THE BRITISH TRADE.

EDINBURGH, April 18.—John Swan & Sonsi weekly report says: The number of fat cattle on offer in Edinburgh this week has been fairly large. Trade was quieter, and prices, especially for heavy bullocks, rather trade was slightly for heavy bullocks, rather trade was slightly for heavy bullocks, rather trade was slightly better. Fat cows have made 10s a head more money, while bulls have also been the turn dearer. In Edinburgh the number of shop sheep was under that of last week, and they met an improved demand, at is to 2s more money. Owing to the very bad returns from London sheep adapted for that market have made no improvement in small numbers, and they sell at full prices. Fat lambs are also in short supply, and they make from 38s to 48s for the best. In Glasgow there was a very full supply of sheep, and all over they met a worse trade than last week at quite 1s a head less money.

Store sheep have been much more numerous, but owing to the barren weather and the soarcity of turnips, trade in this department is slow and prices have to be accepted, which leave a very small margin for winter keep, Milch cows and solve the dear the solve and prices have to be accepted, which leave a very small margin for winter keep, Milch cows and prices have to be accepted, which leave a very small margin for winter keep, Milch cows and prices have to be accepted, which leave a very small margin for winter keep, Milch cows and prices have to be accepted, which leave have been a larger show, and they have met a worse trade than last week at prices have to be accepted, which leave have been a larger show, and they have met a worse trade than last week at prices have to be accepted, which leave have been a larger show, and they have made at the prices have to be accepted, which leave have been a larger show, and they have made to be accepted.
