurate Rigorous Inquiry—Sailing Master of North Atlantic Squadron Asked to Act as Assessor—Day Has Gone By For An Obsolete Navigating System

Montreal, Nov. 10.—Hon. Raymond Prefontaine will leave to-day for Grosse Isle. The Minister of Marine has determined that the grounding of the Bavarian shall be made the subject of a severe investigation and that the responsibility of the disaster shall be placed upon the proper shoulders. The Minister declared that if the St. Lawrence route is to be saved the most energetic steps must be taken. Mr. Prefontaine declared that he would constitute the Bavarian case one to be dealt with by the court of vice-admiralty, where the inquiry will be the most rigorous.

The Minister also announced that he had requested by wire the sailing master of the North Atlantic Squadron now in New York to act as assessor. Prince Louis' squadron had been brought to Quebec and taken down the river without the aid of pilots. The charts alone had been used and the sailing master would be able to render valuable assistance in getting at the bottom of a matter in which the trade of the world was interested. The Minister and party will leave to-day, and after boarding the Druid at Quebec will go over the course followed by the Bavarian and ascertain exactly what there is in the claim that such a light was not burning when the steamer went on the rocks. The light referred to by Mr. Prefontaine is not a channel light and should have little bearing on the question. The Minister has come to the conclusion that the days are over when valuable steamers can be navigated in the St. Lawrence by a system comprising church steeples, barn doors and old trees.

When the Minister was told that business men on both sides of the Atlantic would support him in the campaign undertaken, but that he would have to look out for the politicians, he replied, "I will do my duty to the St. Lawrence route regardless of consequences."

LABRADOR EXPLORERS ALIVE.

Lillon Wallace and Mrs. Hubbard Are

New York, Nov. 10.—Dillon Wallace, at the head of the expedition now exploring Labrador, is well, and has penetrated the country which cost Leonidas Hubbard, Jr., his life. This information was received Wednesday by Caspar Whitney in this despatch from St. John, Nfld.

"Lake Michikamau, Sept. 4.—Proceeding with Easton to Ungava. Return in winter. Richards homeward bound, bearing letters. All well. Dillon Wallace.

This despatch was sent by James Richards, a member of Wallace's party, who has returned to St. John's on his way to New York. Mr. Whitney states that the party must have reached Ungava, and that if they are to return in the winter they are probably now making the journey on snowshoes.

Mrs. Hubbard Successful.

Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. Hubbard, Jr., who has been exploring in Labrador, and for whose safety fears were entertained, yesterday reported her successful completion of the expedition. The following telegram signed by her, and dated Wednesday at Chateau Bay Que., was received yesterday by Herbert L. Bridgman of Brooklyn: "Successful. Will return home by the steamer King Edward."

The address was replied to by C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Toronto, Ont., who responded heartily to the suggestions of the secretary regarding educational advantages.

TRIES TO ROB EXHIBIT.

French-Canadian Plots to Steal Nuggets From Canadian Pavilion.

London, Nov. 10.—(C. A. P.)—According to a Belgian newspaper there was an attempt some days ago to rob the Canadian exhibition at Liege. A French-Canadian named Hector Robert, for some time a resident in France and also an interpreter at Liege, approached an employee of the Canadian pavilion, and proposed that gold nuggets representing a value of 100,000 francs, should be abstracted. The employee agreed, but communicated with the police. A trap was laid and Hector Robert was caught in the act.

Markham Economist Gunned.

Markham, Nov. 10.—An explosion of gasoline in the office of The Markham Economist shortly after noon yesterday completely wrecked the building and caused a fire loss of $2,000. The office of The Markham Sun was last night placed at the disposal of The Economist, and the oldest county paper in York will be issued as usual.

KENT COUNTY WITHOUT J. P.'S

Commission Arrived This Morning for New Officers and Old One Ceases

List is That Formerly Published in The Planet—Notices Being Sent Out

An interesting condition exists in Kent County to-day. By the Provincial commission received by Clerk of the Peace H. D. Smith this morning the appointment of all the present Justices of the Peace is cancelled and until the new Justices are sworn in no one is authorized to act. The list of new Justices named in the commission is precisely that published in The Planet a little over a week ago—and the gentlemen then mentioned will be sworn in at once. The commission is dated November 8th, and from and after that date all old J. P.'s who are not re-appointed cannot act and all new J. P.'s cannot act until they qualify. The new Justices must qualify on or before Jan. 11, 1906, at which time their appointment will expire.

Notices were sent out by the Clerk of the Peace to-day to all appointees, and the work of swearing in will be commenced immediately.

