Death of Baby Stuart.

As the shadows of night were falling, Friday, July 2nd, the soul of little Allison, infant daughter of Mrs. Faye Stuart, was taken into the keeping of the Heavenly Host and the baby spirit changed into an angel form, leaving all earthly suffering and sickness forever. Little Allison was but one year of age, yet in that short time had endeared herself to all who knew her, and until her serious illness of two weeks ago had always appeared in perfect health. But she had never fully recovered from the fearful strain of the terrible convulsions and at eventide, Friday, July 2nd, she calmly went to sleep never to awaken on earth. The funeral and burial was conducted by Rev. W. E. Yenn, of Grace Memorial church, on the following day, and Baby Stuart was laid to rest beside the body of her father, in the quiet and beautiful cemetery in the church yard. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mrs. Stuart and son, Donald, in this, their double bereavement.

[The above paragraph is taken from the 'Sun' of Hammond, La., and refers to the death of the 12 months old daughter of Mrs. H. A. Stuart, formerly Miss Faye M. Caldwell, of this town.]

Wedding Bells.

ROCKWELL—NEALL.

The Washington street Baptist church, Lynn, Massachusetts, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, June 30th, when John Alfred Rockwell, of Oak Bluffs, Mass., and Lena Piffard Neall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward, Everett Neall, of Lynn, Mass., were united in marriage in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends, by Rev. G. E. Piffard.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, preceded by the ring bearer, bridesmaid and flower girls.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the vestry of the church, which was prettily decorated in white, with daisies and potted plants. Refreshments were served by the bride's aunt, Miss Jessie Parker, of Lynn, and friends, Mrs. Milton Thorne, of Portland, Mrs. Frank Emery, Miss Martha Smith and Miss Louise Hill, of Lynn. The bride was attended by her Salem Normal School chum, Miss C. Mable Nason, of Portland, Me., and the bride's brother, Daniel L. Neall, acted as best man.

The ring bearer was Linette Furush and Eleanor McCoy, ages 7 and 5 respectively. The ushers were Charles, Raymond and Edwin Neall, brothers of the bride.

The bride was attired in silk lace over white satin and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. The bride's maid wore light blue silk crepe de chene and carried pale yellow marguerites.

Many beautiful and costly gifts, including cut glass, silver, linen, art brass pieces, pictures and literary works, were received and displayed at the home of the bride's parents, 139 Chestnut street, Lynn.

Mrs. Rockwell was formerly a supervisor of penmanship in the public schools of Waltham, Norwood and Dedham, Massachusetts.

Amidst a shower of rice and confetti the happy couple made their departure for Martha's Vineyard where they will spend the summer. At their home at Oak Bluffs.

Mr. Rockwell was a resident of Wolfville for many years. THE ACADIAN tenders best wishes.

The German Idea.

'War is the noblest and holiest expression of human activity. For us, too, the glad great hour of battle will strike. Still and deep in the German heart must live the joy of battle and the longing for it. Let us ridicule to the utmost the old women in breeches who fear war, and call it cruel and revolting. No war is beautiful, its highest nobility elevates the human heart beyond the earthly and the common. In the cloud palaces above sit the heroes, Frederick the Great and Bismarck—are there as well, but not the old women who would take away our joy in war. When here on earth a battle is won by German arms, and the faithful dead ascend to heaven, a Potsdam Lance corporal will call the guard to the door, and old Fritz, springing from his golden throne, will give the command to present arms. That is the heaven of young Germany.'
