

From a Bungalow

Inscribed to Dr. Wales, Andrews East, Que.

Where the little river swerves, By a hundred shoredland curves, And complaining on its way, At the rocks that would delay, Fill the woods that line its path, With the booming of its wrath. Where the blackbirds come to lave

In the shallow, troubled wave, Dipping from the bridge, and then

Back onto the bridge again, To and fro, while the air rings With their ceaseless jargonings, Where the opening spaces show Shadowed heights, and heights aglow, Tift and pasture, and the charm Of the quiet secluded farm, Such as Horace sang when he From the city's yoke was free.

Where the travelled road runs past, Where your pleasant lot is cast, Many glimpses this green recess In these woods whose loveliness Spreading wide on every hand, Is the glory of this land.

O, today it seems to me I have strolled thro' Arcady; That my secret ways have gone By the woods of Avalon; Found the Apollonian fire In this land of heart's desire.

Tell me, where do mortal eyes O, a fairer paradise Fix their gaze, or tell me where Earth breathes a serener air? Where has beauty built a shrine Lovelier, or more divine?

J. C. M. Duncan.

A Little Child Shall Lead Thee

(Concluded)

Eileen noticed his little attentions and prayed to God that He might direct her. Each read the other's thoughts and one bright May morning he modestly asked her if at some future day, she would consider him worthy to be her spouse. Eileen blushed like the crimson rose in her convent garden and after many prayers for light and direction, she consented.

Arrayed in the same spotless gown which she wore at graduation, she was quietly married with a nuptial Mass in the little country Chapel at Saint Stephen's. No happier couple were ever joined in holy wedlock.

All went well, each happy in the company of the other, enjoying the comforts of a snug little home.

Eileen's Crucifix hung in a most conspicuous place in their living room, and each morning and evening both knelt in prayer before the Image of their best friend.

Their happiness was complete when God blessed their union with a dear baby boy. Who can comprehend the joy of this happy couple. God alone knows. What a beautiful sight to behold when this virtuous mother taught her darling child to utter for the first time the holy Names of Jesus, Mary and Joseph. In all his little childish sorrows he went to his dear Jesus and told him all about them. How he loved to prattle his baby talk about his "Dood Desus" as he used to call Him.

Time flew on, like a peaceful river until one unhappy day, a simple word was said unintentionally. Charles hady took offence and vowed he would never enter the church again.

Imagine poor Eileen she talked and tried to reason with him. All was of no avail, his proud spirit was wounded and he would not relent. Eileen had noticed his failing before their marriage and had warned him of its fatal affects but he allowed it to grow until it seemed almost impossible to remedy it. He became so hardened that he told Eileen to take their cherished Crucifix from the wall, where it had hung for two years and had given them so much consolation in all their little troubles. "Oh! Charles," she pleaded, "don't be so cruel, don't ask me to remove the Crucifix. In a fit of anger, he pulled it from the wall, leaving his cozy little home and his heart-broken Eileen weeping sadly behind. Oh! what sorrow and re symptoms of a weak, torpid or agniant condition of the kidneys or liver, and are a warning it is extremely hazardous to neglect, so important is healthy action of these organs. They are commonly attended by loss of energy, lack of courage, and sometimes by gloomy foreboding and despondency.

"I was taken ill with kidney trouble, and became so weak I could scarcely get around, look motions without benefit, and finally decided to try Hood's Sarsaparil. After the first bottle I felt so much better that I continued the use, and six bottles made me a new woman. When my little girl was a boy, she could not keep anything on her stomach, and we gave her Hood's Sarsaparil which cured her." Mrs. Thomas L. W. Wallaceburg, Ont.

5 Children Had Dysentery.

Mrs. D. Mitchell, 19 Kingsley Ave., Toronto, Ont., writes:—"It is with great pleasure that I recommend Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for dysentery. It is a really wonderful how quickly it acts. My five children had dysentery last summer, and we tried everything, but could think of until a friend advised us to use 'Dr. Fowler's.' A few doses soon gave them relief. Now we always keep a bottle of it in the house."

prayers of years which had been waited on angels' wings to His Throne in heaven.

After a confession of many years with heart-felt sorrow, this poor prodigal found peace in his Father's House. "Francis, my baby boy," he exclaimed, "you have haunted me every moment of my life, your image was ever before me, I could not chase you away, you lingered by my side, you held me by the hand, you led me here tonight, my darling baby boy, surely 'A Little Child Has Led Me, prepare me for my last journey, I am going home."

Convicts in penitentiaries show a higher average of intelligence than the general population, Dr. Herman Adler of the Cleveland Foundation's Justice Survey told members of the Cleveland Academy of Medicine at a recent meeting. Repeaters, men returned to the penitentiary time after time, show a higher average of intelligence than those who learn their lessons the first time, Dr. Adler said. All of which emphasizes the old story that education based merely on the development of the intellect to the neglect of the training of the will, does not make men better or society more moral. Moral character can be developed only with religious training, insists the Echo. MILBURN'S HEART and NERVE PILLS

Mrs. Daniel Besanson, Loganville, N.S., writes:—"As I was troubled with a weak heart for nearly two years I am writing to tell you what your great remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, has done for me. My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep, I would take smothering spells, and was so weak I could not do my housework. I tried two doctors, but got no results. A friend advised me to try your pills. I used six boxes and am completely relieved. I think they are the best remedy for heart trouble there is."

January Carnival of Economy FOR OUR

The old year took away, for ever, we hope, the old burden of war prices. For months conditions have been working toward the great climax that brought the remarkable merchandise that is here assembled for this our greatest January Carnival of Economy.

The results came in two ways: 1st. The drastic lowering of prices on our own stocks, down to the new low basis, and often far below it—to double your interest in January buying in our store.

2nd. We have combined the markets—taking utmost advantage of the opportunities created by far sighted manufacturers who were ready to co-operate with us in presenting to you now the lowest prices that will be possible, for the next six months, at least.

We can just see the delight of our Customers when they see the splendid assortment of goods, in every department of our store, and then realize that prices are away down to the bottom, where it is a pleasure to buy things.

Many Manufacturers have ACCEPTED LARGE LOSSES. We shall forgo a large part of our profits on the new goods and accept large losses on our own mark-downs—to inaugurate this first New Year under the New Management and

THE MOST STIRRING JANUARY PRICE-UPSET THAT THIS COMMUNITY HAS EVER KNOWN.

No matter what you need or desire, now is the best time for months to come to buy it. Some of the reasons are told on this page; but scores of others are here that can get no mention today, even in this broad space.
