Our Too Lucky Children.

Probably never in the history of the world have the children of any race been so much considered, so much catered to, and in the middle class and well-to-do families, so much pampered as the American children of to-day. That is a fact which one realizes every now and then with a new force. One of these now and then happened to me a few days ago when I attended a children's party.

Do you remember the children's parties we used to go to? Do you remember how happily we used to come home lugging a piece of birthday cake wrapped in a pretty paper napkin, and perhaps a little box of candy or paper cap and motto from a cracker?

What the Children Took Home.

Let me tell you what these children were given to take home: the birthday cake in a napkin, a candy heart, the decorated paper plates on which they ate, a little heart-shaped box filled with candles, a valentine, and a toy from a grab bag.

Nor was it a children's party of a wealthy family, just a middle class family following the standards set by other families of the neighborhood. And were the children delighted and contented with all this booty? Far from it. Everybody wanted everyone else's toys at the grab, and being of the age of frankness, said so. Furthermore, two of the older children, having inspected everything, calmly announced that these things were too young for them.

When the cake was being cut one youngster informed the cutter that she needn't cut much of a piece for him as he wasn't very fond of that kind of cake. Of course his intention was good, but imagine a child of fifty years ago with finicky preferences in the matter of cake!

"The Toys Weren't so Good as Emily's."

And lastly, on the way home, one of the youngsters was overheard telling another that the toys weren't so good as those at Emily's party!

Remember these were not the children of wealthy families carelessly brought up by indifferent nursemaids. On the contrary they were children who have been most carefully trained by unusually intelligent mothers and who are on the whole thoroughly nice children.

In their critical attitude they simply showed the result of the lavish attention and well meant generosity of their elders.

I know a little boy whose grandmother always tried to bring him some little thing until she found to her horror that he met her at the door with "What have you brought me, grandma?"

What shall we do about it? How can we save our children from the loss of happiness that such a critical, commercial, expectant attitude must bring?

Questions and Answers

Questions.—H. T. C. writes: My daughter, who is eighteen, has left home. Can I legally force her to return?

Reply.—I know nothing about the law. It seems to me, however, that I should try some other means. Surely you can find some way to reach your daughter's heart and bring her back to you if you try long enough. Remember the law might accomplish your purpose, but it would probably mean estrangement and publicity.

Question.—Three of us girls were discussing whether a girl should give

Seeing America First-Cape Cod

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Shwash."
Cape Cod is one of the most famous of all the world's capes, though it is very old-fashioned and it is not worn much by society.

It is a fish-hook of sand and rock, sticking its curved end out into the chilly Atlantic about 75 miles, and causing as much trouble for navigation between Boston and New York as an old-fashioned battleship could accomplish.

Cape Cod was discovered before Boston was even suspected, and looks it to-day. Bartholomew Grosvenor landed on it in 1602 and tried to establish a colony, but gave it up because it was too long between crops, and too far from Boston. Both of these reasons have kept down the population of Cape Cod ever since. In 1620, the Pilgrim Fathers reached this country in a heavy gale. If there had been no Cape Cod, there would probably have been no Pilgrim Fathers, for they saved themselves by putting into Provincetown Harbour, in honour of which fact a monument 200 feet high has been built. But the Pilgrim Fathers had no gratitude. They crossed the bay as soon as they could and settled at Plymouth.

In the course of time, however, New England pioneers settled on Cape Cod and learned how to enjoy it. It now has 27,000 people, having been growing steadily backward for many years and contains more old families than any other part of America. New families and strangers who have only lived on the cape for a few generations, have to use great tact and skill in gaining the confidence of the natives.

Cape Cod is now an island, a ship canal having been cut across its neck. It is completely surrounded by shipping and fish, and has depended on the latter very largely for a living for two centuries. If the American traveller wishes to know how his forefathers lived and looked, he can do so by inserting himself into a very fine old relic called a passenger coach, on an ancient little branch of the New Haven Railroad and travelling to Provincetown, stopping off liberally on the way. He will at no time be more than 200 miles and 150 years from New York. Cape Cod is surrounded by a magnificent climate in summer, and will some day become a great summer resort. This will be hard on Cape Cod, but it will be a great thing for the summer resorters. They will get a chance to shake hands with early New England.

Have You an Itchy Spot?

Somewhere on your body? If so, attend to it at once. In Eczema—and itchy spots, whether dry and scurfy, or moist and inclined to "weep," are generally accompanied by the itching, allowing the disease to spread and affect more of the good skin. Your best chance for a cure is to use Zylex, which will give almost instant relief, and if used in the earlier stages of the trouble will almost certainly bring a cure, and in any event will greatly ameliorate the trouble. Ask your druggist about it. Price 50c. a box. Zylex Soap, 25c. a cake. ZYLEX, London.

Beautiful Drama at the Nickel.

Nickel patrons should be present at to-day's performance as the entertainment is without doubt one of the best ever presented here. There are five different subjects each of which is an attraction of itself. There are four leading dramas all different but all attractive celebrated artists are in the leading characters. The pretty Dorothy Kelly and the world renowned James Morrison appear in the great story, "The Crime of Cain," in which a young man is accused of killing his brother. Don't fail to see this big film.

Your're Bilious And Costive!—Cascarets

Sick Headache, Bad Breath, Sour Stomach and Bowels (Clogged)—Clean up To-night.

Get a 10-cent box now. Purged Tongue, Bad Colds, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches, come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

Italy is Getting Ready.

(By Canadian Press.)
Rome, March 3.—General Zupelli, Minister of War, speaking yesterday in the Chamber of Deputies in favor of the bill authorizing the recall of reserve officers, said that at the end of this month 7,000 of these officers would have been summoned to the colors.

"All classes in the nation," he said, "are asking to enter the army." The War Minister paid a tribute to those who had offered their services as volunteers, declaring their example was an inspiration to the public to meet "new needs for the defence of the Fatherland."

The bill presented by Premier Salandra to prevent espionage provides severe penalties for any attempt to obtain military information. Anyone without authority entering a place where such information is obtainable is made liable to imprisonment for from one to thirty months and a maximum fine of $500.

The Salandra Bill authorizes the government, under certain conditions to prohibit absolutely the publication of military news providing a penalty of one year in prison or a fine of $1,000.

If news of this character is supplied to a foreign country, the penalty is doubled. Provision is made for the government to take over control of every industry connected with the defence of the country, including wireless telegraphy and aviation.