NEW DUTIES

Principal Plewes Leaves for Toronto to Attend Initial Meeting of Educational Council

Principal J. W. Plewes, of the Central school, left this afternoon for Toronto, to attend the initial meeting of the Provincial Educational Council, of which he was recently appointed a member, called by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council for to-morrow morning. The meeting is for the purpose of organizing and considering special matters to be referred to the Educational Department in connection with educational legislation and school acts to be introduced at the coming session of Parliament.

GOOD SCHOOL

Inspector Power Much Pleased With His Visit to St. Joseph's To-day

J. F. Power, Provincial Inspector of Separate Schools, is in the Maple City to-day inspecting the work at St. Joseph's Separate School.

He visited all the rooms this morning and went over the work done preparatory to making his report.

In an interview with The Planet, after his inspection, Mr. Power spoke most highly of the Chatham school. "It is a good school," he said, "and the teachers are doing splendid work. I found everything most satisfactory."

Mr. Power left with Principal Plewes, of the Central School, for Toronto, this afternoon. The Inspector characterizes Mr. Plewes as one of the best educationalists in the Province.

GOOD HEALTH

Inspector Anson Mounter Says That This is a Light Year for contagious Diseases

Health Inspector Anson Mounter reports the health of the city good at present.

"This is the lightest year we have had for contagious diseases since I first assumed office," said he to The Planet.

"There are just three cases of diphtheria and two of these are almost better. There is no scarlet fever whatever in the city now."

"The scavengers have cleaned out all of the alleys but one, and this one will be cleaned out next week. We will then be in good shape for the winter."

"There are far less truants this term than last year, and the boys who are out of school now are all employed in helping to provide food for the families to which they belong."

SCHOOL TRUSTEES

A MUTINOUS OUTBREAK

3,000 Sailors and Artillerymen Rebel at Cronstadt.

Machine Guns Were Employed to Quell the Mutineers and 200 Casualties Are Estimated—Majority of Mutineers Surrender, But Several Hundred Still Hold Out in Eastern Section of the Town.

Cronstadt, Nov. 10.—The heavens reflected the glare of smoldering fires at Cronstadt last evening. However, troops and the loyal sailors apparently have the upper hand. Fighting has ceased in the streets, and the town is quiet. Last night patrols were engaged in hunting down and capturing mutineers.

The outbreak started Wednesday afternoon when the sailors of the Seventh Fort Regiment revolted and, it is rumored, killed some of their officers. They marched out of the barracks and immediately plundered four spirit shops. Crased with liquor they returned and seized their arms, and then went on a rampage, firing promiscuously upon the troops and the loyal sailors. Later they were joined by many of their comrades, and fighting continued from midnight until yesterday morning, when terror-stricken inhabitants began to flee.

Several regiments with eight machine guns from St. Petersburg and Oranienbaum were landed yesterday.

Machine Guns Gave Garry Death.

During the rioting Wednesday night machine guns were employed against the mutinous sailors, who had been joined by a battalion of artillerymen from the fortress and which raised the total number of mutineers to 3,000. It is difficult to ascertain the number of casualties, but officers place the figure at 200. The sailors say their chief grievances are poor food and clothing, and an insufficient amount of liberty from barracks.

Roughs joined in the pillage, but the workmen did not participate in it.

Searchlights from warships and torpedo boats in the harbor are flashing across the waters in order to aid launches in their search for individual mutineers who are trying to escape to the mainland by boat. Though a majority of the mutineers have surrendered, several hundred are still holding out in the eastern section of the town. They have thrown up barricades, but are surrounded, and machine guns are posted at all the streets leading to their stronghold.

Trepoff Asked to Retire.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 10.—Both Count Witte and the Emperor have made another surrender. Gen. Trepoff has been relieved from the powerful position of Governor-General of St. Petersburg and Assistant Minister of the Interior, and Russia's Premier has agreed to immediate universal suffrage. The Emperor, in agreeing to Gen. Trepoff's retirement, conferred on him the Order of Alexander Nevski in diamonds.

The Russ and other radical papers which have been campaigning against Trepoff, hail his removal with delight as being the first victory for the free Russian press.

The orthodox clergy, under the direction of the new Procurator-General, Prince Obolenski, have issued a stirring appeal to the provincial priests to aid in the restoration of peace in the country.

A World-Wide Appeal.

Odesa, Nov. 10.—The Chamber of Commerce has decided to appeal to similar chambers and exchanges throughout the world to open subscriptions to assist the sufferers from the riots at Odesa and in other towns in south Russia.

GARRISON REBELLIOUS.

Short But Exciting Mutiny at Rio De Janeiro.

Rio Janeiro, Nov. 10.—The garrison of the fortress of Santa Cruz, at the entrance of the bay, has mutinied. The city is perfectly quiet. There is no revolution. Later the mutineers in the fortress surrendered to the authorities yesterday.

The mutineers prior to their surrender killed and mutilated a lieutenant. The trouble is ended and order has been restored.
